Davis Defeats Morrison In Runoff

Adcock Gains Senate Spot

J. Birdsong Is Loser In 2 Parishes

By TOMMY PARKS
STAFF WRITER

Jamar W. Adcock, youthful mortgage loan executive, defeated John H. Birdsong Sr. by a margin of 2,378 votes in yesterday's Democratic primary runoff election for the post of state senator for Jackson and Ouachita parishes.

Complete unofficial returns from the two parishes gave Adcock a total of 13,336 votes and Birdsong 10,958 votes. The final returns terminated an intense senatorial race for the two parishes.

IN PARIS

In Ouachita Parish, the home ground of both candidates, Adcock polled a total 10,593 and Birdsong received 8,955.

In Jackson Parish, Adcock's votes totaled 2,743 and Birdsong 2,003. Outcome of the Jackson vote remained uncertain until election night, because the major block of votes three in the first primary went to a Jackson parish candidate, Nathan Ewing, who finished a strong third in the first race.

The victory for Adcock marks his first political office. Although it was his first attempt at a political office, an industrious campaign put him high man in the primary — a feat which was repeated in yesterday's runoff.

Adcock led Birdsong by 1,701 votes in the Dec. 5 first primary.

Notably smooth through the first primary campaigning, the race assumed new perspective in the second round, and was hotly-contested right up until the final decision by voters Saturday.

Both men were seeking their highest public office to date.

4 Parishes Keep Solons In Positions

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Voters in four Northeast Louisiana parishes sent their representatives back into office last night, one parish re-elected an ex-representative and two others had no incumbent in the running.

Victorious were Rep. W. C. Steen, Jr., Caldwell parish, Rep. I. J. Allen, Jackson, Chester Floyd of LaSalle, Rep. Woodrow Wilson of Morehouse, Rep. Lasley J. Downes, Richland parish, Lonnie Richmond of West Carroll and P. K. Smith from Winn.

TURNED

Fickle favoritism turned her back on Rep. W. Spencer Myrick in West Carroll parish yesterday. Four years ago, Myrick became representative by defeating Lonnie Richmond, then a member of the House.

Richmond came back yesterday to reclaim his old office. Fourteen precincts gave Richmond 2092 votes, while Myrick finished with a close 1948 ballots.

In Winn parish, where Rep. Ashton Collier did not run again for office, P. K. Smith was named representative by 4062 voters.

Thirty - one precincts balloted in the Winn race. Smith's competitor, D. E. Sikes, took only 1954 votes. The two men entered the run-off after five others were defeated in the first primary on Dec. 5.

Early this morning, returns from 16 of Concordia's 19 precincts showed Rep. W. P. (Jack)

4 Incumbent Sheriffs Get Return Vote

By DALLAS ROPER
State Editor

Four northeast Louisiana sheriff's were re-elected yesterday in the Democratic runoff and one was defeated. Sheriff Hiram Waller in Franklin Parish lost to A. J. Stephens.

Sheriffs returning to their posts are J. W. Gilbert, East Carroll; J. R. Butler, West Carroll; R. S. Jordan, Winn, and George McGee, Catahoula.

In LaSalle Parish, Clerk of Court Jim Nugent was returned to his post over Charles Huffman. Nugent polled 2943 votes and his opponent got 2457.

In West Carroll Parish, Assessor Woodard Bardin defeated Malcolm P. Crowe by 2554 to 1613 votes.

RETURNS
CATAHOULA

Shtriff: George McGee, incumbent, 2010; Fred V. Fairbanks, 1308.

More Voters Than Signups

A question arose during early tabulations last night when one voting precinct turned in a total of 306 votes cast, with only 305 registered voters signing at the poll.

The incoherent figures were turned in from Ward 6, Precinct 2, which was at the Masonic Hall in Calhoun.

Officials at the Ouachita Parish Courthouse said it was not definite what steps would be taken in the matter. They added that obviously some voter went through unnoticed but failed to sign his or her name to the register.

The votes were counted in the election, however, they pointed out.

DID THE EXPECTED

Davis In Sweep Of Monroe Area

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

Jimmie H. Davis, a favorite political son of Northeast Louisiana, did the expected yesterday by sweeping the Monroe area almost 5-1 in his bid for governor against deLesseps S. Morrison.

Davis, a native of Jonesboro, led by wide margin in each of the 16 parishes in this district. He carried his entire ticket with him.

Northeast Louisiana, according to unofficial returns tabulated last night, may have registered a record vote as 89,704 voters went to the polls.

MORE

That's 9,692 more votes than was recorded in the first Democratic primary held December 5.

Unofficial returns from 326 out of 329 precincts in Northeast Louisiana last night showed Davis with a 57,860 lead over Morrison — a lead comparable to Davis' state-wide margin.

Davis, in Northeast Louisiana, polled 73,782 votes to Morrison's 15,922. Morrison, defeated by Gov. Earl K. Long four years ago, has been mayor of New Orleans for 14 years.

C. C. (Taddy) Aycock, a Franklin attorney running on the Davis ticket also led the Monroe area over Morrison's running mate, George Bowdon — 70,510 to 17,219 votes.

An indication that Northeast Louisiana voted the entire Davis ticket was seen in the race for register of state lands where David Chennault, a Morrison ticket member, of Monroe failed to carry Ouachita Parish.

Chennault polled 7,671 votes to incumbent Douglas Fowler's 11,322 in Ouachita.

Davis, who has a residency at Shreveport and a farm near Newellton, carried his native parish of Jackson with 4,448 votes over Morrison's 900.

In Tensas Parish, Morrison got only 161 votes to Davis' 1,516.

Davis led this district in the first primary with 27,449 votes, trailed closely by Sen. W. M. Rainach with 23,996. Morrison doubled his vote over the first primary when he polled 7,503.

OUACHITA PARISH

Mike John Wins In House Race

By JIMMY HATTEN
Staff Writer

Ouachita parish voters yesterday elected Mike John Jr. as one of their two representatives in the state legislature.

On the basis of complete unofficial returns the voting was John, 11,330, and his opponent, James (Jake) Ussery, 7,835. The total vote was 19,165, compared to 19,776 cast in the Dec. 5 first primary.

John carried every precinct in the parish with the exception of one, Ward 10, precinct 6, where Ussery beat John out 79 votes to 63.

STATEMENT

The winning candidate last night issued the following statement:

"With deep appreciation and sincere thanks, I want to express to the voters of Ouachita Parish my grateful acknowledgement of the fine vote that elected me to serve all of the people as one of your representatives in the state legislature.

"I am not unmindful of the fact that it took the loyal and dedicated efforts of many hundreds of my friends to make this possible.

"To receive the full faith and confidence support that you, the people of Ouachita parish, have given me will make me even more humble and yet more dedicated to work for the cause of good government that I know you want and need.

"I therefore further pledge myself to work hard and in good faith to work with the other elected members of the legislature from this parish for the maxi-

"Again, I further pledge to you the people of Ouachita parish my determination to do at all times that which is right, and furthermore to conduct myself in all matters and manners in a conduct that will not be beyond the realm of what is ethical and the bounds of properiety.

Big Distance Planned In Soviet Tests

Much Farther Than Range In ICBM Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union appears to be planning to fire its test Pacific rockets at a distance of over 6,000 miles — substantially more than the normal ranges of U.S. ICBM weapons in routine testing.

Indications are that the schedule which Moscow announced on Thursday calls for launching a rocket or rockets from a point east of the Aral Sea into the impact area between the Marshall Islands and Palmyra Island in the central Pacific. The announced test period begins next Friday.

A study of the 280-by-160 mile impact area defined by Moscow in its warning to ships and planes shows that, if extended, the axis of the rectangle carries the track up across Kamchatka Peninsula, over the coastline of the Siberian mainland, and down across Eurasia to the area of Tyura Tam.

SPOT

This is the spot at which the Soviet Union is believed to have launched some of its satellites and space probe vehicles.

Tyura Tam is about 8,200 stature miles from the proposed central Pacific impace area. That compares with the 6,300-mile range for Atlas missiles launched by the U.S. Air Force from Cape Canaveral, Fla., into a target area south of Ascension Island, in the South Atlantic between Africa and South America.

President Eisenhower said in his

Parish Voting Rush Launched At Early Hour

Area voters yesterday swarmed to the polls in large numbers to vote for local and state offices in Louisiana's second primary.

A survey from some 25 polling places throughout the area revealed that most area voters lined up at the voting booths early in order to cast ballots before time for work. Most poll officials reported that many more people turne dout for this election than in the first on Dec. 5, although a few commented that the voting went "about the same" as last time.

SPEEDY

None of the polls reported a line of voters waiting as the polls closed at 8 last night. Light showers across the area apparently had little or no affect on the voting, even though some instances were noted in which voters left the polls until the rain subsided, then returned later to cast ballots.

The showers began in the early evening and continued lightly after polls closed.

First voting box to be turned in from area polls was from Ward 10, Precinct 8, which came from the poll at 301 Adams street. Officials said the box was turned in to the Ouachita Parish Court House at 8:25 last night.

A question arose during early tabulations last night when one polling place reported 306 votes had been cast, with only 305 voters signing, the report came from Ward 6, Precinct 2, the Masonic Hall in Calhoun. Authorities said last night that they were "not definite" as to what action was to be taken in the matter.

Polls 70,000 More Votes Than Mayor

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Former Gov. Jimmie Davis, fond of singing hymns and hillbilly songs, Saturday night climbed sharply ahead of Mayor deLesseps Morrison and won the Democratic runoff for governor.

In the second primary ballot that named a successor to Gov. Earl K. Long, most of the missing precincts were in the northern and central sections where Davis already was strongly in front.

The hard campaigning New Orleans mayor, a Catholic in a state that hasn't elected a Catholic governor since 1884, led earlier with his big edge in New Orleans.

LEAD

Morrison had to come out of southern Louisiana with a big lead to combat the Davis strength elsewhere, especially in rural areas.

But the election picture became clear when the Morrison lead in New Orleans of 101,971 to 70,515 failed to reach the commanding 46,000-ballot lead he gained in the Dec. first primary when he was high man in a field of 11.

Returns from 2,097 of 2,109 precincts:

Davis	483,939
Morrison	412,910

Davis had the backing of Sen. William Rainach, top segregation whip who had 143,000 ballots in the first primary. He managed a powerful coalition that drew the votes of defeated Gov. Long and former Gov. Robert Kennon.

The campaign weary Davis, 53, attributed victory to a "clean campaign."

Morrison said he had nothing to say officially at this time, "but I've tried to be a gracious winner. And like a good soldier, I'll try to be a good loser."

Davis raced ahead in 24 of the state's 64 parishes, holding firmly in northern and central areas and grabbing the lead in such big southern cities as Baton Rouge and Lake Charles, where Morrison led in the first primary.

Rep. C. C. Aycock, the Davis candidate for lieutenant governor, ran ahead of the Morrison entry, Mayor W. George Bowdon, of Alexandria, 378,884 to 330,187 in 1,738 precincts.

WARDS 2, 5

Incumbent Police Jurors Unseated

By BILL HARDIN
Staff Writer

Residents of Wards 2 and 5 rejected bids for re-election by three members of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury and replaced them with newcomers.

Complete but unofficial returns from the two wards placed Leland T. Carpenter in the jury post from ward 2. Leslie Hamm and James O. (Sonny) Avant were elected to the jury form Ward 5, in the west part of the parish.

Carpenter defeated W. J. Vinson, a veteran of 31 years.

Hamm and Avant, both cattlemen, defeated the incumbents Ollie C. Carter and Percy Nichols. Both were seeking their first political positions.

YOUNGEST

Avant is believed to be the youngest person ever elected to the police jury. He is 26. However, he is no new comer to parish politics; his father, the late Prentiss Avant, served on the jury for seven years. At the time of his

2 Senators Will Return To Capital

By DALLAS ROPER

In two of this area's senatorial districts, incumbents will be Baton Rouge - bound again this summer while two — and probably three — will be staying behind. Senators Speedy Long, 31st district, and B. R. Patton, 29th district, won their seats again.

Long was re-elected in the first primary, on Dec. 5, and was not forced to make the second race. He defeated three opponents, including State Representative W. L. Rambo.

DEFEATED

Patton defeated Ruston attorney Roy Talley in yesterday's runoff by a 5883 to 4722 vote in the 28th district composed of Lincoln and Union parishes.

Talley, a newcomer to politics, is the husband of Gov. Earl K. Long's niece.

In the 29th district — Morehouse and West Carroll parishes — William T. Carpenter soundly defeated incumbent Hubert M. Sims by a better than two-to-one margin.

Carpenter polled 6603 votes while Sims could only assemble 3062 votes.

A second upset incumbent was Dr. R. E. King in the 33rd district. The voters of Catahoula, Franklin and Richland parishes gave his opponent J. C. (Sonny) Gilbert a 9189 to 6610 victory.

In the complicated, two - part, four - parish 32nd district, incumbent Brenham C. Crothers appeared defeated with only three precincts in the district missing last night. He trailed Howard Jones by a 5236 to 4569 margin. The district is composed of East Carroll, Madison, Concordia and Tensas Parishes and senators are elected, one from Madison and East Carroll and one from Concordia and Tensas.

Winn Precinct 100 Per Cent In Two Ways

WINNFIELD (Special) — Jimmie Davis won by a 100 per cent majority and deLesseps (Chep) Morrison failed to receive a single vote in one Winn Parish precinct in yesterday's Second Democratic primary.

Every one of the registered voters cast their ballots prior to 7:30 p.m. at the Beech Creek polling place — Ward, 2, Precinct 3 of Winn parish.

Here's the way the first area returns looked at 7:30 last night:

Governor, Jimmie H. Davis, 39; deLesseps S. Morrison, 0. Lt. Governor, C. C. "Taddy" Aycock, 37; W. George Bowdon, 2. State Comptroller, Marion C. Henderson, 4; Roy R. Theriot, 32. Agriculture Commissioner, Dave L. Pearce, 37; George W. Shannon, 0. Registrar of State Land Office, Fred C. Dent Jr., 4; Ellen Bryan Moore, 34. Commissioner of Insurance, Rufus D. Hayes, 33; Paul C. Tate, 3. State Custodian of Voting Machines, David W. Chennault, 5; Douglas Fowler, 33.

State Representative, P. K. Smith, 33; D. E. Sikes, 7. Parish Sheriff, Ashton Collier, 14, Sanford Jordan, 23.

Nasser Starts Dam Project, Longtime Pawn

ASWAN, Egypt (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser yanked a switch Saturday and launched his cherished Aswan Dam project — long a pawn in the East-West cold war in the Middle East.

Before cheering thousands Nasser thanked the Soviet Union for financing the first stage of the billion-dollar hydroelectric-irrigation project after the United States and Britain had withdrawn their offer of help in 1956.

Yet possibly mindful that he still may need help from the West to finish the ambitious project to control the Nile and expand its work for Egypt, Nasser declared he bore no rancor.

"We remember the country (the Soviet Union) which agreed to help us in this project," Nasser told the crowds in this town in Upper Egypt. "we celebrate the building of the dam without hatred of those who fought us."

STONE

Nasser laid the first stone, bearing the date of the ground-breaking ceremony. Then he pulled the switch that set off 10 tons of dynamite and shattered a rocky bluff's face on the east bank.

A big Soviet delegation was present, headed by I. T. Novikov, minister of power station construction sent from Moscow especially for the occasion. Visiting King Mohammed V of Morocco

'Neglect' Is Listed For Crash Cause

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board said Saturday that an American Electra Airlines plane crashed into the East River in New York last Feb. 3. because of "neglect" by the pilot and co-pilot to pay proper attention to the craft's instruments.

Sixty-five persons were killed.

The CAB refused to go along with testimony of a surviving crew member that the instrument showed an altitude of 500 feet when the four-engine plane plunged into the water during a fog-obscured night approach to La Guardia Field.

The board, reporting on an exhaustive 11-month investigation of the mishap, said American Airlines should have given its Electra crews better training in the "many novel systems" of instruments in the new jet-prop planes. It said the company's failure to do so added to the "accumulative effect" of events leading up to the disaster.

NO ONE FACTOR

"There is no one factor so outstanding as to be considered as the probable cause of this accident," the report said. "On the contrary, the board has found that the accident was an accumulation of several factors, or errors, which, together, compromised the safety of the flight."

The CAB blamed the crash mainly on "preoccupation of the crew on particular aspects of the aircraft and its environment to the neglect of essential flight instrument references for altitude

WITHIN FEW DAYS

Showdown Is Seen For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A drive to pry the stymied civil rights bill out of the House Rules Committee will reach a make-or-break stage next week.

Northern Democratic liberals sparking the drive said Saturday they will need to get close to their goal by the week's end in order to succeed.

The goal is 219 signatures by House members on a petition to dislodge the bill from the committee. So far close to 150 have signed, nearly all of them Democrats. Under House rules, their names are not made public.

The liberal group sent questionnaires to all 432 House members this weekend inquiring whether they had signed or will sign.

The Northern Democrats frankly conceded they would need 50 to 55 Republican names.

The liberals expect some help from an AFL - CIO legislative conference. The delegates will lobby members of congress Tuesday and Wednesday on behalf of civil rights as well as other legislation.

The pending bill has been resting in the conservative-dominated rules committee since last August, when it was approved by the House Judiciary Committee.

The measure is a stripped-down version of President Eisenhower's 1959 civil rights program. He again urged congress to seriously consider his proposal in his State - of - the - Union message this week.

The bill would reinforce Negro

Hollywoodites Speak Up

By RICK DU BROW
UPI Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Gone are the days when Hollywood stars were afraid to speak out on controversial issues.

Top entertainers such as Steve Allen are making bold public statements demanding "a sane nuclear policy" and condemning the planned execution of death row author Caryl Chessman, who has evaded the gas chamber for more than a decade.

Other stars, such as Democrats Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford and Republicans Robert Montgomery and George Murphy, are making preparations to go all out in the 1960 Presidential race.

The reason for the trend away from the old closed-mouth attitude: The demise of filmland's once-powerful studios, which used to have every major star under contract and feared any statements might offend fraction of the paying audience.

An addition, the blossoming of many stars as businessmen who run their own production companies makes them feel they have the same right to speak out as any other businessman. Their taxes are also high.

Allen, a serious - minded man who has won praise for his writing as well as his humor, is one of filmland's leaders in taking stands on controversial subjects.

In October, he, actor Theodore Bikel, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and authors Aldous Huxley and Harry Golden were among more than 200 persons who signed a Friends (Quaker) Committee on Legislation petition seeking to prevent Chessman's execution. The petition was sent to California Gov. Edmund Brown.

In addition, Allen is co-chairman with actor Robert Ryan of the Hollywood for "Sane" Committee, which advocates "a sane nuclear policy."

Parties are held in private homes for persons interested in the committee. At a recent party in Ryan's home, industry members who attended included Gene Kelly, Jack Lemmon, Anthony Quinn, Stanley Kramer, Mark Robson, Lee Marvin, Connie Russell, John Saxon, John Kerr, Arthur Kennedy, Carroll Baker and her husband Jack Garfein.

Other stars are ready to participate in the 1960 Presidential campaign.

Sinatra and Shirley MacLaine pitched in to put over a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner. Proceeds from the $100-a-plate banquet went to the State Democratic Central Committee to help finance next year's capaign.

Sinatra has long been an active Democrat. Said Miss MacLaine: "Being an actress doesn't mean you should cut yourself off from the rest of the world, and I have as much interest in what goes on in England, France, Russia and Japan as I do in what goes on in the United States. It's one great world, and I think this is a healthy attitude."

Among the Republicans, Murphy has been asked to help produce part of the GOP convention show. He helped get the Republican convention under way in 1956, and he expects to swing into action this winter. He also was master of ceremonies for a TV appearance that President Eisenhower made here some months ago.

On that same Presidential trip, the chief executive, it was learned, gave a private fund-raising talk to some of filmland's most solid citizens. Among those who were seen leaving the conclave were Clark Gable, Bob Hope and many of the movie industry's most prominent executives.

On the other hand, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler has named writer-director George Seaton to head a committee to produce part of the convention show when the Democrats convene here next summer.

Among those Seaton has enlisted to aid him are Dore Schary, Valentine Davies and Leonard Spigelgass, author of the Broadway play "A Majority of One."

One actor in town who is personally concerned with how the election comes out is Peter Lafford, whose brother - in - law is Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.). Lawford, who is married to Kennedy's sister Pat, says he's going all out to hel his brother-in-law get elected President.

With the studios less and less in control, fewer stars can be compelled to attend functions for visiting dignitaries that they'd rather avoid.

Although mo st performers fought for tickets to see Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on his visit to 20th Century-Fox, Ward Bond blasted the affair. He stayed away — as did Ronald Reagan an i Bing Crosby.

THEATRE

Raging Row Is Hit Of Paris Season

PARIS (AP) — A behind-the-scenes row raging between Culture Minister Andre Malraux and Claude de Boissanger, Boss of the famed Comedie Francaise, is the hit of the Paris theatical session.

The row—stemming from a disagreement on the price of theater tickets—has become so big in fact that the French Cabinet soon will be sitting in on it.

Malraux had nothing but words of praise for De Boissanger, former ambassador to Czechoslovakia, when he appointed him to head the French National Theater three months ago.

He described the diplomat as "courteous but full of grits" and capable of giving strong leadership to the theater.

De Boissanger's appointment was the first phase of a Malraux program aimed at revamping the theater.

Malraux, an art expert and author, decided that the Comedie Francaise, guardian of the classic theater tradition in France, was getting stale.

It was serving up too much modern froth, forgetting "the heritage of past masterpieces which contribute to the formation of man," he said.

The culture minister cut the National Theater in two, giving its left-bank Odeon Theater to actor-manager Jean-Louis Barrault for the production of contemporary plays of established worth.

He told the Richelieu Theater, a dependency of the historic Palais Royal, to get back to its proper role — the presentation of Moliere's verse comedies, Ratragedies, with perhaps a little Shakespeare.

De Boissanger, inheriting the National Theatre in this truncated form, inherited trouble, too.

Discontent, long rife among the stage technicians who had developed the habit of calling wildcat strikes around curtain time, spread to the players.

Actors and actresses at the Comedie Francaise hold shares in the theater, draw a bonus each time they play, and split a portion of the take. There are no stars, and each must play any role assigned.

With profits falling and productions confined to the same old classics instead of an occasional money-drawing modern piece, most of them began to look for occasional jobs outside.

More lucrative work in movies, personal appearances in the provinces, radio and television took more and more of their time.

The Comedie management began to complain it was hard to stage any play at all because so much juggling of dates was involved to get a cast together.

De Boissanger apparently thought he had the answer to offset the decline in the number of patrons. He raised seat prices. patrons. He raised seat prices. Next day Malraux countermanded the price increase. He said he had not been consulted.

De Boissanger protested, and Malraux asked for his resignation. De Boissanger refused, pointing out he had a six-year contract.

The problem is expected to go before the Cabinet when it meets this week.

Spokesman Says Officials Probing Damage

QUINCY, Mass. (AP)—A Navy spokesman said yesterday the FBI and Navy officials are investigating the cause of damage to electric cables to the guided missile cruiser Long Beach now under construction at the Bethlehem Fore River Shipyard.

Capt. E. H. Batchelder, supervisor of naval shipbuilding at the yard, said that "there has been an incident of damage to electrical cables in the Long Beach. It is now under investigation by naval officials and the FBI. It is not known what the investigation will develop."

Batchelder said the damage was not enough to delay work on the cruiser, which is about half completed.

Controversy Sidetracked To Convention

WASHINGTON (AP)—A controversy within the Democratic National Committee over a proposal that states be given a voice in committee decisions equal to that they enjoy in the national convention has been sidetracked to the convention itself.

An announcement Saturday said Illinois Committeeman Jacob M. Arvey has informed National Chairman Paul M. Butler he will not offer his proposal to revise committee voting rights at a meeting here Jan. 2. Arvey said he did not want his proposal to have a devisive effect in the party so close to the convention.

Arvey asked that his proposed amendment to committee rules be referred to the convention's resolutions committee, which meets July 11 in Los Angeles.

Under Arvey's proposal each state would have the same number of votes in the committee as it has in the convention. Thus, the larger states could virtually dictate party decisions.

Arvey's plan would give New York 114 votes and Illinois 69 votes in the committee, while Vermont and Hawaii would have only 9 votes each. All these states now have only two votes each in the committee.

The National Committee meeting Jan. 22 will come a day before the committee's campaign fund-raising dinner at which former President Harry S. Truman and other big Democrats will speak.

The committee says 2,020 tickets at $100 each have been reserved for the dinner, assuring a gross of $202,000 in contributions and pledges. But the party still has a huge deficit from the 1956 campaign.

The nation's steel companies are owned by over 1 million holders.

4 Incumbent Sheriffs Get Return Vote

bent, 231; Ashton Collier, 3015. Collier, parish representative, entered the sheriff race instead of seeking his own re-election.

FRANKLIN

With all 19 precincts reporting: for sheriff, A. J. Stephens, 3882; incumbent Hiram Waller, 3227.

EAST CARROLL

Sheriff John W. Gilbert, 1331; Leon C. Harbin, 911 with all seven precincts reporting.

WEST CARROLL

Sheriff: J. R. Butler, 2282; Allen Haley, 1912; Assessor, Woodard Bardin, 2554; Malcolm P. Crowe, 1613. All 14 precincts reporting. Both winners are incumbents.

Ten of the area sheriffs were re-elected in the first primary on Dec. 5 or were nominated without opposition.

Those who were unopposed were Sheriff Jesse Riser of Lincoln Parish and Sheriff C. E. Hester of Madison. Sheriff Riser has completed his first term and Sheriff Hester has served three terms in Madison.

Sheriff Noah Cross in Concordia Parish won over a field of six opponents in the first primary. Jurd Stewart returned to office in Union Parish without a runoff, defeating two opponents. Earl Hill was unsuccessfully opposed by Delhi Mayor Roy Snider in Richland Parish. Caldwell Sheriff Buddy Erskine was also re-elected.

SHERIFF DIED

In Jackson Parish the tragic, post-primary death in incumbent sheriff, Loyd Bryant gave the nomination to his opponent, who ran second in the first primary, Newt T. Loe. The attorney general's office said that law provides that, in a case such as this, the other man in the case will be declared the nominee.

In LaSalle Parish Herschel Floyd was elected to succeed his retiring father as sheriff.

The biggest area upset in the policital picture was the defeat of long-time Tensas Sheriff Elliott Coleman by one of his former deputies Mack Seaman. Seaman is the brother of Tensas' representative, Carroll Seaman.

All other courthouse races — assessors, clerks and coroners — were either un-contested or decided in the first primary except for the assessor's race in West Carroll Parish.

Mike John Wins In House Race

preciation for the fact that our campaign was in its entirety conducted on the high level of clean and clear-cut sportsmanship which was completely void of any personality issues. I believe that our race proves that a contest for a post in our government can be conducted in such a manner.

"Once more, I want to thank with all of my heart those of you who worked for me and voted for me. To those of our people who did not so do, I want you to know that now the race is decided you can be assured of my fair and impartial representation for the best interests of all of the people of Ouachita parish."

The winner joins first primary victor and incumbent Lawrence Gibbs as Ouachita's two representatives in the House.

Both John and Ussery kept the second primary campaign conservative—a trend which was set in the seven-man battle for the two posts in the first primary voting.

Gibbs led first primary voting and won his second term in the legislature with a total of 9,981 votes. John was runner-up with 7,320 and Ussery was third with 5,934.

The others finished in this order: John F. McCormick, 4,891; John S. C. Massey, 3,463; Harvey E. "Coonie" White, 1,819 and C. E. Hathaway, 1,303.

To win, Ussery needed to close a 1,386 vote gap by which John led him in the first primary.

Eighty per cent of Ouachita's registered voters went to the polls Dec. 5, three per cent above the state average of 77 per cent.

Out of 24,937 registered, 19,776 cast their ballots. During the registration period between elections, 429 more voters signed up, bringing the total number persons eligible to 25,366.

As in the first primary, voters had a 10-hour period in which to go to the polls, with balloting hours set 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Contrasting the overcast skies and dampness in the first primary voting Dec. 5, Saturday was a perfect voting day, warm and partly cloudy.

The winner steps into the post held the past four years by incumbent Gilbert Faulk, who chose not to run for another term.

MONROYANS

Both of Ouachita's representatives for the next four years are from Monroe. The second primary loser also makes his home in Monroe.

John is a realtor and Ussery is a pharmacist.

Shortly after the 8 p.m. voting deadline, voting commissioners from Ouachita's 51 precincts in the 10 wards of the parish began to file in intermittently with the ballot reports.

The returns were recorded and called out to spectators and news media representatives gathered at the parish courthouse.

Official promulgation of the returns is scheduled in a few days.

The two Ouachita representatives take office May 9. On the following day, the Louisiana Legislature will promulgate returns in the governor and lieutenant governor election.

John, a resident of Monroe for the past 45 years.is engaged in the investment, insurance and real estate business. He is a graduate of Louisiana State University and a veteran of World War II.

A member of the First Methodist Church, John also belongs to the American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Masons and numerous other organizations.

Ussery, 36, who has lived in Monroe for the past 30 years, was selected as the outstanding young man in the Twin Cities in 1957. A fighter pilot in World War II and the Korean War, Ussery is past president of the Louisiana Junior Chamber of Commerce and Monroe-West Monroe Jaycees and helped organize the West Monroe Jaycees as a separate organization. He belongs to numerous other organizations.

Ussery attended Northeast State College and was graduated from Loyola University in 1950.

In his professional career as a practicing pharmacist, Ussery has served as president of the Fifth District Pharmaceutical Association and on the executive committee of the Louisiana Pharmaceutical Association. He is a member of the Good Shepard Church and the Knights of Columbus.

State of the Union message Thursday that 14 test Atlas missiles have hit within a distance of two miles of the intended point. He made no reference to whether the 6,300 statute miles is maximum range. However, in the past some U.S. missile experts have said that the range of the Atlas could be boosted beyond that.

The Moscow announcement emphasized that the purpose of the forthcoming rocket tests is to develop "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake space flights to planets of the solar system."

Although the Moscow announcement speaks of trying out "a more powerful" rocket, the Soviet missilemen may be using this test to solve re-entry problems at maximum ICBM range. They may need to know more about what happens to the nose cone of a rocket—carrying either a hydrogen warhead or an astronaut on a purely scientific flight — when it drops back into the friction and heat-producing atmosphere of the earth after soaring through a trajectory at speeds of 18,000 miles an hour or more. U.S. missilemen and space vehicle experts claim that America has solved the re-entry problem.

The Soviet Union is making final preparations for the tests.

Soviet cargo-type ships, with tracking and other observation gear, have moved southward from locations farther up in the north Pacific and Sea of Okhotsk, between Kamchatka and the Siberian mainland, where they had been sailing earlier this year.

SAFETY ISN'T FIRST

Nasser Starts Dam Project, Longtime Pawn

was another spectator.

Nasser said his United Arab Republic had been able to begin construction on the 645-foot dam — which will be the world's highest —despite "threats and economic pressure" from other countries.

The U.A.R.'s antagonists "afforded us an opportunity to win and to be sure that our victory depended on the people and on our determination to build the dam ourselves in our liberated country and to follow the path which we want ourselves." Nasser said.

The United States and Britain originally undertook to finance the Aswan Dam to keep Egypt out of the Soviet orbit. But a train of events intervened.

Courted eagerly by Moscow, Nasser agreed to buy arms from the Soviet bloc, paying in cotton, Egypt's chief export.

On July 17, 1956, the United States withdrew its offer of aid. One reason given was that Nasser had made repayment of loans a bad risk by pledging his cotton to buy arms.

Nine days later, Nasser seized the Suez Canal, up to then an international operation, saying he would use canal revenue to build the Aswan Dam.

The Soviet Union was quick to take advantage of the Egypt-West split and offered to put up 100 million dollars for the first stage.

The Russians have sent technicians here and have persisted with aid despite Nasser's attacks on Arab Communists.

It will take four years to complete the first stage, construction of a coffer dam and a diversion canal. The second stage—the construction of the dam and its hydroelectric tunnels — will take nearly six years.

Fitzgerald Gets Lead Over Coci

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jack Fitzgerald piled up a big lead Saturday night over incumbent William Coci in the Jefferson Parish sheriff's race.

With returns in from 87 of 102 precincts, Fitzgerald had 35,566 votes while Coci had 15,383.

Dan Hogan, parish presidential candidate on the same ticket with Fitzgerald, showed 34,501 votes. Charles Spencer, Coci's running mate, had 15,668.

15. West Carroll—Davis, 1,163; Morrison, 203.

16. Winn—Davis, 1,678; Morrison, 269.

Davis carried in the first primary Caldwell, Catahoula, Franklin, Jackson, LaSalle, Morehouse, Ouachita, Tensas, West Carroll parishes.

Rainach carried the remaining Northeast Louisiana parishes with the exception of Winn, where James A. Noe led.

Davis Claims Clean Fight Won For Him

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jimmie Davis, weary after a gruelling four-months gubernatorial campaign, pinned his victory in the Democratic primary Saturday night on a "clean campaign."

Before a packed room of loyal supporters in a downtown hotel here, Davis said:

"The most gratifying thing to me in this victory is the realization and assurance that a candidate can win a gubernatorial race with a clean and decent campaign."

His backers, standing on chairs and pushing over drinks, boomed forth with "You are My Sunshine." The song was the 53-year-old former governor's theme when he first won the governorship in 1944.

Holding a commanding 50,000 vote lead with 1700 of 2109 parishes reported, Davis called his winning campaign "a victory for the town and cities throughout the state, a victory for a lot of people I'll never see."

Davis had to have two uniformed private policemen force a way through the crowd to get on a platform to deliver a short short speech. He stopped every few feet to shake someone's hand and accept a congratulation.

"A man can't get off the ground himself" he said, "I call up the people of the state to join with me in building a greater Louisiana."

Daviss' face still carries the boyish appearance it did when he charmed Louisiana with his hillbilly ballads two decades back. But the network of wrinkles show the toll of years.

His wife stayed in the rear of the red-carpeted hotel room and watched her husband thank his gleeful campaign supporters.

"This is not a victory for me," Davis said and hushed the crowd with a sweep of his arm. "It's a victory for you, for the people."

Someone asked him if he thought the Republican nominee, Francis Grevemberg, would give him any trouble in the April general election.

"I never count my chikens before they hatch," Davis answered cautiously.

Harris Unseats Sen. deBlieux

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Wendell P. Harris, businessman, Saturday unseated State Sen. J. D. DeBlieux by about 1,000 votes in the Democratic second primary, complete returns showed.

Harris polled 27,190 to DeBlieux' 26,181 in East Baton Rouge Parish balloting.

Sanders had 35,532. McGehee 29,401, John Ward 23,505 and Ben Peabody 15,914.

Pythians Set Installation

The election of new officers for 1960 will take place at the first meeting of the Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, tomorrow in Castle Hall, 127½ St. John Street, Monroe.

Most excellent chief, Anita Causey. Refreshments will be served in the dining hall after the meeting.

JES' Ramblin'

Officers

The Cadeville Masonic lodge, one of the oldest in this part of the state recently held its election of officers who were installed for the coming year.

F. P. Cobb, Jr., will be worshipful master and serving him will be the following: Thomas Griggs, senior warden; J. G. Sandifer, junior warden; J. J. George, treasurer and Harold Thomas secretary.

Speaker

A speaker of outstanding ability, Richard L. Glendon, of Lost Angeles, will address an annual open meeting at the First Church, Scientist, in Monroe, Thursday at 8 p.m. The meeting will be open to the public. The theme of the address will be: "The Healing and Saving Power of Scientific Prayer."

At this time the speaker is on a nation-wide tour of lectures for his church. He has already served as moderator of television programs that were given.

He is a native of Denver and gave up active business relations to devote full time to Christian Science.

During the last war he served as a wartime Christian Science lecturer.

Giant

A youthful giant slouched into an Illinois schoolroom after the day's classes had departed. The teacher, Mentor Graham, looked up and recognized the young husky before him. He was one who had whipped all the young fighters after he had moved in town with his family.

This six foot and more of muscles and ignorance attracted the teacher who offered to help by lending a few books.

Today the name Mentor Graham is forgotten, but the youth who then stood before him in later life became well known as Abraham Lincoln.

29 Days

Having entered the year that permits February to boast 29 days, will in many places be celebrating suitable events to go with a leap year.

At Northeast State Louisiana college a Leap Year dance was kicked off on last night in the Student Center. To be in new style, women asked men for dates.

Talent

The annual talent show of the Jeffersonian Club of Ouachita Parish High School has been scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Competition is open to any amateur group or individual. Proceeds from the show which will be held at the school auditorium will be donated to a local charity or institution.

Symphony Holds Youth Auditions

The annual youth auditions sponsored by the Twin City Symphony Orchestra will be held at 1 p.m. today at Northeast State College in the Fine Arts auditorium, according to Dr. Harry Lemert, director.

The auditions feature two categories of piano concerto performance and winners will play with the orchestra at concerts later in the season. Entrants were limited to the Monroe area and the required compositions were the Haydn Concerto in D Major for younger students and the Mendelssohn Concerto in G Minor for advanced students.

Serving as judges will be Dr. Lemert, Duchein Cazedessus, a member of the music faculty at Louisiana Tech and Leroy Anspach, Monroe.

J. Birdsong Is Loser In 2 Parishes

days after the first primary voting before being assured of a runoff spot with Adcock.

The first count showed Nathan Ewing, former legislator and clerk of court, ahead of Birdsong and trailing Adcock in second place. After changing hands several times, the runoff slot went to Birdsong by 94 votes.

First primary voting showed Adcock, 6,749; Birdsong, 5,139; Ewing, 5,045; John Hunt, 3,669 and Dick Ware 1,878.

Both Adcock and Birdsong pulled their principal support in the first primary from their home parish of Ouachita Adcock polling more than 5,800 and Birdsong winding up with 4,860.

Before Saturday's voting, it appeared that Jackson Parish ballots were to be a big factor in the outcome. Birdsong managed to get 279 in Jackson in the first race, compared to almost 900 for Adcock.

Heaviest voting in Jackson during the first race was for Ewing who polled 2,423.

ANNOUNCED

After being beaten in the first primary, Ewing announced he was supporting Adcock.

The 30th Senatorial District was assured of a new face in the State Senate when incumbent James Sparks announced he would not seek another term.

Adcock, builder and loan executive, once served as director of commerce and industry under Gov. Earl K. Long.

Businessman Birdsong has been serving as head of the Ouachita Valley Fair Association.

28TH DISTRICT

Incumbent senator B. R. Patton swept back into office over Roy Talley by a vote of 5,284 to 4,218. The district is composed of Lincoln and Union Parishes. All precincts reported.

New Officers Elected By Khorassans

Offices for 1960 were recently elected by the El Miro Temple No. 187, Knights of Khorassa, at a session in Castle Hall, 127½ St. John Street.

The following officers will serve for the remainder of the year.

J. J. Dietereich, royal vizier; J. T. Tolson, secretary; J. J. Dietereich, imperial representative; Eugune Shows, alternate imperial representative; J. Leon Dennis, grand emir; H. O. Norman, Sheik; Morgan S. Jiles, Mahedi; A. Kanelous, satrap; Harlen Prestedge, ashib; W. S. Neild, treasurer; H. C. Foster, master of ceremonies; J. J. Burroughs, saruk; Edgar L. Harrison, mokanna.

Kiwanis Club Installation Set For Monday

The annual installation banquet of the North Monroe Kiwanis Club has been set for Monday at 7 p.m. at the Saddle and Spur restaurant, outgoing President Ed Miller announced today.

Assuming new posts in the organization will be Herb Walker, president; Ed Miller, vice-president; Fred Brownlee, vice-president, and Ben Winegeart, secretary-treasurer.

Vernon McCoy, district lieutenant governor for Kiwanis International, will serve as installing officer and Pascal Norris, member of the Monroe Kiwanis Club, will address the meeting as guest speaker.

and height above the approach surface."

It said "The accident probably resulted from the captain's neglect" of these instrument readings. But it added that the crash "could have been prevented had the first officer followed prescribed operating procedures and been fully alert and attentive to all his cockpit duties throughout the approach."

The captain on the Chicago-to-New York flight was Albert H. Dewitt, 59, a veteran of almost 30 years of flying and 28,135 airborne hours. He and one stewardess were killed, along with 63 passengers.

Frank S. Hlavacek, 33, was the first officer, or co-pilot. He was one of three crew members and five passengers who survived.

The board said other factors which contributed to the crash included the crew's limited experience with Electras, the rain and fog which hampered visibility, difficulty in gauging height visually over water, and use of the automatic pilot during the approach in violation of company procedure.

The board said the pilot, unused to the new Electra instruments, possibly misinterpreted the height recorded on his altimeter and the rate of descent on another dial.

It added that even though the captain had set his altimeter wrong, the 80 to 125 feet error this might have caused was not enough in itself to have resulted in the crash.

Jimmie Davis Gets Edge In Carville Vote

CARVILLE, La. AP — Former Gov. Jimmie Davis Saturday received a 2-1 edge over New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison in complete unofficial returns from voting for governor in the Democratic second primary.

The U.S. Public Health Service Hospital here, which usually completes voting ahead of others in the state, showed Davis had 66 to Morrison 30.

Carville comprises the hospital for treatment of Hansen's disease only.

For lieutenant governor, Davis' running mate C. C. Taddy Aycock had 65 votes to 24 for W. George Bowdon.

Other Carville results:

Comptroller Theriot 57, Henderson 26.

Agriculture Commissioner: Pearce 60 Shannon 26.

Register of State Land Office: Moore 65, Dent 21.

Insurance Commissioner: Hayes 64, Tate 21.

Vote Machine Custodian: Fowler, 59, Chennault 23.

Since 1934, total employment in the steel industry rose over 48 per cent.

Parish Voting Rush Launched At Early Hour

ficials said the day had been "steady but generally quiet." Voters came to cast ballots in record-breaking numbers, but no unusually long lines formed at most of the polling precincts.

Longest lines reported by most voting officials developed in the early morning, before the polls opened. Voters obviously planned to cast ballots before going to work.

None of the polling places queried last night reported a line formed during the last minutes of voting before polls closed. Most of the lines had dissolved by late afternoon, officials said.

A reported record turnout was noted in Louisiana's First Democratic Primary Election on Dec. 5, and officials reported even this earlier record was broken yesterday.

Long lines formed in the Ouachita Court house during the two days in December that people were allowed to register for this second primary.

Although more voters turned out this election, polling places were not so crowded as in the first primary, officials pointed out. Voters apparently arrived, voted, and left the polls without lingering too long to hear political talk.

Polls 70,000 More Votes Than Mayor

apparently turned out in greater numbers compared with the Dec. 5 first primary when they cast a record ballot of 842,609.

Interest ran high in the flashy political circus performed in the Morrison and Davis campaigns after the first primary defeat of the Long dynasty.

The Democratic nominee in this one-party state is certain to win in the April 19 general election, succeeding Earl, the lame duck, in a four-year term starting next May.

But Morrison or Davis will face Francis Grevemberg, GOP nominee and Kent H. Courtney, states' rights candidate, in the April election. The GOP for the first time is arming for an all-out political bout, trying to draw from the ranks of Democratic voters.

In New Orleans, where Morrison beat Davis more than two-to-one in the first primary, a Negro deputy sheriff was arrested at a predominantly Negro precinct and booked for carrying a concealed weapon.

Dist. Atty. Richard Dowling identified the man as Felix McElroy, a deputy at the Orleans Parish Prison. Police said McElroy was a Morrison poll watcher. The Negro was paroled.

Frank Manning, chief investigator for the attorney general's office and a Davis supporter, arrested McElroy. He said McElroy was carrying a gun and a blackjack while walking around in a manner intimidating to voters.

However, Police Sgt. Jules Michel, who booked McElroy, said the Negro was not intimidating or threatening voters.

In Rayne, a rural community in southwestern Louisiana, Linton Daigle, a white election commissioner, was arrested on charges of violating election laws. He was released under $7,500 in bonds.

He was accused of intimidating two voters in a Negro polling place and electioneering in a voting place.

Morrison, 47, four times mayor of the state's largest city and an aggressive, tough campaigner, is a Roman Catholic. He led Davis by 65,000 votes when he was high man in a first primary field of 11. Morrison gained 278,956 votes then.

Davis, 53, wartime governor who soothed war weary nerves in 1944 when he swept into the mansion with a pleasant blend of polite politics and hillbilly songs, is a Baptist from Protestant northern Louisiana.

Morrison, same age as vice president Richard M. Nixon, was named with Nixon as one of the 10 outstanding young men by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1947.

While neither Morrison nor Davis has spoken out on the 1960 presidential race, both greeted Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) when Kennedy invaded this state recently. National Democratic Committeeman Camille Gravel, backing Morrison, predicted Kennedy would get the nomination.

Davis, soft-spoken, easy going, matched Morrison in state popularity. The two are the biggest political personalities in the state since the late Huey P. Long, with the lone exception of Huey's brother, Earl.

Davis, well known as a singer, is no hillbilly. He has a master's degree in education and psychology.

In a state that took years to return to normalcy after the first American dictatorship, Davis carries a powerful appeal with his brand of politics. He promised never to set up a political machine and favors a strongly independent Legislature.

Voters chose other state officials and legislators in runoff contests, many on Morrison or Davis tickets.

Religious and sectional strife took side seats as the main campaign show centered on how to save segregation, whether teamster President James H. Hoffa was behind Morrison, and who offered the best road to greater prosperity.

Louisiana hasn't selected a Catholic governor since 1884, nor has it favored a man from New Orleans for the mansion since 1920. Morrison challenged these old prejudices with a hard-hitting personality. Like the late Huey, he is a tireless fighter and keen organizer. Strong in southern Louisiana, with its French heritage, Morrison appealed to northern and central Louisiana to let him build the state industrially.

Davis is a coalition contender with heavy support of the AFL-CIO, and the publicly announced votes of such enemies as Gov. Long and former Gov. Robert Kennon. The peoples know from his previous regime Davis didn't show any big appetite for power. He hasn't meddled with state affairs.

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — For some reason, it's 30 per cent more dangerous to drive eastward in Connecticut than it is to drive westward.

State police say they don't know why, but in a nine month period 543 traffic accidents involved eastbound cars, 417 westbound. The averages have held up over several years, they say.

Crane ahead with 2265 votes, compared to 2015 for Lloyd F. Love.

Caldwell returned Rep. W. C. Steen Jr. to his second term in office, with 1640 votes. David M. Gartman received 1547 from the parish's 14 precincts.

KEPT POST

Rep. I. J. Allen, a member of the house for many years, kept his post with 2687 votes from Jackson's 29 precincts. Opponent Louie C. Boss took 2466 votes.

LaSalle parish, which unseated its representative T. H. Gaharan in the first primary, chose Chester Floyd with 2680 votes over David C. Mayo, 2652 votes in 26 precincts.

Woodrow Wilson, incumbent in Morehouse parish, netted 3099 ballots and goes back to his third term as representative. O. C. Nolan, Police Jury president, took 2573 votes in 27 precincts.

Rep. Lasley J. Downes was far ahead of his competitor in Richland parish. Twenty precincts gave Downes 2878 votes, while Benny G. Christian received 2145.

Seven parishes had no worries about who would be representative. They elected men to the House in the first Democratic primary on Dec. 5.

But as the polls opened at 6 a.m., the outcome of the representative's race was uncertain in eight other parishes.

Re-elected in the first primary were: L. D. Napper, Lincoln parish; W. S. Peck Jr., Catahoula; Vail M. Delony, East Carroll; Lantz Womack, Franklin; J. Carroll Seaman, Tensas; T. T. Fields, Union; and Edgar Lancaster, automatically re-elected without opposition in Madison parish.

Starting in the pre-dawn hours, and continuing until after sunset, voters considered the qualifications of the eighteen hopefuls for House office.

MOREHOUSE

A Morehouse parish representative since 1953, Woodrow Wilson entered the run-off opposed by O. C. Nolan.

President of the Police Jury, Nolan appeared a strong candidate even before the first primary. Both men are Bastrop residents.

WEST CARROLL

Four years have rolled around, but the picture remains the same. W. Spencer Myrick and Lonnie Richmond vied the West Carroll representative's post again.

However, the last election saw Richmond as Representative and Myrick as the challenger. Myrick was elected to Richmond's office in 1956, and this election saw Richmond in a effort to regain the position.

RICHLAND

Incumbent Lasley J. Downs is completing his first term as Richland parish representative, and sought to retain the office.

Competition came from Benny G. Christian, a Rayville insurance man.

Downs, also from Rayville, is a cotton buyer.

LASALLE

It was a toss-up between Chester Floyd and David C. Mayo—neither one an incumbent — in the LaSalle parish run-off.

Rep. T. H. Gaharan was forced out of the race in the first primary, when Floyd, of Walters, and Mayo of Urania took the high votes.

Prior to the first primary, Floyd was seen as Gaharan's strongest opponent. He is parish school board president.

Mayor, a minister, breezed into the run-off.

CALDWELL

Rep. W. C. Steen Jr. of Kelly entered the second primary against David M. Gartman of Columbia, for representative from Caldwell parish.

Steen has served one term in office. Gartman is an auto dealer.

WINN

The Winn parish race narrowed down from seven candidates in the first primary to P. K. Smith and D. E. Sikes in the run-off. Incumbent Ashton Collier did not seek re-election, and goes into the run-off for Winn Sheriff.

Smith is an auto dealer and cattleman, while Sikes is a member of the parish School Board and past superintendent.

JACKSON

Louie C. Boss and incumbent I. J. Allen faced each other for the House seat in the Jackson parish run-off. Allen had four opponents in the first primary, stayed in the race.

A representative for many years, Allen appeared strong before yesterday's election. But Boss also held a strong position.

Boss is former president of the Police Jury and now is a Jonesboro gasoline distributor.

Jackson parish long-time representative I. J. Allen received 2687 votes from the 29 precincts, while Louie C. Boss was 200 behind with 2466.

LaSalle, which tossed out its representative in the first run-off, selected Chester Floyd by a very narrow margin over David C. Mayo for new representative.

Floyd garnered 2680 votes, while Mayo took 2652.

In Winn parish, with returns complete from 30 out of 31 precincts, P. K. Smith was ahead with a total of 4005 votes. D. E. Sikes trailed with 1914 votes.

Sixteen precincts out of 19 in Concordia parish put Rep. W. P (Jack) Crane in the lead with 2265 votes. Lloyd F. Love had 2015.

Educator Talks About TV's Ills

WASHINGTON (AP)—A prominent educator says public derision, not congressional legislation, is the only remedy for television's ills.

"The cure for the unspeakable drivel of TV programs, the downright lying of tawdry commercials," Dr. T. M. Stinnett said Saturday, "is a coast-to-coast derisive belly laugh from the American people. Here would be a rating system that would create real panic on Madison Avenue.

"Legal censorship is not the answer. Popular censorship, based on trained and critical faculties, is."

Stinnett is executive director of the National Commission of Teacher Education and Professional Standards. He was addressing a regional conference on programs of teacher education.

He said teachers at all levels must take the lead in setting new standards of values in this country.

"As a nation we seem, momentarily at least, to have lost our way," Stinnett said.

"For example: the sordid revelations of the TV quiz riggings the alleged payoffs to disc jockeys to determine what music the American people will hear, the brazen distortions of the hucksters who consider the nation as a conglomerate mass of 180 million boobs, the creation of synthetic characters called celebrities who set our values, speech and fashions for us.

"There is the even more sordid selling of political candidates to the plubic with the same sales technique employed to market a new laxative; our obsession with notoriety and money as a measure of success, and with abnormal biceps or bosoms as the marks of distinction.

"Above all, there appears to be no overweening sense of moral goals, no dominating sense of great purpose by our people — only success and getting ahead as yardsticks."

Incumbent Police Jurors Unseated

death he was vice-president of the jury.

Hamm led the voting in ward 5 with 3,540; Avant second with 3,456; Carter third with 2,978 and Nichols had 2,693.

Carpenter captured 275 votes to Vinson's 222.

STATEMENTS

Both Hamm and Avant shortly after the results were known, issued statements thanking the people of Ward 5 for their support and pledging themselves to working for the improvement of the ward in particular, and the entire parish in general. Both asked for the support of those who had voted for the present jurors "to work together to improve our ward in all sections."

Avant's statement read: "I want to thank all the people who voted for me. I am going to work for everyone in the ward, in every section of the ward. To all those who voted for the incumbents, I am asking their support to improve our ward."

Hamm said he wanted "to thank the many fine people who worked so hard for me. I appreciate my fine supporters and will work for all of the people."

Seven of the present members of the police jury were returned to the posts in the first Democratic primary in December. they were: Fletcher G. Studdard, ward 1; M. W. Montgomery and L. B. Pettit, ward 3; L. U. Fourmy, A. E. Montgomery, Sr., and Irwin Kilpatrick, all from ward 10; and Hicks from ward 5.

Rankin Earle, cattleman and planter, filled the third position from ward 3. His second attempt for the post was successful. Four years ago he was an unsuccessful candidate for the jury post from ward 3, but was defeated by Robert Irby. Irby did not choose to seek re-election.

NEW MEMBERS

New member to the jury, elected in the December 5 primary, is L. W. Coon of Ward 6. He defeated Frank Golson, Jr., who was seeking a second term.

Another new member is Jesse W. Wilson who captured the post from Hilton Owens in Ward 9.

J. H. Brown, a former member of the jury, was elected to the position from Ward 8, succeeding Ralph Sims, who did not seek re-election. Brown served on the jury prior, but was defeated in 1956 by Sims.

Two of the present jurors, W. O. Roberts of Ward 7, and C. A. Kincaid, Ward 4, were unopposed in the Democratic primaries. However, Roberts faces an opponent, Jack Battaglia, in the general election April 19.

Showdown Is Seen For Civil Rights

voting rights by permitting federal officials to inspect local registration and voting records. It also would impose federal penalties for forcibly obstructing school desegregation orders and for fleeing across state lines to avoid prosecution for bombing churches, schools, and other buildings.

A final point would provide schooling for servicemen's children when local schools are closed in integration disputes.

There was a possibility that the Rules Committee itself would uniform the bill and send it to the House floor if signatures on the discharge petition neared the 219 mark.

Rules Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), a leading foe of the bill, has given no hint publicly of what he would do in that case. But Southern opponents could gain an advantage if the rules procedure were used, since the committee could provide much more time for debate than the discharge petition allows.

IF INDICTED IN LYNCH CASE

Top Lawyers Set To Defend Men

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — A battery of top Mississippi criminal lawyers will defend the accused lynchers of Negro Mack Charles Parker if they are indicted by a federal grand jury, an authoritative source told UPI Saturday.

The Jury is expected to end a two-week investigation of the case late this week and its decision on whether to return indictments will represent a showdown in the Justice Department's effort to bring several white men to trial.

Most of the 15 or more witnesses who went before the jury this week had legal representation. Instructions to invoke the Fifth Amendment rather than answer questions were received by suspects and other witnesses alike.

A dispute between prosecuters and four witnesses over use of the Fifth Amendment erupted and most of Thursday was devoted to a hearing on the matter before U. S. Judge Sidney Mize. He repeated his earlier instructions that no witness can be compelled to give no answers that would be self-incriminating.

During the hearing the four witnesses were represented in the courtroom by 13 attorneys including State Democratic Chairman Bidwell Adam and Stanford Morse a prominent South Mississippi attorney.

A source has told UPI that scores of Mississippi lawyers had offered their services if trials were to be held. Apparently they feel the case is shaping up as a fight between the state and the federal government.

The state took no action against the 23 white men listed by the FBI as "known and suspected participants" in the killing of Parker, who had been jailed at Poplarville on a charge of raping a white woman. The Justice Department began efforts to bring federal charges after a county grand jury at Poplarville ignored the matter.

Pythians Hold Election Of 1960 Officers

Johnnie Holmes was elected chancellor commander for 1960, by the Stonewall Lodge No. 8, Knights of Pythias, at its first meeting of the year at Castle Hall 127½ St. John Street, in Monroe. Other officers elected were:

Angelo Kanelos, Vice Chancellor Commander; Joe Dietrich, master of Arms; Oscar Prestige, Master of Arms; Oscar Alford, secretary; Jessie George, treasurer.

The elected officers each gave a short speech, before the meeting closed.

Three Negroes Injured In Two Accidents

BASTROP (Special) — Three persons were injured, one critically, in two seperate mishaps in Bastrop yesterday.

Sarah Fitch, 23, colored female, is being held in Bastrop city jail with pending charges of assault with a deadly weapon, after her husband and young son were injured in a shotgun blast at their home.

Early yesterday afternoon, she attempted to leave home for a few hours and asked her husband, Johnny Fitch, 24, to watch the children while she was away. An argument ensued, and, according to Sarah Fitch, she grabbed a shotgun and stood in the doorway. Her husband slammed the door and the shotgun discharged, blowing off his right hand and striking their 17-month old son in the stomach and elbow.

Both the husband and child are in Bastrop hospital, and authorities report the child to be in serious condition.

Later yesterday, another colored youth, 7-year-old Pat Anne Bonner, was injured when she darted onto Pruitt street and was struck by a taxi driven by David Ware, Negro of Bastrop.

According to city police, the child was dragged 36 feet before the vehicle came to a stop. She is presently in a Bastrop hospital in critical condition.

David Ware is being held in city jail on charges of no drivers' license and faulty brakes.

Poor Food Endured By Film Cast

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Recently in Tobago, West Indies, the location company of "Swiss Family Robinson" was complaining about the food.

All except Sessue Hayakawa, who ate his meals in blissful silence. Back in Hollywood the actor explained how he could endure the poor food.

"I was concerned for the other people in the company, but not for myself," he said. "Nothing bothers me. Absolutely nothing. That is part of being a Zen Buddhist."

Not even a bad golf game bothers the veteran Japanese star—"Because if I get angry, my game gets worse." His religion has been getting much notice recently because it has been embraced by members of the beat generation.

Hayakawa, who often speaks at his temple in New York, said he welcomed the beatniks, though he cautioned about Zen becoming a fad.

"It is a way of life," he said. "I think that any religion, whether it be Zen Buddhism, Christianity or whatever, is good for people."

Now past 70, Hayakawa is a handsome, vital testimonial to his faith. He leads a busy life, traveling to acting jobs in all parts of the world and to his four homes on three continents.

Homes No. 1 and 2 are in Tokyo. One is an American-style bungalow with central heating. That's his winter house. The other is a larger Japanese home where he lives when the weather warms up.

His other homes are in New York and Paris. He spent 15 years in Paris, including the war period. Except for so-called progress, he would still have a home in Hollywood, too. He built a house here in 1916, only to have it torn down a few years ago because of a freeway.

Hayakawa has seen a great deal of change in Hollywood, some good, some bad. He arrived in 1912.

He worked four years at Paramount, making several films with Cecil B. De Mille. He was scheduled to play "The Sheik," but lost out to Rudolph Valentino. Later, Hayakawa formed his own company.

Such training—he made as many as eight features in a year—should help him in his next enterprise. He is planning to shoot 39 TV films in Tokyo for the American market. Hayakawa will play a police inspector, a sort of Joe Friday of the Rising Sun.

Johnson Schedules Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson, target of criticism for "one-man" leadership, Saturday scheduled a party conference Tuesday to discuss pending legislation.

Johnson's failure to consult Democratic colleagues more often on legislatuve stands has provoked muttering in the ranks, particularly among self - described "liberal" senators.

His action in scheduling the conference was seen as a step toward allaying the criticism.

As the first item for discussion, Johnson listed the selection of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee. A group of "liberal" Democrats has proposed that the conference name members of the committee.

Also listed for discussion were school aid construction and clean elections bills. School construction was one of the topics mentioned by the liberal group when they pressed at the year's first conference Thursday for more frequent caucuses.

At that time Johnson assured his colleagues he would call party caucuses at the request of any senator. Saturday, he apparently acted without waiting to be asked.

A few hours before conference notices were sent to each Democrat, seven of them sent Johnson a letter formally requesting another conference within three weeks. Aides doubted that Johnson had received the letter when he scheduled Tuesday's meeting.

The text of the request to Johnson was being withheld for the time being. It was learned, however, that it requested discussion of the Policy Committee make-up and of the legislation authorizing federal aid to school construction.

One of the senators seeking the conference, Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) praised Johnson for taking the unprompted action. He said Johnson had done "just what I have been hoping he would do for a long time."

Pressure for additional party conferences began last year when Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) complained about the infrequency of caucuses as indicative of "one-man rule" by Johnson. Proxmire, Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr., (D-Pa.) and several others renewed their criticism Thursday when the party conference met.

They proposed that Democratic conferences be held either every two weeks or on request of 15 senators.

FUN BACKFIRES

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Five youths thought it would be great sport to stay on the midsection of a bridge as it pivoted open for an oil tanker going up the Quinnipiac River.

After an hour and 15 minutes, however, the fun wore off. A chain used to pull the midsection back into place snapped, and it took authorities that long to lasso the structure with a tow-line.

Jane Russell Slights Movies In Favor Of Child Welfare

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jane Russell is so successful finding homes for orphans she hasn't made a picture in two years—and business associates are concerned.

Jane, after fighting for years to get rid of the cheesecake curse that plagued her, looks better than ever. Her career advisers want her to cut down on her WAIF activities and concentrate more on movies and TV. She has done a few TV appearances and had a successful night club act for a while. But, as one adviser puts it: "WAIF, with Jane, has now become a case of the tail wagging the dog. Her career, it seems is WAIF."

Jane founded Waif in 1951 when she and husband Robert Waterfield first became interested in adopting children. They have adopted three.

Three years later WAIF (Women's Adoption International Fund) became an arm of International Social Service, Inc., a 40-year-old organization with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland.

Since then WAIF has placed 4,000 homeless children — of all races and creeds—with parents, mostly in America. In the last two years, Jane has been unusually active and WAIF has witnessed its greatest growth. More than 3,000 children were placed in 1958 alone.

It is not a one-woman job. WAIF has enthusiastic workers in Hollywood, New York, Chicago and other cities, but Jane, because of her celebrity status, is the group's most effective lobbyist.

She spends much of her time in state capitals like Sacramento and in Washington, talking with lawmakers.

"I see WAIF's problem as a big gorge," she says. "On one side are thousands of homeless children. On the other are thousands of parents who want those children. Our job is to build a bridge across."

Her lobbying activities are aimed mostly at getting a simple, uniform adoption law in each country. There are 33 different state adoption laws in the United States alone.

"Finding good parents is the least of our problems," she said. "We have 100 prospective parents for every available child. What we need is money to promote our work and less red tape in our laws."

The organization does well with big fund-raising parties like the glamor-studded Imperial WAIF Ball held here recently in the Cocoanut Grove. It earned some $50,000.

But to take care of more homeless children, Jane says there must be more grassroots action.

"It's the dollar donations that make charities work, not the few big givers," she says. Accordingly a new WAIF project is to start a series of church pancake suppers throughout the country for WAIF's benefit.

One of Jane's associates says she has spent thousands personally on her own expenses in promoting WAIF's cause. Her boss Howard Hughes must be given credit for some kind of an assist for this.

She is the only movie star under contract to the Hughes Tool Co. In fact, she was the only physical asset that did not go along with the sale of RKO Studios when Hughes sold it a few years ago.

Jane has a million-dollar contract with Hughes for six pictures, most of which she has already made. The nice touch is a provision that the million dollars be paid to Jane over 20 years dating from 1955. She hasn't seen Hughes in a long time, but the checks come in every week—and assure her the most security of any actress in the business.

NOW A RECTOR

Man Different Sky Pilot Type

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP)—Lester J. Maitland, who 34 years ago made the first trans-Pacific flight to Hawaii, has become a different sort of sky pilot.

Once Brig. Gen. Maitland, he's now the Rev. Mr. Maitland, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in this northern Sacramento Valley lumbering and livestock town.

"I used to speculate as I flew over the mountains and the great oceans on the insignificance of man's work and the greatness of God," says the much-decorated aviation pioneer. "I began to see that nothing could be finer than serving Him."

This feeling was always there, says Maitland, a vigorous 60, and lifelong member of the Episcopal Church.

"It was a long process," he recalls. "I continued feeling that 'This is what I'm going to do.' The feeling kept getting stronger and stronger until I finally decided to join the ministry."

That was in 1954. He began studying under the Rev. George Selway at St. Paul's in Lansing, Mich., where he was serving as aeronautics commissioner and civil defense director for the state. He took the positions after retirement from the Army Air Corps in 1945.

A period of seminary study followed Maitland's initial work in Lansing, a term of apprenticeship. Then, two years ago, he came here with his wife to take over at St. Peter's.

Maitland's main goal now is to enlarge his 350-member congregation and to build a mission in this community of about 6,000 people.

Before he donned his clerical garb, Maitland's career spanned nearly the entire history of aviation and brought him many honors including two Distinguished Flying Crosses in World War II.

It was a career that began as it ended, in Army war service. In 1917, Maitland left his home in Milwaukee, Wis., at 18 to start out as a test pilot in the fledging Air Service.

When he retired, he left a bombing squadron that for two years had regularly hit targets in Nazi-held Europe with Maitland flying "every mission until they made me quit."

How does a general turned minister feel about his war-making role?

"The bombing was an essential job at the time," Maitland explains. "That's what I was trained for. We all have to reconcile ourselves to this sort of thing."

As for the future, he feels strongly that aviation will help mankind reach peace by shrinking the world and making it easier to get from one place to another. Ultimately, Maitland believes, this will lead to world government.

"Communication and transportation go together," he points out. "We have little trouble with Mexico and Canada because we're close together and can talk to each other, understand each other.

"With air travel, we can do this on a worldwide basis and see that people all over the world are human just as we are. We can get their viewpoints and they can get ours.

"As long as we're talking, we won't be fighting. In the past, we weren't able to do this and we had wars.

"Aviation has to help mankind reach peace. If it doesn't, it will destroy the world."

Maitland played a significant role in aviation's development, serving as an aide to famed Gen. Billy Mitchell and once, in 1923, snapping the world's speed record: 244 miles an hour.

Today, that speed may seem outrageously slow, like the 25 hours and 49 minutes it took Maitland and aviator Albert Hegenberger to make it from Oakland, Calif., to Hawaii on that record 1926 flight.

Although the speeds may not have been exciting by jet standards, the dangers were undoubtedly greater in the early days of aviation.

"We flew planes with one wing, with two wings, with eight wings. And there were no parachutes. I recall at first we thought they were sissy," Maitland says.

"I was in so many crashes I can't remember them. I'd like to feel that I was saved to do the job I have started."

Vatican Radio Hits Hatred

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican radio Saturday denounced anti-Semitism as "the most dangerous form of collective hatred and ignobility of spirit."

"In the name of Christian conscience, human feeling and the thousands of Jews who have been the victims of racial persecution," a commentator said in an Italian-language broadcast, "it is necessary to put all peoples and particularly certain youths, on their guard against the return of deplorable racism."

BY SCIENCE

Fantastic Strides Made In 'Fifties

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 1950's gave us the H-bomb and the first photograph of the far side of the moon.

It gave us the Salk polio vaccine and the first nuclear power plants and ships.

It produced the hypersonic airplane and the intercontinental ballistic missile.

With ionizing radiation it opened new windows on the atom and the living cell. With rocket and radio astronomy it opened new windows on the universe.

The military engendered and pre-empted many of the fruits of science in the sixth decade of the 20th century.

But during the International Geophysical Year, this same decade saw scientists of 66 nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain peacefully engaged in the greatest cooperative venture ever undertaken to wrest new knowledge from the earth and its corner of space.

Under the auspices of the IGY and it's successor program, International Geophysical Cooperation —1959, man launched the first artificial satellites,the first sun rockets, the first space probe to curve behind the moon and take a picture of its erstwhile hidden side.

While space scientists were looking up, earth scientists were looking down — toward the planet's unknown insides. These scientists, the geophysicists, conceived and expect to carry out a grand scheme to drill through the earth's crust to its mantle, a region more mysterious than the surface of the moon.

While astronomers were striving to decipher the riddle of the universe, other scientists were hunting clues to the riddle of life.

Biologists began to understand the structure of the giant molecules which are the bricks of living matter.

They appeared to be on the verge of creating in their laboratories something possessing, as one of them said, "many of the attributes of life."

One branch of science by nuclear transmutation changed the basic nature of atoms and created new ones. Another created synthetically the basic stuff of genes and viruses and proteins.

The geneticists learned enough about the hereditary mechanisms of life to proclaim that man could — if he would — control his own evolution henceforth.

Biochemists discovered means of controlling plant growth and learned how to transiorm many inedible and once - wasted materials into nutritious food. They learned more about how green plants use solar energy to turn air and water into living tissue.

The decade ended in dispute over whether food production could keep pace with human reproduction.

The brain still defied complete understanding. But the mind gave up some of its secrets. A chemical cause was proposed for some kinds of insanity.

Antibiotics conferred a mixed blessing. They whipped some diseases but lessened man's resistance to some others.

Cancer was not conquered. But the discovery that some kinds of cancer are caused by viruses was one of the decade's great accomplishments.

A controversy, still not settled, developed over whether cigaret smoking causes lung cancer. Tranquilizers were put on the market to calm man's jangled nerves. Injections of Salk antipolio vaccine became nearly as commonplace as vaccinations against smallpox.

The attack on diseases of the heart advanced on many fronts, new life - saving surgical techniques were developed. Drugs were found to control high blood pressure. Rheumatic heart disease "is in a rapid decline," according to the National Heart Institute.

In related fields, scientists held out the promise of replacing damaged or diseased organs with healthy spare parts from living or recently dead persons.

New estronomical discoveries doubled the previously calculated size and age of the universe. The new science of radio astronomy proved the existence of spiral arms of stars in our galaxy and found a corona at the galaxy's heart which emits powerful radio signals.

Radio astronomy also discovered colliding galaxies deep in space. It found evidence that some other galaxies may be dividing, like giant amoebas.

With a 600-foot radio telescope being built by the Naval Research Laboratory in West Virginia, astronomers expect to peer nearly 20 times as far into space as they can with the 200-inch optical telescope at Mt. Palomar in California.

IGY rockets with ultra violet eyes have provided a never before seen picture of the sun and the night sky. They discovered in the sun's corona the origin of solar X-rays. Scientists designed satellite observations which may reveal existence of other worlds swinging around other suns.

From what they have learned of the solar system and the universe in the past decade, scientists now generally believe that living things on a par with human beings inhabit hundreds of millions of other planets.

In the meantime, the primitive first artificial satellites have changed man's notion of the form of his earth — it is slightly pear - shaped — and have revealed and measured zones of intense radiation high in the earth's magnetic field.

Power - hungry man struggled economically with atomic energy and to find ways of controlling H-bomb reactions for power. He continued his search for means of harnessing the sun's rays for heat and energy. He foresaw atom - powered craft plying interplanetary space by the end of the new decade.

Scientists came up with several different devices for converting heat directly into electricity without any of the moving parts which plague and add to the cost of conventional and atomic power plants.

These so - called thermoelectric machines are not as yet very efficient. But they face an assured future as providers of auxiliary power for satellites and space probes and electricity for automatic weather stations.

At the end of the decade not the sky but the atom and the cell and the depths of the universe marked the limits of man's curious probing.

Legislative Proposals See Tough U.S.-Cuba Relations

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

A tougher United States policy towards Cuba can be expected.

This was indicated by at least three legislative proposals introduced on the opening day of the new congressional session.

Two House bills were aimed against Cuba's privileged position in the U.S. sugar market. A third, a Senate resolution, emphasized the Caribbean area in proposing the U.S. step into any hemisphere country threatened by world communism.

Political obeservers saw little chance that the bills aimed at cutting Cuba's U.S. sugar quota would prosper. They said the United States was in no position to cut the Cuban quota while the problem of how Cuba is to pay for 300 million dollars worth of American sugar lands she will seize this year under her agrarian reform program remains unsettled.

Likewise, they saw scant possibility of any direct U.S. intervention in Cuba, a step sure to offend the sensibilities of the rest of Latin America which is being swept by a new wave of nationalism.

The same sources thought Congress more likely to vest authority in the President to cut sugar quotas, if and when he sees fit. They also said it was possible some legislation might be enacted holding out that portion of Cuban sugar income from the United States which represents "bonus," to be set aside for future debt payments to American investors.

However, they did not underestimate the psychological value of the pending proposals in the "horse trading" sure to accompany efforts to settle current U.S.-Cuban problems.

Importance also was attached to a private report to Congress on the current situation by U.S. ambassador to Cuba Philip W. Bonsal. The career diplomat was reported not optimistic about an early U.S.-Cuban approachment. Significantly, he was hitherto advocated U.S. official patience with Cuba.

Cuba also faces continued investment mistrust.

The West Indies Sugar Company with four mills and 246,000 acres of sugar lands in Cuba proposed formally going out of business there. Two thousand stockholders will vote on the proposal Feb. 4.

At the same time, the Foreign Credit Interchange Bureau, a division of the National Association of Credit Management, warned that conditions in Cuba have become too risky for American exporters and investors.

Stefan J. Rundt, international market consultant, reported "near chaos" in Cuba and suggested it might well be "written off" by exporters and investors, at least for the present.

Other hemisphere events of the week:

—Three presidents of Central American republics agreed on informal meetings at Ocotepeue, in Guatemala, where a new national highway is to be inaugurated. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes of Guatemala meets with Ramon Villeda Morales of Honduras next Saturday, and with Luis A. Somoza of Nicaragua Sunday. Presumed reason: To discuss a common defense against frontier transgressions which have plagued all three nations. All three nations are threatened with internal disorders.

—In the Dominican Republic, strong man Rafael Leonidas Trujillo further strengthened his grip on the government with the ouster of veteran laborite-diplomat Julio Cesar Ballester as secretary-general of the Dominican Workers Confederation. Ballester, a political moderate, was reported to have been friendly with the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, which is now threatening a world-wide boycott of Trujillo for suppression of trade unionist's rights in Santo Domingo.

Doctors Tell Setback In Bevan's Case

LONDON (AP)—Doctors Saturday reported a setback in the condition of Aneurin Bevan, deputy chief of Britain's Labor party, who is in a hospital after an abdominal operation.

A bulletin issued by the Royal Free Hospital in London said: "Mr. Aneurin Bevan has had a disturbed night. His condition is not as satisfactory as it was yesterday."

The 62-year-old Bevan earlier had been reported making progress. The operation, for an undisclosed ailment, was performed 11 days ago.

The only clue to Bevan's condition has been a negative one. Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell, now touring the United States, said two days ago he received an encouraging note from Mrs. Bevan and added: "It's definitely not cancer and Nye will recover completely."

Cancer never has been mentioned in the hospital bulletins or by friends of the Bevan family.

The Daily Herald, an organ of the Labor party, said Gaitskell's statement caused some surprise among Bevan's doctors. It quoted a close friend of the Bevans as saying: "Even I do not know the exact nature of the trouble."

Pup Brutally Kicked By Vicious Person

BOSTON (AP) — A dog's best friend is man.

Well, that is, except the stranger who brutally kicked "Scamp," a mongrel pup 4 months old. The kicking fractured both her hind legs New Year's Day and her legs are encased in tight casts at Angell Memorial Hospital.

A picture of "Scamp" in the casts, looking wistful as only a puppy can, was sent nationwide Friday on The Associated Press wirephoto network.

Then came the evidence about a dog's best friend.

Countless phone calls flooded the hospital from many parts of the country. One woman in Indiana telephoned, and like all the others, she wanted to adopt "Scamp" and give her a good home.

But George Harrington, hospital manager, told her and all the others the same story. "Scamp" has a good home and his kind hearted owners, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Godfrey of Boston, were the ones who brought her to the hospital for treatment.

As far as the Godfreys are concerned, nobody's going to adopt "Scamp." They want her back home.

To all you people who sought to help the little pup, Harrington has this message:

"'Scamp' is getting alone fine and will be back with his owners in about a month. Her only trouble is she's encumbered with those casts and can't play around the way a frisky pup wants to."

OUTLOOK FOR 1960

Housing Costs Said On Upswing.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What's ahead for housing in the 1960s?

For the home buyer, the biggest change coming is further increases in the cost of a house.

A report prepared for the U.S. Savings and Loan League finds prices are going up for two reasons: inflation and "more house".

The report, prepared by the Indiana University business school and titled "The Next Decade," confirms what home builders have been claiming all along: prices of new houses are going up because people want more space (play rooms and reading rooms), more equipment (Wall ovens and garbage disposals) and better quality.

To prove the point the report offers these figures: average construction cost per dwelling unit amounted to $12,000 in 1958. In 1948 it was $9,735 (using 1958 dollars to eliminate the effect of inflation). "This upward trend should continue through the '60s and it is expected that the average cost per unit will pass $15,000 (in 1958 prices) before 1970."

The report forecast that total residential and construction spending, including additions and alterations (but not repairs or maintenance) will continue upward, "with most of the pressure coming from the desire for better housing.

"The annual total is expected to increase from $19,100,000,000 to $29,900,000,000 during the decade, and to average $24,700,000,000.

These compare with an increase from $14,100,000,000 to $19,100,000,000 during the decade of the '50's and an annual average of $16,300,000,000."

Financing all this new or improved housing will be a whopping jump in outstanding residential mortgage debt, according to the report. Home owners now owe about $145,300,000,000 against property mortgages. By the year 1970 the total is likely to hit $310,000,000,000.

Where the average annual rise in mortgage indebtedness was $10,400,000,000 in the '50's it is projected at $15,300,000,0 in the '60's.

Where will the money come from?

Most of it will become available from a swelling flow of savings generated by mounting employment and incomes. The report estimates personal income; wages, salaries, dividends, rent and other income people get individually — at $570,000,000,000 for 1970 compared to about $380,000,000,000 in 1959. The number of households is expected to rise from more than 50 million to more than 61 million.

Even after dividing the additional income among the new households there is room for an increase from $7,123 per household per year in 1958 to $9,330 in 1970, the report reckons.

Some money for housing will also come directly from the federal government. But, as the report points out, direct federal spending programs are controversial and hence amounts to be doled out are unpredictable. In all probability the biggest federal contributions will come in the form of continuation of mortgage-underwriting programs. These involve little or no direct outlay and therefore meet less opposition in Congress and the White House.

ON STRENGTH OF DISPUTE'S END

Nixon's Stock On Boom Drive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's GOP presidential stock boomed this week on the strength of his dramatic back-stage role in settling the eight - month old steel wage contract dispute.

It was an off-record role which came to light only after Nixon had won assurances from steel management and labor that they would bridge their differences and make a deal. But events still to unfold will determine what effect it has on the November presidential election.

Aided by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, whose political stock also soared, Nixon accomplished in secret conferences what federal mediators and personal pleas from President Eisenhower had failed to do.

Mitchell, who would like to become Nixon's running mate on the Republican White House ticket, said the vice president's "influence, prestige and leadership were very significant in this settlement." He emphasized this repeatedly.

Democrats conceded privately that Nixon had scored a major political triumph which sets him up as a formidable election opponent. Only a few minimized his part. Among these was Rep. Roman C. Pucinski (Ill.) who charged the settlement was purposely arranged to give Nixon a big political buildup.

Mitchell heatedly denied that deals or politics had anything to do with it.

Democrats generally had criticized Eisenhower for waiting so long before sending in the Nixon-Mitchell team or acting more forcefully himself. But the President had been in close touch with developments from the start. In fact, Mitchell said that he and Nixon, on Eisenhower's instructions, arranged the first of the private mediation talks as early as Dec. 22.

Nixon apparently did some tough talking and frosted it with urgent persuasion. The gist of it was that another steel strike would paralyze the economy and both management and labor would be penalized by harsh legislation Congress would feel bound to pass.

Mitchell described it as "a down to earth" rather than a "scare-'em-to-death" approach.

With steel peace now assured, Washington speculation centers on whether Nixon's feat might boomerang politically. This could happen if the new steel contract fuels the inflationary fires.

The Wall Street Journal said editorially that a big upward thrust to inflation through higher steel prices is inevitable. It said that "no matter how you slice it, the new wage contract adds upwards of a billion dollars to the wage costs of this basic industry and gives an upward bias to all new wage negotiations in other industries."

This poses the question whether Nixon could weather such a storm.

Steel prices affect nearly the whole economy and consumers especially. If the steel makers raise prices and touch off a new round of inflation, Democrats could point to Nixon — already chosen by Republican leaders as their nominee-to-be—as the man responsible.

There also probably would be an all-revealing congressional investigation. A Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has been exploring price structures in big industries and would lose no time in calling in the steel operators for an explanation. They were on the carpet in previous inquiries.

On the other hand, Nixon's worst enemies must credit him with restoring labor peace in a controversy which was seriously hurting the nation before a federal injunction sent striking steel workers back to the mills.

Republicans from Eisenhower on down heaped praise on him. Congressional Republicans and Democrats alike heaved sighs of relief. Nixon had headed off anti-strike legislation which neither party wanted to enact in an election year.

Now cancelled was a plan by Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.), front-running candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, to have his Senate labor subcommittee explore the steel impasse.

The rest of the story remains to be spelled out.

Strategists Figure Reds Must Budge

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. strategists figure the Soviet Union must budge one way or another to prevent a blowup of the nuclear test talks resuming in Geneva Tuesday.

The conference of the atomic powers—the United States, Soviet Union, and Britain--recessed over the year end with the discussions in the crucial stage. How the negotiations for an agreement to ban atomic test explosions develop now will have a major bearing on the general East-West disarmament parley starting March 15.

In 14 months of talks so far, the Geneva conferees have agreed on 17 articles of the 30 or so which would be expected in a treaty outlawing nuclear tests.

They recessed last month in a deadlock over Soviet rejection of U.S. scientists' findings that sneak underground atomic blasts can be far more difficult to detect than previously thought. The West insists the treaty must provide adequate controls against possible violators.

When the talks resume this week, U.S. negotiators plan to try again to get Soviet acceptance of the West's proposals for guarding against underground shots.

If the Reds do not agree—and there is little optimism here that they will—then the Americans are preparing to reoffer a version of President Eisenhower's April, 1959, plan for a limited agreement against atomic tests in the atmosphere and under water. This would be easier to police.

But here again there will have to be some change in the Soviet stand.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev brushed aside the Eisenhower plan last spring, saying the Soviet Union wanted a ban on all nuclear explosions.

The U.S. negotiators led by Ambassador James J. Wadsworth are not entirely without hope that something will come of the Geneva talks. One reason is that both sides have a big stake in a successful outcome.

The Americans want to win Soviet agreement on the idea of controls to enforce a treaty as they head into the general East-West disarmament talks. Disagreement over the need for controls has been a central point in past East-West conference failures.

Khrushchev, in the opinion of some U.S. experts, is anxious for a test ban so he can pose as a champion of world peace. It is believed that Moscow does not see a need for further atomic testing for their military arsenal at this time.

Finally, both East and West seem to want to avoid the pall that a breakdown of the Geneva talks would spread over the important diplomatic events scheduled for 1960.

Subzero Cold Numbs States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Subzero cold numbed the northern border states Saturday from the Great Plains to New England.

Scattered snow fell from North Dakota into the Great Lakes region and from western Montana into Washington and over the Sierras.

Midday temperatures were below zero from northern Michigan to Maine. Rumford, Maine, recorded -6, Caribou -5, Burlington, Vt., -2 and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., -1.

Overnight low readings ranged down to -33 in Upstate New York, while Mt. Washington in New Hampshire had a midday temperature of -34.

Skies were clear from the Atlantic coastal states into the Tennessee and Eastern Ohio Valleys.

Snow was mixed with rain in western Washington. Locally moderate to heavy rain doused California. Occasional rain or showers splattered the Texas coast.

Afternoon temperatures in the 50s and 60s were the rule in the Gulf Coast region with 70's in southern Texas and Florida.

Ruston Accident Report Released

RUSTON (Special) — Traffic accidents in Ruston ranged from a four-way crash to a collision between a car and a horse, the final accident report of 1959 released by police Chief O. O. Osbon reveals.

There were 106 more accidents in 1959 than in 1958.

Women of Ruston will probably say, "I told you so," but the figures show that there were 558 males and 152 females involved in Ruston's accidents last year.

There were 581 white people involved and 129 negroes involved in the city's 388 accidents, he revealed.

A breakdown of the accidents show that there were 52 one-car accidents; six three-car accidents and one four-car accident.

DAMAGE

Twelve of the accidents caused property damage other than to the cars. There were 72 persons injured, two of these being pedestrians.

The accident breakdown as to place of residence shows 75 of these involved out-of-state people; 263 involved non-residents of Ruston.

There were no deaths. There were 32 parked cars involved in accidents, one car fire, one motorcycle accident, one car-train accident, one car-horse accident and four hit and run accidents. Of the four hit and run accidents, three have been solved, the chief said.

"We are trying to do everything within our power to decrease accidents in 1960," he said. "We had an increase in traffic, but not as much as the figures would indicate."

There were 217 non-intersection crashes as compared to 172 that occurred at intersections.

"Speed and carelessness is the main cause of accidents, our reports show," Osbon declared.

Authorities Put Baby Into Home

NEW ORLEAS, La. (AP) — Authorities put the baby of William James Stevens and his estranged wife into an infant's home here Saturday while a judge set a custody hearing for Monday.

Judge John C. Boutall of the 24th Judicial District Court in Jefferson Parish—county—signed a habeas corpus writ returnable Monday. At that time, Boutall said he will hear the evidence to decide which parent is entitled to have the 5-month-old girl.

Juvenile authorities placed the infant in St. Vincent's Infant Asylum, an institution for abandoned children, until a court decision is reached.

Stevens, 31, operator of a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., tavern, and the baby were found in a Jefferson Parish motel Friday night.

Tips from Jefferson Parish residents led to the end of the wide spread search that had begun in Kansas City Thursday when Stevens took the baby from his wife's apartment.

Stevens reportedly was preparing to leave for Nassau, in the Bahamas. Marcus Milton Thomson, a Kansas City private detective, was with them.

The child's grandfather, Crosby Kemper, a Kansas City banker, had offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to Stevens and the baby.

Stevens hired legal help here and announced plans to fight attempts to take the child back to Missouri. He said he also will battle any attempt to extradite him.

Mrs. Stevens and her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. Crosby Kemper Jr., arrived here Saturday in a private plane with their attorney, Normal Greene.

Mrs. Stevens reportedly visited with the child earlier in the day while the baby was at a deputy sheriff's home.

Greene said he had papers proving the baby had been placed in the permanent custody of the mother previously.

Three Kansas City police officers also arrived here Saturday with warrants charging Stevens with felonious assault on his wife. Another warrant charged Thomson with impersonating an officer and enticing a child away.

Caldwell Parish Health Unit In Temporary Spot

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Parish Health Unit will begin moving into their temporary quarters this weekend, according to C. D. Chapman, Secretary for the Caldwell Parish Police Jury.

The Caldwell Parish Police Jury accepted the bid of A. L. Darden in the amount of seven hundred and twenty six dollars for the old structure which will be moved from the lot in preparation for the construction of the New Caldwell Parish Health Unit building.

The temporary quarters of the Health Unit is in the building formerly occupied by Alford Drug Company, next door to Louisiana Power and Light Co.

The next step toward construction of the proposed $21,000.00 health unit building will be the approval of a blue print.

Caldwell Farm Bureau Slates Officer Vote

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Parish Farm Bureau has slated a covered dish supper and an election for Tuesday night January 19 at 6:30 at the Community Center.

Officers and board members will be elected and the awards presented to the winning teams in the Membership Drive Contest.

The results of the membership drive contest showed a definite increase in Membership of Farm Bureau Members in Caldwell Parish.

According to D. C. Hollis, County Agent for Caldwell Parish, the team winning first place for securing the most members was Harold Cooper of route one Columbia and Jimmy Rowland of Route two, Monroe, in Ward One.

Second place winning team was Leland Kenny and Billy Long in Ward Two.

Tokens of appreciation will be presented to the runner up teams, Merrell McGuffie and T. B. McSwain of Ward Seven and the team of Wilbur Hillstead and Chester Ray Ellis of the Hill Area.

Apparent Sabotage Disclosed

QUINCY, Miss. (UPI) — The Navy's second case of apparent sabotage in the past three months was disclosed Saturday.

The nuclear-powered, half-built cruiser Long Beach sustained possibly intentional damage, a pokesman said.

missile cruiser, first of the Navy's

The 300-million-dollar guided missile cruiser, first of the Navy's nuclear - powered surface ships, apparently was sabotaged while under construction at the Fore River Shipyards of Bethlehem Steel Co. here.

Only last October, the famed polar-voyaging atomic submarine Nautilus, berthed at the Portsmouth, N. H. Naval Shipyard for a routine overhaul, sustained what the Navy termed "apparently intentional damage."

Ironically enough, Capt. Eugene P. Wilkinson, the first commander of the Nautilus, is the officer assigned here waiting to skipper the Long Beach when it joins the fleet, expected to be some time in 1961.

"There has been an incident of damage to electrical cables in the Long Beach," said Capt. E. H. Batcheller of the shipbuilding supervisor's office. "It is now under investigation by Naval officials and the FBI. It is not known what the investigation will develop."

Capt. Batcheller's comment on the possible sabotage was almost identical with the comments of Portsmouth, N. H. Naval Shipyard officials when the damage to the Nautilus came to light.

Batcheller said the damage to the huge cruiser was "relatively insignificant." Workers at the Fore River Shipyard here indicated that a three and one-half-inch armored anti-mine cable had been cut in three places about the ship.

Navy officials said the damage in the cables, used as anti-magnetic mine repellants and circling the entire 721-foot ship, was discovered in a compartment that was accessible to most of the men who have been working on the ship.

The cable is part of what is known as the "degaussing" system for mine protection. A Navy spokesman said the damage would have quickly been discovered during preliminary tests if it had gone undetected at the shipyard.

There was no apparent damage to the ship's twin nuclear reactors or twin screws. The damage to the cable, which is some 1,400 feet long, was apparently caused by a hacksaw as the metal-coated cable was cut through.

Pilots Protest Age Limit Imposed By Federal Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When is an experienced airline pilot too old to fly a commercial airliner?

At 60, because of the danger of a disabling heart attack or stroke, says the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA).

The pilots disagree. They argue they should be judged solely by individual physical examinations.

A Senate aviation subcommittee will dig into this and other FAA matters in hearings scheduled to open Monday.

Focal point of the age 60 dispute is a new FAA rule which would block anyone over 59 from flying commercial airliners. The rule is scheduled to become effective March 15.

The Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA), which speaks for nearly all airline pilots, has protested that the rule would arbitrarily and unnecessarily ground skilled, fit fliers and deprive them of their livelihood. Some airline pilots earn up to $28.000 a year.

About 40 pilots would be affected by the rule initially. They could take up other flying jobs, such as for corporations or charter flights, but would have to stop piloting regularly scheduled airliners. By 1967 some 250 of the 17,000 airline pilots now in the business will have reached age 60.

QUESADA DEFENDS RULE

FAA head Elwood R. Quesada defends the age 60 rule on grounds that it is needed, to assure the safety of the flying public. The core of his argument is that the danger of heart attacks and strokes becomes significantly great as a man reaches 60. Moreover, "such attacks cannot be predicted on an individual basis by prior medical examinations," Quesada said.

The pilots have challenged the rule on a variety of grounds. They allege it is unfair because it does not take into account individual differences in physical fitness and ability. They point out that pilots undergo regular, rigorous physical examinations, including electro cardiograms to check their hearts. Therefore, they object to applying to them general population statistics on heart attacks which cover men in considerably poorer physical condition.

The pilots also assert that setting an arbitrary age limit which cuts off a man's livelihood when he is at the peak of his earning power, is foreign to American standards. Rather, each man should be judged on his individual merits.

COURT FIGHT PROMISED

To which, the FAA replies: "Sudden incapacitation due to heart attacks and strokes occurs despite the existence of outstanding medical care and examination programs." More simply, medical science has found that the best examinations in the world often fail to indicate a man is going to suffer an attack.

Therefore, the FAA argues in effect, play the percentages and keep out of airliner cockpits the men most likely to suffer stroke or heart attack — the older pilots.

But, the ALPA counters, this fails to come to grips with the problem of pilot incapacitation. It says Quesada has not proved that heart attacks have caused airline mishaps. Food poisoning has caused more pilots to conk out at the controls than natural causes, ALPA asserts. It adds that the patht o safer flying goes in other directions, such as stiffer qualifications for second and third men in the cockpit.

Incensed over what it feels is an unduly harsh restriction on pilots, ALPA has promised to fight Quesada in court.

While acknowledging that the federal government has ever before imposed a similar role, FAA aides are confident the Federal Aviation Act gives Quesada the authority to make the rule stick.

Religious Week Is Scheduled At Northeast

Religious Emphasis Week has been scheduled Feb. 15-17 at Northeast Louisiana State College.

A campuswide convocation is planned for one hour each of the three days at staggered times, Marcus Mapp said. Mapp is chairman of the Religious Activities Committee, a faculty group in charge of campus religious events.

Committees have been appointed and are outlining plans for RFW.

Emmett J. Foster is chairman of the Arrangements Committee, working with M.Sgt. L. L. Busby and the Baptist Student Union. The Program Committee is headed by Mrs. Gregor Goethals, working with Malcolm E. Fowler and the Canterbury Club.

Carleton C. Page is chairman of the Music Committee with Lt. Col. Howard P. Landry and the Newman Club as members. The Reception Committee is headed by Dean Fred J. Vogel, working with John B. Moore and the Westminster Fellowship.

Dr. William J. Christmas heads the publicity committee. Members are Dr. Wilford Smith and the Wesley Foundation.

AREA II MEETING

FFA Officers Named At NLSC

Future Farmers of America officers throughout this area yesterday took part in a leadership training conference at Northeast State College.

Sponsoring the event were the Northeast Division of Agriculture and Home Economics, headed by L. L. Price, and Delta Demeter, local chapter of the national honorary agriculture fraternity.

The federation elected the following officers: Don Bonner of Oak Grove, president; Guy Parker of Mer Rouge, vice president; Ross West of Jonesboro-Hodge, secretary; Carl Cockerham of Pioneer, treasurer; Jerry Greene of Oak Ridge sentinel; and John Douciere of Mangham, reporter. Jack L. Harper, of Ruston, will continue to serve as adviser to the 56 chapters in Area II, which comprises 15 parishes.

Eddie Knoll, of Simmesport and state president of FFA, pointed to advantages which chapter officers gain by exchanging ideas at the conference which can prove beneficial to parish and state associations.

Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast, told the future farmers that "hours and the way you use them are more important to you than money."

Walker said his listeners had both time and talents and urged the high school students to use them.

"We don't need much money at any one time," he declared." and we can be assured of enough money when we pursue the goal of excellence by using our time and talents in the right ways."

Walker said the future farmers' creed points to their dependence on their own efforts. "This," he added," is as it should be. How far you get in your pursuit will depend far more upon your personal convictions and efforts than upon all other factors put together."

Speaking of the pursuit of excellence, Walker said this goal opens the mind and the soul to new horizons. He added: "To set as our goal anything less is a denial of the trust, the obligation, the duty and the responsibility that comes to us at birth. It is with pride, with hope and with a sense of joy that I commend to you the pursuit of excellence."

Dr. John H. Mitchell, of the State Department of Education, emphasized the need of all officers assuming responsibility in developing their chapters. "Each of you leaders," he said," must consider the importance of every member in your unit."

As executive secretary of the FFA, Mitchell underlined the following essentials for an active chapter: interested members, a challenging program of work, adequate financing, responsibilities shared by all members, knowledge of the FFA history to hold the interest of members, and mutual cooperation of chapters and school and town officials.

A feature of the conference was the attendance of chapter "sweethearts" who inspected the home economics section and were entertained in the Home Management House.

Clarendon Peck, Jr., secretary of Area II federation, presided at the meeting, and Dr. Fred T. Vogel, dean of student services at Northeast, officially welcomed the group.

Macmillan On New Jaunt To Sell Policies

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan marks his third anniversary as premier on Monday by piling new mileage on to his existing way-out-ahead lead as world's current champion globetrotting statesman.

At 65, Macmillan is nearing the end of the first leg of a 17,000-mile month-long African tour which many Britons consider his toughest, most challenging assignment since he succeeded Sir Anthony Eden as prime minister on Jan. 10, 1957, two months after Britain's Suez debacle.

When he finishes this swing in mid-February, Macmillan will have logged about 113,090 miles in foreign travel as prime minister—more than double President Eisenhower's mileage as chief executive and far ahead of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's 50,000 miles or French President Charles de Gaulle's 20,000 miles.

LED PARTY TO VICTORY

In three years in Britain's driver's seat Macmillan has:

—Crossed the Atlantic four times to confer with Eisenhower, made a 32,000-mile goodwill tour to Australia, New Zealand, India, Ceylon and Pakistan, visited Bonn three times, Paris six times, traveled to Athens, Ankara and Cyprus and begun a 17,000-mile African swing.

—Flown to Moscow on a peace mission to confer with Khrushchev, which Britons believe set the ball rolling for the planned Paris East-West summit conference on May 16.

—Set a new political record in Britain by leading his Conservative Party to a third straight victory in parliamentary general elections, giving them the certainty of another five undisturbed years in office.

This three-year record of achievements has won popularity for Macmillan among his fellow-Britons unequalled since Sir Winston Churchill's period in office.

He has entered 1960 as the nation's undisputed political glamor boy of the year.

Although Britons hailed enthusiastically President Eisenhower's two peace missions this year, they generally credit Macmillan with setting the world on the road to the summit.

PLUGGED FOR SUMMIT

They recall it was Macmillan who plugged repeatedly for a summit all last year, despite initial discouragement by other Western leaders, and who originated the idea of a "continuous chain of summit meetings" which President Eisenhower, De Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer finally accepted.

The London Daily Express commented editorially this week "the summit, instead of being a dream, has become a firm date. Its enemies have been thrown into confusion. It is a result in which Mr. Macmillan may take pride."

Macmillan's current four-country African tour in what is regarded as the "year of destiny" for the former "dark" continent is aimed primarily to win new friends and influence for Britain. But the toughness of the assignment he has set himself was pointed up by the deep freeze treatment he received on his arrival in the new black state of Ghana last Tuesday.

Solon Talks About Situation On Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) said Saturday congress is going to have many problems of which one is "the "unfortunate farm situation."

The nation faces a paradox in that farmers are leaving the farm by the millions, yet farm surpluses are mounting in government-subsidized warehouses, he said. "Grain is rotting in the granary while hungry people here and overseas are crying for food."

Sparkman said he felt the U.S. program must be designed to give farmers assurance that if he produces a crop he will get a fair price for it, that consumers will get adequate food and fiber at reasonable prices and that the overall economy will be stabilized.

Sparkman said the farm problem was a result of "the belief that if farm prices are low farmers will produce less, belief by some that no acreage controls or price supports will solve the problem, inadequate surplus disposal methods, not enough emphasis on programs to help small... farms, inadequate attention to research...and failure to recognize the value of reasonable farm surpluses."

E. O. BROWDER

E. O. Browder, a longtime resident of West Monroe, died Saturday after a lingering illness. He was 77.

Funeral services are scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Sunday from the Bawcomville Church of Christ, with the Rev. Paul Evans officiating, assisted by the Revs. C. L. Smith and J. F. Robison.

Interment, under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home, will be in the Walnut Grove Cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the residence on Jonesboro Road until 2 p.m. Sunday, when a prayer service will be held before leaving for the church.

A native of Alabama, Mr. Browder moved to West Monroe as a child and remained here until death. He was a Mason, member of the Bawcomville Church of Christ, and was in the farming business until retirement.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. E. O. Browder, West Monroe; one son, D. F. Browder, one daughter, Mrs. L. A. Banks, both of West Monroe; four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Howard Brown, Allie Keller, Filhiol Keller, Virgie Cummings, C. L. Smith and J. F. Robison.

Duel To Death Fatal To Two In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten feet apart they stood—the police sergeant with his gun and the crazed Negro brandishing a butcher's knife.

About them in the basement of the Bowery mission for down-and-outers, cringed a hundred of New York's human derelicts. For nearly half an hour they had been terrorized by the unidentified young Negro. Then Sgt. Edward Johnson burst into the basement with two patrolmen.

For a moment the sergeant and his deranged adversary eyed each other.

Then the sergeant drew his gun and commanded: "Drop it. Drop it or I'll shoot."

"Come and get me," was the retort.

Warily the two advanced on each other. At four feet they paused.

"I'm coming for you," snarled the officer's antagonist.

Sgt. Johnson made a quick decision—to withhold his gunfire and try to wrest the knife from his quarry.

The man sprang and there was a flash of steel. The officer grabbed for the arm, missed and the knife plunged hilt deep into his chest beside his heart.

Sagging, Sgt. Johnson, fired carefully six times into the body of his adversary. One of the other officers fired three more shots.

The sergeant dropped to the floor, lifeless.

Almost at the same moment his foe fell alongside. He too was dead.

It was 10 minutes to midnight Friday night. At 1, the 35-year-old sergeant would have been off duty and free to go home to his wife and young son.

FULBRIGHT ACT

Lincoln Educator Slated For Tour

By WILEY HILBURN
Staff Correspondent

RUSTON — Morelle Emmons, superintendent of Lincoln parish schools, has been selected to make a 60-day tour of Norway and Italy under provisions of the Fulbright Act, according to Dr. L. F. Green, president of the parish School Board.

Emmons, Lincoln parish superintendent since 1946, is one of 20 persons from the United States to make the tour and is the only person from Louisiana making the trip.

"The basic purpose of the program is to increase good will and understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries through the exchange of students, teachers, university lecturers and research scholars, Emmons said.

Awards made under the Fulbright Act are part of the educational exchange service of the Department of State, Emmons revealed. The objectives of the program are to promote better understanding between people of the United States and the people of other countries.

The superintendent will leave here January 31 to make the trip, first to Oslo Norway, then later to Rome, Italy.

Three trips outside Oslo have been arranged, one to Trondheim for two days, a boat trip along the coast to Bergen for one day and back to Oslo; a train trip to Kristiansand in southern part of Norway, and a third one to Elverun and Solar in Norway.

Some of the lectures scheduled include "The Norwegian Society of yesterday and today;" "The Philosophy of Norwegian Education"; "The Structure of the Norwegian School System;" "Modern Trends in Elementary Education"; "Modern Trends in Secondary Education"; "The Comprehensive School Experiment"; "The Role of the Folk High School in Norwegian School System"; "Teachers' Training".

"Vocational Training in Norway"; "Apprenticeship Training in Norway"; "Higher Education in Norway"; "Adult Education in Norway"; as well as lectures on the teaching of modern languages, science and mathematics in the elementary and secondary schools.

In Italy, Emmons will spend ten days in Rome at sessions consisting of lectures, panel discussions and tours designed to acquaint him in some breadth with the structure of the Italian education system. He will then make a three-day group tour of one of the newer districts of Italy. Salerno is the district tentatively chosen.

The participants, including Emmons will be assigned to various individual cities and towns throughout Italy for the opportunity of exploring to a better degree some given school or city school system.

MORELLE EMMONS

Following a recapitulation and summary in Rome at the end of March, Emmons will return to his school board post here.

The superintendent is a graduate of Dodson High school; received his bachelor's degree from Louisiana Tech and his Master's degree from Louisiana State. He has a degree from the Superintendent's Seminar at Columbia University.

Emmons spent four years teaching in the elementary schools of Winn and Jackson Parishes; spent two years at Jonesboro High school; four years as principal of Hodge elementary school; ten years as principal of Simsboro high and one year as supervising principal of Ruston elementary schools, prior to becoming Superintendent in 1948.

In service to his profession, Emmons holds membership in the Louisiana Teachers Association, National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators. He has served as president of Louisiana School Superintendents Association; chairman of the appraisal committee of LTA; chairman of the auditing committee of LTA; is listed in Who's Who in American Education and Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

A member of the First Baptist Church, Emmons has served as chairman of the board of Deacons, State President of the Baptist Brotherhood, and teaches a men's Bible class at the church.

He is a past president of the Kiwanis club and a past president of the Ruston Chamber of Commerce.

OIL ROUNDUP

Company Extends Mississippi Field

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Sun Oil Company extended the McComb oil field one half mile south after logging 17 feet of oil sand in McCarthy No. 1.

The well, located in sec. 15-3n-7e, is reported to have checked the same on structure as the discovery well three-fourths mile north.

The McComb field is the most active area in the state with 14 drilling operations underway and 15 locations staked.

Union Producing Co. completed Prisk No. 1, sec. 11-1n-12e, extending the Dexter Field of Walthall County 1½ miles southwest. The well flowed 154 barrels per day from san at 9649-78 feet. Gravity of the crude was 36 degrees.

In Adams County, Keary and Griffin completed a wildcat, the USA No. 1, sec. 29-5n-1w. The well flowed 64 barrels per day from perforations at 4299-4301 feet.

Kennington Thurber and Miller are testing a Clarke County wildcat, the Brewer No. 1, sec. 28-6n-17e. The well, a potential field find, is reported flowing at the rate of 45 barrels per day from sand at 3430-72 feet.

In Marion County, Stekall Petroleum Co. is preparing to test its wildcat, the Gex et al No. 1, sec. 15-2n-17w. The well was drilled to 12,445 feet and has production casing set at 11,850 feet.

Jett Drilling Co. is rigging up at its Forrest County wildcat, the Carter No. 1, sec. 6-3n-12w, a 12,800 foot test.

Sun Oil Co. is drilling below 3100 feet in its Walthall County wildcat, the McDonald No. 1, sec. 26-3n-11e, a 14,100 foot try.

In Hancock County, Marshall R. Young is drilling below 9780 feet on the Jordan acres No. 1, sec. 34-7s-15w, located in the recently discovered Kiln oil field.

Field drilling during the past week saw five new oilers and two gas condensate wells completed.

Sun Oil Co. completed its Smith-Gillis unit No. 1, sec. 10-3n-7e, in the McComb oil field. It is flowing 327 barrels per day from a sand at 10,925-35 feet.

Two new oilers were completed in the Bolton field in Hinds County. Weston Drilling Co. finaled its Mashburn No. 1-A, sec. 19-6n-2w, flowing 249 barrels per day from a sand at 11,697-706 feet. W. H. Knight completed his Gaddis Farms No. 1, sec. 23-6n-3w, with the well flowing 116 barrels per day from a sand at 10,731-50 feet.

In Jefferson County, J. Willis Hughes completed Hall No. 5, sec. 20-8n-1w, flowing 60 barrels daily from a sand at 4158-64 feet.

In the Langsdale Field of Clarke County, Gholson and Howie completed Longbell No. G-2, sec. 25-1n-17e, pumping 30 barrels per day from a sand at 3809 feet.

In the Pistol Ridge gas condensate field on the Pearl River County side, D. C. Latimer completed his Southern Minerals No. 2, sec. 12-1s-14w, flowing 1,800,000 cubic feet of gas and 20 barrels of condensate per day from a sand at 8196 feet.

In Forrest County, Texaco, inc., completed its Newton Naval Stores No. 1, sec. 1-1s-13w, flowing 2,698,000 cubic feet of gas and 30 barrels of condensate per day from a sand at 4676-82 feet.

SLIP IN SPELLING

ATLANTA AP) — As with many public institutions, mail for Emory University often comes with various misspellings.

But the school, sometimes called "The Ivy League College of the South," continues to receive certain mail which is particularly unfitting for a reputation for education.

Letters come to Emory spelling it "Emery." And they come from alumni.

Fisherman, Hunter May Follow Indian

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Fisherman and the hunter may well be following the Indian — onto reservations.

There are now 1,300 shooting preserves in the United States and on about 40 per cent of them you can, for a fee, shoot pen-raised pheasant, quail, partridge and mallards. Others may give a chance at bigger game.

Pond fishing for bass and bluegill, again for a fee, is rapidly becoming more attractive to fishermen than the long and costly trek into the hills in search of the wary brook trout.

It is small wonder. There are now nearly 180 million people in the United States and 35 million of them own hunting or fishing licenses.

EXPECTED

By 1957 the population is expected to reach 215 to 230 million and, if the present trend continues, there will be 40 to 45 million hunters and fishermen.

Hunting and fishing as millions of Americans now know it is undergoing a drastic change, brought about by people, progress and pollution.

Daniel H. Janzen, director of the Interior Department's Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, said in an interview:

"Population is encroaching on environment. Man is moving in, in all sorts of ways. As he grows in numbers he needs more space. He is changing the whole face of the sea coasts, for example, to make way for housing developments. Every time he drains a swamp or marsh he is destroying the feeding or breeding grounds of ducks and some small animals."

Along the great Mississippi flyway, natural drought and the draining of swamps has complicated life for migratory birds and other small game such as beaver, otter and muskrats.

What is the future for the fisherman and the hunter? "Everybody," said Janzen, "is going to have to be satisfied with less."

Right now the bureau is worried about the dwindling numbers of canvasbacks, redheads and ruddys, ducks whose migrations once filled the skies in the spring and fall.

While deer and wild turkeys have exhibited a remarkable ability to cope with encroaching civilization, other game is retreating. Streams which were once were a fisherman's dream are now polluted beyond belief with wastes, chemicals and mud.

All over the nation the rains which once were soaked up by forestlands now run off cut-over fields, filling streams with mud and sometimes carrying chemicals poisonous to aquatic life.

Not the least of the bureau's problems these days is the widespread use of powerful insecticides and herbicides. Sometimes minute quantities of these chemicals are fatal to small mammals and birds.

In his annual report to Congress, Janzen noted that in 1934 the nation had 120 million acres of marsh and wetlands suitable for ducks. Today there are only 30 million acres.

The bureau estimated that 7½ million protected acres are needed to preserve the duck population. It now owns about 3,270,000 acres, about half what it needs.

The efforts by the federal government and the states to preserve or restore wildlife normally have had the consistent support of nearly two million dedicated conservationists, such as members of the Izaak Walton League and the Wilderness Society.

FOUGHT

They have fought vigorously to save millions of acres of public lands for recreational purposes and as wildlife refuges.

In the past 12 years the bureau has distributed literally thousands of game animals to the states in an effort to re-populate hunting grounds. Millions of fish have been bred to restock streams. Last year the bureau's 92 hatcheries put 1,815,774 pounds of fish and fish eggs into streams, ponds and lakes.

In addition, 28 million dollars was distributed among the states and territories to help in local programs of fish and wildlife restoration. The states add one dollar to every three dollars of federal aid.

Still the supply cannot keep up with the demand.

In a report on the Allegheny National Forest, Pa., restocking program, the bureau noted:

"Over the forest as a whole, it is estimated that more than half the catchable trout stocked were recovered by anglers the same day they were released."

Every year there are simply are more fishermen and hunters and more damage by civilization to game and fish areas.

So what is the future of hunting and fishing?

"The quality of fishing is going to change," said Janzen. "There will be more pond and lake fishing."

The game bird hunters will have to range farther and farther to find unposted fields.

Except for deer, the hunter in search of big game will have to go deeper and deeper into the hills.

While the nation's 270 wild life refugees will be open for seasonal hunting, there will be less game for more hunters.

For millions of Americans the club-owned private game preserve or the commercially operated preserves may be the only solution if they want to hunt.

Used To Produce Moods

Music Through Centuries

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The use of music to produce moods and reactions by an audience is not new, of course. It has been used for centuries in churches, theaters and — more recently — as background music in motion pictures. Now music is being used increasingly as persuasive backgrounds to selling.

A jingle with a catchytune is still widely utilized as a selling device, and there are rhyming music men who turn them out on a production line basis. But there is also a definite trend now toward the use of orchestrated mood-setting music to make the accompanying sell more effective.

Among the musicians now in this commercial field are Curtis Biever, a composer-conductor with a classical European background of music, and Lou Stein, a composer-pianist who leans more toward the popular side. Recently they formed a team.

"Mostly we try to create melodies which fit the product," Biever explains. "Sometimes we try to create a tune which the listener will immediately identify with the product. Other times we try to set a mood in the listeners."

For example, one automobile company uses several types of music to sell one car—presumably by appealing to men with one type and women with another.

"When we're selling the power and smooth operation of the motor, the music is full of rhythm and excitement—man's music," Biever says. "And although there may be an implication of speed, that is one selling point no auto company will ever mention.

"But when we are selling the upholstery or interior details, which would be of interest to women buyers, we go into another type of music—smooth, elegant—pianos and wind instruments."

Biever and Stein have their own terminology for music to sell by. Here are some:

Cosmetic music — warm, sexy, using such instruments as harp, celesta (a light, tinkly piano sound), strings, alto or tenor saxophone.

Baby music — soft and silky, flutes and other woodwinds, piano.

Shampoo music — light, gay—perhaps bells.

Biever favors the use of French horns for men's toiletries. He says they make a masculine sound evoking thoughts of outdoor life. But he recalls that a manufacturer of canned tomate sauce also had good results with them.

"Many times you can take a tune which identifies with a product and use it in many different ways," Stein says. "All you do is change the intensity of the approach and the instruments."

One further mood-item: If you want to indicate the ultimate in elegance, use two pianos. If you want a cheap, honky-tonk effect, try the pianola.

Experts Survey

Food Fad Facts

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — American homemakers in the 19th Century claimed they cured earaches by wrapping the feet of the sufferer in roasted onion skin. The heart of the onion went into the victim's ear.

The technique was a popular food fad with a medical twist, according to the American Dietetic Association (ADA), which reports that food fads still are part of the American way of life.

Here are the facts about recent food fads to come to the attention of experts designated by the ADA to keep eyes peeled for such things:

Fad: meal-skipped is a fine way to lose weight.

Fact: It's a poor way. Skipping often leads to almost-starvation, corrected by eating much more—and often too much — at the next meal.

Fad: Canned vegetables are less nutritive than fresh ones.

Fact: You're all wrong. Nutritive value is more directly linked to the method by which vegetables are prepared.

Fad: Never mix milk and oysters, milk and fish, ice cream and oysters — even when the month has an "R."

Fact: These things do mix without sending the stomach into orbit.

Fad: Beer plus oysters is a poisonous two-some.

Fact: They are not.

Fad: Anemia and rheumatism are helped by blackstrap molasses.

Fact: The food mentioned is used the world over as food for livestock and is likely to remain in that category among informed persons. Said another way —there is NO justification for giving black-strap molasses recognition as a remedy for anemia and rheumatism.

Fad: Overweight is inherited.

Fact: Overeating causes most excess baggage on the body. That is, more calories are stashed than are used. The excess is stored as fat.

Fad: If one vitamin pill a day is good, then two or three a day should be even better.

Fact: The doctor knows best about the quantity of vitamins to take. Excess amounts of certain vitamins may even be harmful—especially in childhood.

Fad: White eggs usually cost more than brown ones. Therefore, they are better.

Fact: The nutritive value of both rates the same. Shell color simply relates to the breed of the hen that produced the egg.

Fad: Craving certain foods is a sure sign your body needs them.

Fact: Cravings simply reflect the association you have built up for the certain foods. You like them — perhaps too much.

Age Of Robot Near

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You'd be surprised how close we are to the age of the robot.

Synthetic men who can feel heat and cold, sense shock in a way that is equivalent to pain, even bleed and breathe are in use every day as stand-ins for humans in dangerous experiments.

They can be made to talk and walk like men whenever the need arises.

If you'd like one for a companion or servant, they can be bought for $1,500 up, depending on instrumentation.

The $1,500 model can't do much. He's the rugged, stupid type that gets thrown out of airplanes to test parachutes.

A $5,000 model gets free rides on rocket sleds and centrifuges, pre-testing the G forces and velocities man will meet in space travel.

What would a walkie-talkie model cost?

"That's hard to say. We haven't made one yet," says Harry Daulton, president of Sierra Engineering Co. in suburban Sierra Madre, the country's largest manufacturer of these not-so-dumb dummies.

"But I know we could make one," he adds. "Two producers have asked us about them for science-fiction movies and our engineers said it could be done."

Daulton's No. 1 seller is Sierra Sam, a 6-foot, 200-pounder made of vinyl-dipped foam latex, with bones and joints of steel and aluminum.

Midwife and physician to Sam is John Meyers, a black-browed ex-truck driver who gets a kick out of his unusual role.

"Look at this guy take it," says Meyers, slamming his fist into Sam's midriff.

Model 166, suspended from a crane by a hook in his head, absorbed the punch with a gentle swaying motion.

"Feel his flesh," invites Meyers. You feel Sam's tan skin and find it soft to the touch, but slick and easy to clean.

Meyers is entitled to these familiarities. He has made more than 200 Sams, and repaired most of them.

Meyers simply whips up a batch of foam latex, pours it from mixer into mold and cures it in an electric oven. After dipping in vinyl, the new torso, head or limb is bolted into place and Sam is as good as new.

"He's a nice guy to work with," says Meyers. "Never talks back.

"People ask me if I'm ever going to build a woman. The answer is no — I'm not looking for trouble."

Biggest City Due For Smog Record

By CHARLES R. SMITH
United Press International

TOKYO (UPI) — The world's biggest city soon may become the smoggiest.

Mushrooming Tokyo, which recently pushed past New York and London in the race to become the most populous city in the world, is moving into a challenging position for the unwanted smog title.

It's not just a city situation, though. It's nationwide. It's part of the price Japan is paying for being Asia's industrial leader.

The pollution of the air by soot, smoke and dirt is not a new problem. But the Japanese are only beginning to wake up to the fact that something must be done about it.

A first step was made last month with the formation of a National Air Pollution Study Council.

This council, which has the blessings of, but little help from officialdom, expects to come up with recommendations for combatting the serious smog problem.

Dr. Kiyoshi Saito of the Tokyo Public Health Institute, who was named council chairman, said "smog and contamination of the air is rapidly spreading and increasing to alarming proportion

An official of the welfare ministry, Hajime Miyata, said some officials here have noted the serious smog problems in other cities, particularly in London and Los Angeles.

"We have taken notice of the problem in foreign cities and in our own cities," he said "and we have told our various agencies of the situation that is developing at home.

"But so far there has been no action taken to try to remedy the situation. We must act positively soon."

The Imperial Household Agency recognized the problem and started trying to do something about it before other organizations, according to Kenzo Iwai, an agency official.

He said a survey showed, however, that the amount of dirt and soot that falls in the palace grounds is only about 13 tons per square kilometer per month, compared with about 25 tons in the downtown business district and about 23.5 tons in the larger, central Tokyo ward.

"We have no concrete plan yet for combatting the smog and industrial fallout problem," he said. "But we are going to have to come up with one soon."

Soviet Military

Soviets No Qualms

By BEM PRICE
The Associated Press

Ever since the cold war began in 1947, many Americans have assumed that the thermonuclear war is simply too horrible for anyone to contemplate.

The Soviets have no such qualms.

Soviet military doctrine apparently accepts as a foregone conclusion (1) there will be another major war and (2) it will embrace the use of thermonuclear weapons, bacteria, brain and nerve gases.

One of the great debates in the current Congress unquestionably will center around defense, whether we are spending too much or too little, whether our doctrine of "massive retaliation" is sound.

These issues cannot be debated without some reference to what the potential enemy is thinking.

Inside the Pentagon is a small group of linguists and scholars whose job is to translate and analyze masses of Soviet military books and articles. Since their activities fall under the general heading of "intelligence service," they have asked to remain anonymous in this article.

The quetion, "what is basic Soviet military doctrine?" was put to one of this group. After consulting with his colleagues, he simply handed over without comment summary translations of certain Soviet military publications.

One thing is clear at a first reading: The Soviet military does not accept the American concept of thermonuclear deterrence.

U.S. defenses are currently predicated upon the belief that if the United States and the Soviet Union have the ability to destroy each other, neither will consider a course which amounts to suicide.

Further, the Soviet Union does not accept the theory, advanced chiefly by the Air Force, that a thermonuclear war will be over in a matter of days.

Nothing has been found so far to indicate the Soviet military contemplates a retreat from Lenin's doctrine of "permanent revolution" and ultimate world conquest.

The analysts, however, are watching current Soviet military publications closely to see if the visit to the United States by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will soften the "when" approach to World War III to an "if."

Among the documents by Soviet military men was one by a Col. Baz, which appeared in the military Herald in 1958.

Col. Baz writes: "The third World War will involve the whole territory of the earth, on land, in the air, on water and beneath it."

The colonel also made these points:

"Future war will be conducted not only by armed forces, but by all the population.

"The application of nuclear weapons and intercontinental ballistic missiles does not insure the speedy defeat of the enemy, but will lead to a prolonging of the war.

"The role of the individual soldier will not diminish, but will become more important.

"Victory depends upon the morale of the people. The one who has more reserves, more sources of power and more endurance and tenacity among its people will win."

This is a standard and succinct summary of the Soviet view of World War III. Almost nothing, it must be noted, is printed in Soviet military circles unless it accords with official doctrine, though minor deviations in opinion are permitted on battlefield tactics.

Another of the documents was a summary of the book, "Problems of Development in Military Art," by two Polish generals, Jan Drezewiecki and Tadeusz Pioro.

This book was placed on the recommended reading list by Lt. Gen. Krasil Nikov, editor of the Soviet Ministry of Defense Press, when it appeared in 1958.

Essentially, the book is a guide to the direction the Soviet forces are moving in terms of equipment, tactics and doctrine.

If the Soviets have stated a need for advanced equipment, presumably they are working to produce it.

While maintaining that the individual, highly trained soldier will be more important in future wars, the authors assert:

"In the armed forces, as in industry, men may be replaced to a large extent by machines and mechanisms. Decrease in the number of people used directly in combat will permit formation of reserves to be used in industry and fill gaps made by enemy nuclear strikes."

This is directly opposite to U.S. Army doctrine which holds that as battlefields expand in depth and width, more men will be needed to cover the front.

In nearly all Soviet military writing there appears to be a central theme: a nation can survive a thermonuclear attack and fight on to victory.

At no point have the Soviets ever conceded that thermonuclear attack would result in total destruction.

The Soviet military doctrine holds that after both sides deliver their attack and counterattack, the decisive force will be massive land armies.

While combat between the land forces will involve tactical nuclear weapons, neither side will be able to employ thermonuclear weapons on the battlefield for fear of destroying their own troops.

New Parlor Game Gains Wide Appeal

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new parlor game — whose enthusiasts range from Winston Churchill to the college crowd—is child's play.

Inspiration for the game struck Jerry D'Arcey, of San Jose, Calif., the day he noticed regular blocks bored his children.

He went to his workshop and made blocks with angles — triangles, rectangles, right angles and odd angles. He splashed the blocks with bright colors.

The entertainment comes from trying to balance the blocks, one on top of the other, until a zig-zag tower rises — without toppling. Each player gets three chances. If the tower topples on third try, the participant is a — Blockhead, the name given the game.

Ben Spero, vice president of the firm that makes the game, said Winston Churchill's daughter - in-law recently cabled a request for the game, asking that it be sent in time for Christmas.

The set, he said, was for Sir Winston. Reportedly, the distinguished statesman tumbled for Blockhead when they played the game for the first time at a party on the French Riviera.

But the game has more than entertaining value. Spero said a group of Lutheran missionaries discovered Blockhead helped them to communicate with natives. They're now sending it around the world.

In some Veteran's Administration hospitals, the game is used as therapy.

"A Pittsburgh restaurant," Spero said, "encourages its patrons to play Blockhead while waiting for tables."

D'Arcey sold his rights to the game to a Pittsburgh industrialist. More than a million sets have been sold.

The inventor is working these days on a new toy—a combination of a bicycle and a pogo stick.

Mike Landon Established In TV Field

By RON BURTON
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mike Landon is now a solidly established wage earner as a co-star of the "Bonanza" NBC-TV series, but he thinks he may wind up with a bigger bonanza from his dog house adventures.

"I'm making a good living from television, but some day I may go into the dog house business," the youthful performer said. "It all began when my wife, Dodie, and I agreed that our 80-pound German shepherd would have to rough it outside. He was just too big—his tail knocked over everything in the house."

Landon, who has a home workshop with power tools in his garage, went to work on a king sized dog house. Its final dimensions were nine by five feet. It was eight feet high and was placed outside the garage after a garage centerpost first was removed.

"I built it big enough for a big dog," he said. "I also figured I might as well leave enough room for both me and the dog. You never can tell when you'll wind up there, you know."

The actor, a native of Forest Hills, N.Y., said he started on the project when he priced dog houses. A big one runs about $300, he said, and tiny ones start at $35. He was so shocked that he immediately retreated to his garage, vowing to build a bigger, better dog house.

"It was redwood with a weather vane on top," he said. "I finished it, and out went the hound. I don't finish many things I start—this was an exception. Usually if I can do something in one day, it'll get finished. Five months ago I took down our hall light fixture to clean it. I lost a bolt. Result: No light in the hall these five months."

Landon, 23, said his dog house attracted the attention of his actor-friend, Nick Adams. Adams asked him to make him a dog house. And then a neighbor down the street put in a request for one.

Four Ways To Tell Time In Jeddah

By WILTON WYNN

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia (AP)—Ask the time in Jeddah and you get any of four different answers.

Most of the people still use the old Arab time system, dating back to the days of the "Arabian Nights." Sunset is 12 o'clock. Watches and clocks have to be set each day to jibe with the sun.

Most Europeans living here have tried to coordinate with Arab time by adopting "European sun time," with sunset being 6 p.m.

The Ministry of Defense looks after Jeddah airport and any kind of "sun time" will be out of line with other times abroad, making it impossible to coordinate international plane flights. For that reason, the ministry is on "GMT (Greenwich mean time) plus four."

And just to complicate things further, some banks and commercial houses stay on "Cairo time," which is roughly an hour and a half off European Sun Time.

In Saudi Arabia, make sure your wife is a good driver. Otherwise, you might wind up in jail.

When an automobile accident occurs, police throw everybody involved into jail. They are kept there until the investigation is completed.

If a woman is involved, her husband is thrown in jail.

In the old days in Saudi Arabia, a man's status was determined by the number of camels he owned. But with the coming of oil wealth, there is a new status symbol—the number of dresses a man's wife owns.

The women are kept secluded, and so the dresses are never shown publicly. But the wives compare notes in the harems.

Slaves no longer are bought and sold in Saudi Arabia, but they are excellent gifts.

King Saud has abolished the slave trade, but the institution of slavery still exists.

New slaves are being brought into the country mainly as gifts. When tribes raid one another on the southern frontiers, Saudi Bedouins sometimes capture men of the enemy. They claim the right to keep these as slaves and frequently bring them to Saudi cities to offer as gifts to prominent people.

A porter jogged down Jeddah's busiest street with a full burlap bag on his back. The bag was full o' money, bank notes worth thousands of dollars. Yet the porter was taking the bag from one bank to another, unarmed and unguarded.

Saudi say no guard is necessary because of the harshness of their laws. A man who steals will have his hand chopped off.

The Saudi crime rate is one of the lowest in the world.

Starlet Sheds Pounds In Ring

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Take it from starlet Stella Stevens, ladies: a fine way to keep a trim figure is to train like a prize fighter.

Stella works out daily in the studio gym skipping rope, socking the punching bag and shadow boxing.

Without a doubt, she's the prettiest pug on the lot.

Blonde Stella never actually pulls on the gloves with anyone. But she trains as hard as a professional boxer.

Every morning she exercises in a black leotard that would create quite a stir among the cauliflower - ear set. But at that hour the studio gymnasium is usually deserted as Stella limbers up on a bicycle machine and then goes into this routine:

Skips rope 10 minutes (fine for toning the legs, especially the calves).

Using heavy leather boxing gloves, hits the large bag for 12 minutes (fine for shoulders and posture and smooth muscle tone so necessary when a girl wears a backless formal).

With light gloves, hit the small speed bag for eight minutes (makes the arms supple, lifts up the rib cage and firms the bust line).

On a wooden incline board, 20 situps (keeps the tummy flat).

Then several minutes of shadow boxing before a mirror (excellent for grace and balance).

A brief teen-age marriage to an amateur boxer in her home town of Memphis got Stella interested in prize fighting. She is a regular fan at local weekly club fights.

Stella, 21, is blonde and often compared in looks to Kim Novak or Marilyn Monroe. So much so, that Stella donned a red wig for her role as the seductive Appassionata von Climax in the film,

Farm House Ghost Probe

GUTTENBERG, Iowa (AP) — "Operation Ghost" was conducted at the William Meyers farm house near Guttenberg Friday night but failed to turn up any explanation for the strange goings-on that forced the family to move out.

Two university professors and 10 students stayed in the house all night—armed with Geiger counters, oscilloscopes, an ionization chamber, and an electrometer.

Prof. Jack Lorenz of Upper Iowa University, in charge of the group, said the investigation indicated everything was normal.

About 15 newsmen also were in the house during the night. Some of them took turns lying on the bed from which a 265-pound Guttenberg man reported he had been thrown mysteriously Wednesday night. Nothing happened while the newsmen were on the bed.

Fine Citizen Passes

Monroe and mankind have suffered a great loss in the death of Herman Masur.

For 70 years he was a resident of Monroe, for nearly half a century an exemplary husband and father and for 60 years a progressive adult citizen of Monroe and Ouachita parish.

Mr. Masur was prominent in financial circles, active and helpful to a thousand and one needs of individuals and institutions and noble in the simplicity of a daily life that spelled out his greatness through modesty.

Endowed with a keen mind, a quick and responsive sense of humor and a natural desire and knack for making friends, Herman Masur was one of our best known and most beloved citizens.

Mr. Masur loved Monroe. He was deeply interested in its growth and he worked for the expansion of business and industry in this area.

His interest in his fellow man knew no boundaries of color or creed. Truly he was a person who was extremely easy to know and whom it will be impossible to forget.

Always highly successful in financial matters, Mr. Masur maintained his humility and humanitarianism to a degree attained only by few in this world.

He was a member of the board of directors of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, having been active in its affairs for more than 20 years; was chairman of the board of the Monroe Building and Loan Association, and was one of the co-founders of The Palace, one of Monroe's leading department stores for many years.

Mr. Masur was a charter member of the Monroe Kiwanis Club and of the Ki-Ro-Li Boy Scout council. He was one of the principal promoters of Camp Ki-Ro-Li, which has been a mecca for Boy Scouts of the Ouachita Valley council for many years.

Mellowed by years and his own human kindness, Mr. Masur spent the last years of his life doing good for others and by continuing to radiate his spirit of good fellowship. He was completely devoid of any kind of false pride and numbered his personal friends by the thousands. He really believed in the equality of mankind and none of reach of his friendliness. On was so high or so low as to be out the streets or wherever he might be, he always had a friendly word for everyone of those who spoke to him.

His humanity, his humility and simplicity, his friendliness and understanding, his devotion to the welfare of others and his unfailing good humor and sense of humor made him stand out warmly and cordially, although inconspicuously, as a man well worth knowing and having as a friend.

Monroe and mankind have lost a worthy, honorable and beloved friend.

Total Disarmament

When the ordinary citizen hears talk of total disarmament he thinks nothing of it, chiefly for the reason that he does not expect such a situation to develop. Probably not one person in a thousand has ever given the subject more than a passing thought.

Yet, on the possibility that the heads of our country might consider such a step, we should study the many dangerous aspects that would be involved. Total disarmament for this country could be catastrophic and could result in our annihilation.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's recent proposal for total disarmament is a booby trap made to look like an olive branch. If accepted, it could lead to complete Communist domination of the free world. This warning is given by Francis Vivian Drake, noted military writer.

Atomic disarmament, heart of the Russian proposal, was suggested by the United States as early as 1946, when this country had a monopoly of atomic knowledge. This was another American grand gesture in which we offered to throw down our one advantage in order to give Russia a chance for a "fair fight." We seem to have forgotten then and often at other times that 'All's fair in love and war." Despite our magnanimity, that is a situation we have had to face every time we have gone to war and which we will face if we go to war again.

Communist rejection of the United States proposal then forced us to build atomic defenses to the point where we now depend on them almost completely to deter Red aggression.

If such defenses were scrapped, we would be facing 900 million Communist - controlled Russians and Chinese with nothing much more effective than pistols. Even without atomic weapons of their own, the Reds could march unchallenged across Europe and Asia and then the United States would stand alone against even greater and possible odds.

Nor would the Communists be our only worry if the major nations of the world agreed to destroy their atomic weapons. We could never be certain that some smaller nation was not secretly making atomic bombs which could easily fall into the hands of the Communists or could be used by the smaller nations themselves. Neither could we be sure that Russia was not making and testing atomic bombs. Our own tests in the salt mines of Louisiana have indicated that atomic tests might be made without detection. The resulting earth tremors could easily be caused by earthquakes.

Mr. Drake, who was a U. S. air force consultant during and after World War II and who earned the "exceptional civilian service" award in 1955, says:

"To try to inspect the entire planet would require not tens of thousands but hundreds of thousands of U. N. inspectors. The cost would be great — and so would the risk that bribery, ambition or fanatical nationalism might tempt some of the inspectors to look the other way."

Mr. Drake argues further that total disarmament would constitute legal and moral violation of United States mutual assistance treaties with 41 foreign countries. "These pacts are the most binding our country has ever undertaken," he says. "Should we throw away the arms necessary to make good on our guarantees?" he asks.

Down through history man has sought and found various kinds of "equalizers" necessary to offset brute force. In this way, he has gained supremacy over the animal kingdom and has often been able to stop the monstrous advances of human brutes and would-be conquerors.

Right now it seems that nothing could be more foolish than to scrap our atomic arsenals or to consider total disarmament.

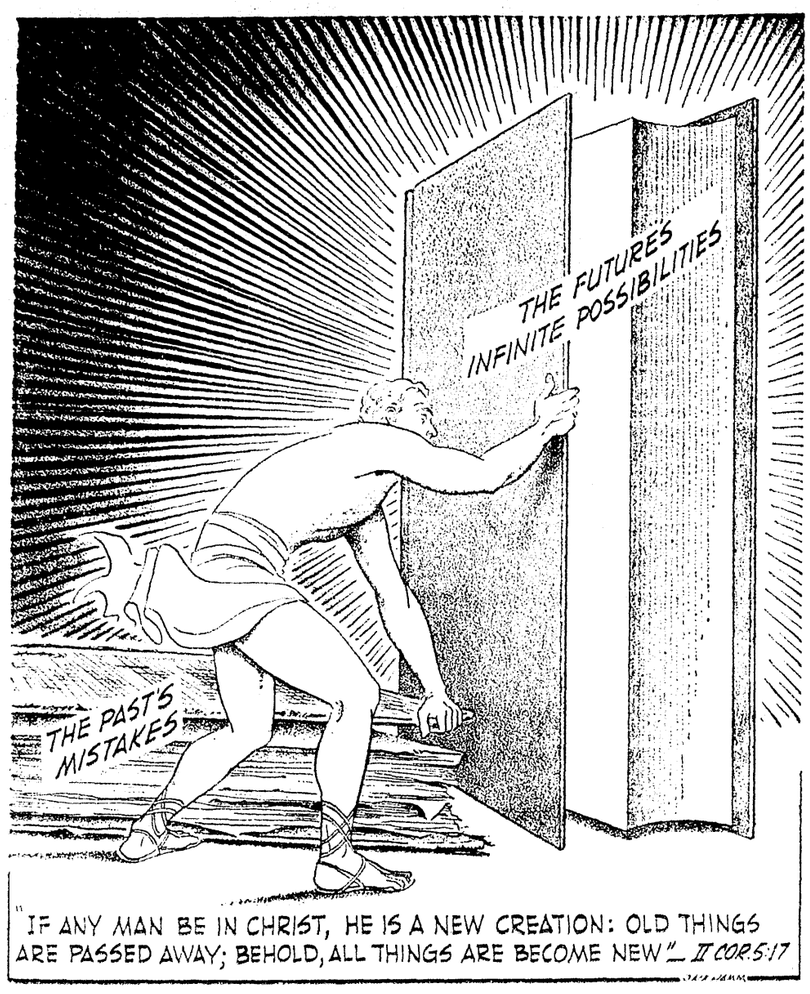
Cigarettes account for more than 80 per cent of all retail tobacco sales in the United States.

Italy's post office handled a little more than 2½ billion pieces in 1958.

The now divided city of Berlin was formed in 1432 by the merger of two settlements across from each other on the Spree River. They had been founded in 1237.

There are now 1,407 life insurance companies in the United States, an increase of 81 in the past 12 months.

Closing The Old—Opening The New



"IF ANY MAN BE IN CHRIST, HE IS A NEW CREATION: OLD THINGS ARE PASSED AWAY; BEHOLD, ALL THINGS ARE BECOME NEW" — II COR. 5:17

Many Blackmail Sheets

Contain Defamations Of Character, Attacks On Individuals

It all started because of a belief that there is an inside story, something that is known only to an esoteric few. So newsletters and small newspapers, typewritten, mimeographed and printed began to appear. They arrive from all parts of the country. Some deal with "inside" stories, something that nobody else knows, something that gives anyone an advance notice of events to come. Most of the material can be found in newspapers and magazines.

Some of the small papers deal with stock market information and while they usually avoid giving tips, their greatest value to the reader is that they point the way to an investment. In a bullish market, such information does little harm, except that as the small boys say, everything that goes up must come down. Most times the advice is given by such as do not invest because they have nothing to invest, but then they explain that it is not necessary to be a horse to understand a horse, which is logic of a kind.

Then, of course, there are the hate sheets that fill the mail; hate Jews, hate Roman Catholics, hate Negroes: just hate because there is money in hating. These scurrilous sheets must be very profitable because there are so many of them, all badly written, vicely printed, historically incorrect. Nevertheless, they come week after week and someone pays the postage.

Then there are the blackmail sheets. These unlovely documents are sometimes well-printed, on good paper and even cleverly written but always they praise someone so obviously that after an issue or two it is as clear as though put on a masthead, who pays the bill. And always there is a defamation of character, an attack on an individual or on a business, a threat of more to come and an obvious indication that the subject to be discussed might find a way to have the whole thing dropped.

There used to be a fellow in Shanghai, many years ago, who went by the title of journalist, who walking along the Bund or up Bubbling Well Road would encounter a subject, stop him, tell him a story and swiftly turn on his heel and depart before the subject caught his breath. If the subject did nothing about it, a subsequent issue of a small paper, labelled the "Go-Down," would contain the story with the following introduction: "It has been said, but it has not been denied."

The current breed does not give that much notice. It explodes a tale to ruin a reputation, to break a business or to engage in a war of nerves. Sometimes, the so-called peep-hole columnists, lacking an item or two, will cull something from these small papers and thus a planted rumor about a lady's virtue, a businessman's prosperity, an important person's health, the relations of a husband and a wife will be given credence without investigation and without truth.

The small papers come and go and their subscription fees are comparatively exorbitant. They can afford to charge whatever they choose, but many copies must be sent free because although I subscribe to not a one, I receive many and in the course of a week am astonished at how many there are and how many unsavory persons must earn a living bringing unhappiness to decent folks who are unwilling to defend themselves on the supposition that they will not dignify a louse. On the other hand, there are those who having once had some kind of misfortune, have subsequently lived lives of integrity and usefulness and have no desire to have old coals raked over.

This is an ancient form of journalism and is, in a manner, encouraged by the mores of the times, which seem to recognize the disreputable as celebrities along with the most distinguished. Ladies of the night often appear in the newspapers as celebrities and business news often gives credence to the so-called geniuses who, in time, turn out to be frauds.

The small paper is very much like payola on radio and television. It is a form of journalism which is very old indeed, probably as old as the human race and its particular format is based on the assumption that all the world enjoys seeing a fat and pompous person slip on a banana peel and fall on his face. It caters to primitive sadism.

Languages Drive

Message Campaign To Encourage Study Set By Government

A massive drive to encourage study of foreign languages in American schools will be undertaken by the government during 1960.

Hundreds of scholarships and instituitions are being established, designed to make thousands of students proficient in at least one foreign tongue.

The program will not be confined to stand-by languages like Spanish, French, German, or even Russian.

Chinese is high on the list. There will also be instruction in Azerbaijani, Urdu, Pashtu, Madurese, and even Ewe. And if you can't say it in those, try Amharic, Kpelle, Quechua, or Ibo.

It is no secret that education officials have been belatedly stung into action by criticisms in the book "The Ugly American" and dozens of other reports on American shortcomings overseas — some true, some exaggerated.

"The Ugly American" is set in a fictitious South - Asian kingdom, pretty much like Thailand, inhabited by a gentle, friendly people. Most Americans there, including the ambassador and others in various forms of foreign service, are depicted as being hopelessly and trabically ignorant of the country's customs, especially its language.

On the other hand, the Soviet ambassador and his staff are drawn as being fluent in the tongue, following years of its study before being judged qualified for foreign diplomatic posts.

And in travels throughout the world many Americans are astonished at the extent to which English is spoken, even in out-of-the way places. With English you can get by pretty nearly everywhere, from Copenhagen to Calcutta.

But try asking directions in Hindustani in Chicago sometime.

With this in mind the United States Office of Education will award, before April 30, nearly 400 federally - financed Modern Language Fellowships throughout the country.

It will create 35 language institutes next summer for the training of 2000 elementary and secondary school teachers. These will also be held at colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Both programs will be financed under the National Education Defense, Act, a title meaningful in itself.

Purpose of the fellowships, says the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is to increase the numbers of teachers of 85 foreign languages "seldom taught in the United States but which are spoken by millions of people throughout the world."

In fact first preference will be given to students of Chinese, Arabic, Hindi, Japanese Portuguese, Russian, and Urdu.

Emphasis will also be given to Bengali, Burmese, Finnish, Modern Hebrew, Hungarian, Indonese-Malay, Khalka, Korean, Marathi, Persian, Polish, Serbo - Croatian, Senghalese, Swahili, Tamil, Telegu, Thai, and Turkish.

A Stanford University course for teachers of German will be conducted in part in Germany. About 85 secondary school teachers will spend nine weeks in Stuttgart.

This institute is regarded as a pilot enterprise. From this experiment the Office of Education will determine whether other institutes should be held in foreign countries.

Public school teachers attending the institutes will get stipends of $75 per week plus an allowance of $15 per week for each dependent. Private school teachers will be able to attend without charge but will not receive any stipend.

Fellowships will carry stipends ranging up to $2700, plus tuition and fees. Graduate fellows will get travel allowances for dependents.

Students applying for fellowships must give "reasonable assurance" that on completion of their graduate language training they will either teach their specialized language in college or will use their language competency in another public service field.

Humphrey's Ideas

Proposal For Ultra-High Rate Of Growth Not Appropriate

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"The Republicans believe in constriction (of the national economy), whereas we Democrats think in terms of expansion."—Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (December 30, 1959).

"A forced, ultra-high rate of growth is not an appropriate objective in a free-choice, market economy . . . Undue emphasis on growth for its own sake can result in growth of the wrong kind . . . goods that people do not want and which end up as surplus goods in Government warehouses . . . goods that represent inefficient and wasteful use of our economic resources." — Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson (December 29, 1959).

One could go a long way without finding a crisper comparison of the Democratic and Republican programs and philosophies. Senator Humphrey, witty and full of fight, was announcing his candidacy for the White House. Surrounded by the Washington press corps, hooked up for reproduction of his voice, poised on the verge of any politician's greatest adventure—the quest of the American Presidency—Humphrey was making his first official campaign utterance.

Less than 24 hours before the Humphrey kick-off, Secretary Anderson made his thoughtful, experienced address to a luncheon group of professional economists. While not speaking in rebuttal of the Senator, the Secretary was speaking in unpremeditated contradiction. This is what gives us a study in contrast between the two parties, the two outlooks.

For the ruddy, ebullient Senator was being rhetorical. the gray, staid Secretary was being pensive. The Senator was assuming that bigger-is-better. The Secretary was noting that quality-comes-before-quantity. In addressing the multitudinous electorate, the Senator was counting on its inability or disinclination to realize that heedless increases, (such as in population explosions, agricultural glut, industrial overproduction and body cancers) are death-dealing problems in the nation of which he wants to be Chief Executive. In speaking before an educated, critical roomful of economists, the Secretary was hopefully assuming that the American nation must survive, if it does, in Alexander Hamilton's words, by "reflection and choice" —the very opposite of Senator Humphrey's prescription.

Robert Anderson, not an announced candidate for the Republican national ticket, was nevertheless enunciating the informed conservatism which is at issue this year, in Anderson's words, "a SUSTAINABLE growth," one achieved by productivity, not by inflation. A major hindrance to optimum economic strength is, in the Anderson phrase, "under-utilization of labor and other resources." He could have said that with feather-bedding, slow-downs, walk-outs and with so many restrictions in trade, the Labor Movement is the worst offender and biggest roadblock to American economic maturity. He could have added that agriculture, the most depressed industry in our commonwealth today, is wasting the most precious non-human resource that we have—the soil. This ought to be conserved in trees and grasses, not wasted by the forced growth of unneeded crops.

Hubert Humphrey, the first Democrat to announce his candidacy, could not possibly say such things about Labor and agriculture. Humphrey stands committed to a line of talk—and, if elected President, to a line of action—which belong to the hoary Roosevelt ian past. The Senator must affect to believe that the modern farmer is shamelessly neglected in legislation, that the American nation of 1960 requires a social revolution in order to attain the ends of justice.

This is the Humphrey platform as expressed in his prepared announcement and his response to questioning. Perhaps the candidate can be better understood from one of his ad lib reactions. He was queried about Cuba under Castro. The Senator spoke with disparagement of the "Batista dictatorship" and with forebearance of the "Castro regime". When I asked him if his choice of words could be considered significant, and if he did not think Castro also ran a "dictatorship", the Senator said he would let his statement stand.

It was a clear case of Hubert Humphrey's refusing to turn his back on Fidel Castro. For a man aspiring to be President of the United States at this hour of history, the statement is less than re-assuring. To be blase about the success of creeping Communism in the Western Hemisphere seems —to use a foolish phrase in a literal sense—"out of this world", where, unhappily, we are fighting for our lives.

But nobody who knows Hubert Humphrey would think of him as being attracted to Communism in Cuba or anywhere else. No, it is the revolutionary aspect in Cuba which finds a kinship in the Senator's make-up. For Humphrey, too, is a revolutionary. And his candidacy asks the question, "Do we need such leadership today?"

On Cape Florida

Jungle There As Dense And Mysterious As On Guadalcanal

CAPE FLORIDA — It is hard to believe you are in the United States here. This is more like an island in the South Pacific.

They filmed "They Were Expendable" here, and other movies about the Pacific war, but it's only a few miles by road from Miami Beach hotels and night clubs.

There's nothing semi-tropical about this place. The jungle here is the real tropics, as dense and mysterious as any on Guadalcanal.

It produced a lot of wisecracks about Japanese soldiers coming out any minute to surrender.

The Japs had a saying in the South Pacific:

"Americans don't fight the jungle. They remove it."

They were referring to the way Seabees used to get heavy construction gear ashore and perform near - miraculous feats of building after an island was seized.

On a trip to Cape Florida, at the Southern end of Key Biscayne in the Florida Keys, I saw just about the same thing happening again.

A giant construction company, Lefcourt Realty, is moving in an army of bulldozers and earthmovers. Hundreds of homes are going up on one of the nation's last — and forgotten — frontiers.

They're slicing roads through the jungle. Drainage lines and power installations are going up.

A lush residential and resort city is being built.

And a local scoutmaster said the few residents already on Cape Florida stand ready to welcome an anticipated flood of newcomers.

"We need people," he said, "to strengthen our schools and churches."

Once Cape Florida was America's only coconut plantation, with more than 30,000 mature palms. Most are still standing, and the builders have pledged all will be preserved.

The area has as colorful a history as any in the nation.

Pirates, explorers, and Indians lived where plush homes, motels, hotels, cabanas, apartments, shopping centers, and a swanky yacht club are being built.

Four years after Columbus discovered America, John Cabot sighted Cape Florida. In 1500 it was noted on charts as the "Cape at the end of April."

The United States bought the cape from Spain in 1819. In 1825 a lighthouse was built at the cape's southern tip, and stands there today.

It is the oldest existing structure in South Florida. Confederates destroyed the light in 1861, and it was rebuilt in 1867. It has also been attacked by Indians.

But for generations now it has been used as a picnic site and playground for thousands of Miami children. They come to Cape Florida by road from Miami Beach and boat down lagoon-like Biscayne Bay to mooring spots on the island's west shore.

Future residents of this island will live in as dream - like a setting as any in tropical waters. Palms nod gracefully over miles of white beaches, and there'll be some of the nation's top fishing and water sports on their front doorsteps.

Red Radio Pinpoints Rocket Fall

LONDON (AP)—Radio Moscow said Saturday night the Soviet rockets soon to be test-fired in the central Pacific will fall about 400 nautical miles south of the American-owned Johnston Island.

A nautical mile by U.S. reckoning is 6,080.20 feet.

The pinpointing of the area in which the rockets will drop came in a Moscow broadcast defending the Soviet Union's right to close off 27,125 square miles of the Pacific while the tests take place between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15.

Urban America

Slow Strangulation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Urban America, struggling against a threat of slow strangulation, faces a major difficulty in the indifference of its citizens.

That's one conclusion from a comprehensive study of metropolitan Dayton, where researchers found:

Only 4 persons in 10 could name the name of a single area wide leader.

Only 33 per cent of residents took an active part in community affairs, defining that "activity" very modestly, and only 2 per cent considered interest and participation in community affairs something to be particularly proud of.

Nearly everyone questioned guessed that 23 to 38 cents of his property tax dollar is spent on schools—a healthy miss from the 60 to 80 cents that is actually spent.

These are among the facts listed in a 470-page report called "Metropolitan Challenge"—a portrait of the people, the governments, the problems and potentialities of an exploding metropolis.

Much of the report might apply to any of the other 59 metropolitan areas in the nation with populations of 250,000 to one million.

The result of a two-year, $260,000 study, Metropolitan Challenge deals mostly with problems. A later report will recommend solutions.

Dayton metropolitan area embraces Montgomery County, a 461-square-mile area containing 5 cities, 14 villages, 13 townships and 540,794 people. The population has increased 98 per cent in the last 28 years.

Unfortunately the parallel growth of government has not been orderly. As the Dayton Journal Herald explains it, "We have patched on a room here, cut a passage there, barely keeping up with the expanding family."

There are 55 governmental spheres of influence in the county, says the report. But a citizen has no legal voice in the legislation of a neighboring community even thought its legislation can vitally affect him.

"Careful examination of the local governmental structure in Montgomery County shows conclusively that no unit is presently capable of meeting areawide needs," the report says. The county government offers a basis for area government but "its structure is outmoded and clumsy and its powers restricted to unincorporated areas."

The result of this governmental maze has been these problems, outlined in the report:

1. Inadequate planning—There are 26 planning and zoning commissions in the county, but no coordination of their work. Inadequate planning is apparent in suburbs "where practically no land has been reserved for parks and playgrounds" and where sewerage and water costs have more than tripled because residential subdivisions weren't located near existing systems.

A major deficiency is a lack of sites zoned for industrial locations. The scarcity has forced the price of industrial sites upward, discouraging industrial locations and expansion. Competition for new industry is developing among communities within the county.

2. Traffic-Dayton area citizens regard this as their most serious problem. Despite the population surge, the number of people using public transportation has declined nearly 50 per cent since 1947. One reason: Buses average 7 miles per hour, private cars 12 to 14. Downtown Dayton also has a shortage of parking spaces.

3. Police and fire protection—There are 32 separate police agencies in the county, ranging from a 337-man force in Dayton to a single part-time policeman in several of the villages. Of 22 fire fighting units in the county, only those in Dayton and Oakwood are manned by full-time firemen.

4. Urban renewal — Blighted areas embrace nearly six square miles, equaling size to more than one sixth of the city of Dayton. Building codes are adequate, but enforcement is difficult. Governments do little to encourage conservation.

5. Education—Schools have been better able to keep up with demand for new facilities than other governments, but still trail needs. Public school enrollment has jumped 41 per cent in five years. County taxpayers pay 17 different price for education and get 17 different brands.

While specific solutions to these problems are to be offered in the subsequent report, some general suggestions were made in Metropolitan Challenge. Here are a couple:

"The very interrelatedness of the area demands that they (the local planning and zoning units) work in close harmony."

And also, "From an engineering standpoint the solution to the traffic problem is to induce more people to use mass transit facilities than drive their own automobiles."

To Integration

South Adamant

Editor's Note—In the sixth year after the Supreme Court struck down segregation in public schools the Deep South remains adamant in resistance. Here's a firsthand report on the integration picture by a newsman who toured the region to interview many officials and citizens on both sides.

By JIM THOMASSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Despite the examples of Little Rock and Virginia, the Deep South at this time is still not ready to accept any public school integration—token or otherwise — and likely would close schools to prevent it.

In some of the five still wholly segregated states, integration is not even considered a serious possibility in the near future.

In the others, there is increasing realization that the time draws nearer when a hard choice may be faced: accept integration or close the public schools.

Determination to resist as long as possible and yield only under overwhelming pressure is widespread.

That's the picture unfolded on a fact-finding trip through the South in the sixth school term after the 1954 Supreme Court ruling outlawing public school segregation.

While islands of integration have arisen in other Southern states, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina still have no racially mixed classes in their public school systems.

FIVE STATES

All five states are committed to opposing desegregation.

One Georgia official conceded recently that the emerging pattern would be this: Where Negroes push hard for integration, there will be the utmost legal resistance, followed by federal court orders for integration, then school closings—and ultimately re-opening in compliance with the court order in response to public pressures.

That generally has been the way it has gone in Little Rock and Virginia.

The Arkansas city experienced violence, use of federal troops, closed schools and private schools before accepting integration.

Virginia's "massive resistance" program collapsed and it experimented with private schools before adopting a freedom of choice plan. Under it, some schools have integrated. In Prince Edward County, on the other hand, public schools were closed and private schools were opened for white children.

Georgia also has laws requiring closing of integrated schools and providing for private schools. It may be the next state to face a showdown on massive resistance.

The Atlanta School Board, under federal court order, has filed a pupil placement desegregation plan which conflicts with state law. Unless the 1960 Legislature changes the act, Atlanta faces at least some closed schools next fall.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver campaigned on a promise to uphold segregation. He says his position is unchanged.

If allowed to decide for itself, Atlanta might accept integration to the extent necessary. But the Georgia Legislature is dominated by small, rural counties, and a legislator from one of the larger counties reported, "All the members with whom I have talked, say, 'hell no, we're not going to let them integrate in Atlanta'."

Atlanta leaders have threatened that if the city's schools are forced to close by loss of state funds, a suit will be filed to prohibit grant of state funds to segregated schools as well.

Since the state pays about 70 per cent of the cost of public schools, that would affect every school system in Georgia. Except in Savannah and Atlanta, the problem of integration is largely academic in most of Georgia.

The same, generally, is true in the other wholly segregated states, as well as in some of the still segregated sections of states which have accepted partial integration.

STATE PAYS

Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People says the NAACP "is far from satisfied with the present rate of desegregation.

"We are not satisfied with token desegregation," he adds. "We shall continue to press for full compliance at an accelerated pace."

The Deep South states, Wilkins says, "have not made a beginning, yet still are asking for more time. The Negro has been more than patient."

Interviews in many parts of the south, primarily with parents, PTA leaders and educators, disclose that while some expect the day to come when the choice must be made between integrating or closing public schools, others just as firmly think they can preserve segregated public schools, at least in their own areas.

A Birmingham, Ala., PTA leader said a recent poll of parents by the city school board showed 99 per cent would "not tolerate" integration.

In Savannah, Ga., where the city-county school board is under integration pressure, a PTA leader said, "It leaves us in a dilemma. The PTA position is for open schools, but in talking with my people, I don't believe they would let their children go to school with Negroes."

Some want the schools to stay open.

In Atlanta, there is substantial sentiment for accepting what integration is necessary to preserve public schools. This is the official position of the city administration.

In Alabama, Lous Eckl, editor of the Florence Times, declared, "The vast majority of people in Florence—both white and Negro—prefer segregation, but they believe if it comes down to a choice, the public school must be maintained."

In Savannah, the League of Women Voters is urging that schools be kept open. Two Augusta, Ga. PTA presidents, conceded that bitterly as they oppose integration, they would accept it to keep schools operating.

A PTA leader in a rural Tennessee community with a large Negro population also thinks integration inevitable. "We will have to face it sooner or later," she said. "And if it doesn't come to a head too soon, we can work it out."

But there are voices to the contrary.

A PTA president in Mississippi, asked if she thought integration inevitable, said "I can think of only one word with which to answer your question. And that word is 'no'."

A South Georgia civic leader commented: "In our country, Negroes have better schools than we do. They'd never try to integrate with us. We'd have to integrate with them to have any integration."

Southerners who cling to the hope of maintaining segregated schools base it on various factors: if there must be integration, it'll happen somewhere else; improved Negro schools will keep the situation quiet; Negroes as a whole won't press the issue for fear of losing their own schools or for fear of economic and other reprisals; belief that Negro teachers fear loss of their jobs if schools are integrated; and hope that public opinion will force the Supreme Court to back down or ease off.

Billy Liar's Imaginary And Comical World

BILLY LIAR. By Keith Waterhouse. Norton. $3.95.

Half in Stradhoughton and half in Ambrosia, feet on the ground and head in the clouds, zany, cockeyed, screwy, and poignantly serious by turns — there you have Billy Liar, or Billy Fisher.

He's an undertaker's assistant — and heaven help the undertaker! in a little Yorkshire town but he has his heart set on London, a four-hour train ride south. He isn't quite wholly and absolutely honest when he gets into the company's stamp box; he takes the greatest pains not to mail important letters that it would be much easier to drop in the post-box; and it's almost as hard for him to dispose of 200 expensive advertising calendars at the dump and down the drain and elsewhere, and get himself in wrong with the boss, as it would be to deliver them properly as he is paid to do.

He makes up gags for his vaudeville act at the pub, has the hint of a promise from a London radio star to hire him. And he would be all the happier to clear out of town since his love affairs have trapped him in a desperate state from which almost his only escape is flight to his imaginary Ambrosia where he whips out an imaginary Ambrosia machinegun and imaginarily slaughters all his foes. Rita, the Witch and Liz are all three at one and the same time, and on one and the same engagement ring, his fiancees; and the Witch's stolid resistance to both his passion pills and his pawing in the churchyard is a hilarious love scene.

This is a zestful, peppery, colorful and comical novel from England's least Angry Young Man.

DONIZETTI "LISHIR D' AMORE." Ch and Orchestra of The Maggio Musicale Fiorentino conducted by Francesco Molinari Pradelli. Complete recording, three records. London OSA 1311. The cast includes Hilde Gueden, Giuseppe Di Stefano, Renato Caoccchi, Fernando Corena and Luisa Mandelli. Donizetti who did not live beyong the middle age composed as many as seventy operas. "L'Elisir d' Amore," one of the most charming of all his works, was written in not much more than a week. It was first performed at the Teatro della Canobbianan on May 12, 1832 with great success. Giuseppe Di Stefano, Italy's most popular tenor today, and the other members of the cast does a wonderful performance of this famous opera. The recorded sound is pure and stereo effect has plenty of depth and front row feeling.

ROSSINI "THE BARBER OF SEVILLE." The Rome Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Domenico Savino. Kapp KC-9013-S. This album is another addition to the very popular Opera Without Words series that is helping acclaim Kapp Records as one of the leaders in the classical field today. The musical interest of this recording is astounding and none the less can be said about the stereo effect. The performance by Domenico Savino and the Rome Symphony must be heard to really be appreciated.

FOLK AND ROCK

Mention of a genuine artist brings to mind greater popularity of type thing in the past seve years. Commercial billbi music so dominated the ca years of radio until the re back hills material was los Then if a true backwood man came to town to sin some real folk music for pay he had to develop a nasa condition in order to make deal with his patrons or sponsors.

Folk music suffered for years because o this situation. Many fine folk singers and guitarists must have gone back to the hills for failure to lick the hillbilly fever which they refused to contract.

It was this phony music of the concrete mountains which later spawned "rock-n-roll," which has seen a sharp decline on juke boxes and disc jockey programs in the past few weeks. Some optimistic souls think this will mark the end of an era, but more likely another commercial movement will take its plac

EXISTENTIALISM

Whenever literarry or musical movements are mentioned, the mid-century bohemian or "beatnik" is oted strolling on the fringes. here is always the feeling long these types that they ve the real goods but the rld is not ready to receive m. Instead of going home the hills — as did the true old artists noted above — ey choose to remain in s and worry citizens into serving them. In outward pearance, the presently U.S. "beatnik" is a hang from the French lite "existentialist" move which began to die 10 y ago.

This puts a double st ard on a philosophy of that same name which fortunately is sweeping out the "realism" of the first 50 years of the current century.

While the "beatnik" lives a life of "To be or not to be, that is the answer," and otherwise misquotes authors living and dead, the true existentialist accepts both reality and imagination as part of the condition of "being."

Last word from the French existentialists was the elevating of Popeye to the position of a spiritual sponsor because of his old quotation, "I am what I am and that's all I am."

The philosophers in the movement take the matter to a deeper level by probing he verb "to be." One position is that being is existing nd that more exists in life an meets the senses.

One of the most encouring signs of the new philophical trend is the fact it leaves a place for reon. The intellectual real — which embraced rything from formless art music to Communism — ns to be on the decline.

Beat On Damask Drum Is 'Ho Hum'

BEAT ON A DAMASK DRUM. By Troy Kennedy Martin. Dutton. $3.75.

Dien Bien Phu has been captured by Communists, and even Hanoi no longer seems safe when, to open this first novel, Joey Castle, stage star, arrives at the ill defined, broken front lines in search of the man who was the boy she used to love.

Adam Canning, object of her search, has joined four men in an independent venture; they are not with either side, they want to arrange truces that will stop killings, they live precariously in the deceptively quiet eye of the hurricane of war, and hope to keep it quiet. There is an American named Jameson; an Irishman named-it seems inevitable-Paddy; a German named—against it seems inevitable—Fritz; a second American, Stock; and appearing tardily to this idealistic band, a Frenchman who thinks that if he can save some art treasures buried in a mansion in the middle of the alien Red wilderness, he will get rich, and indeed they will all get rich.

Between Joey and her Adam is a French general who is sympathetic enough to her cause to want to make love to her before she is sped on to 'her youthful mate. Stock has the same idea. It doesn't seem a bad idea to her either, but she has a mission: To make Adam over into the boy he used to be. In a novel whose principal characters want not to shed blood, there is an uncommon amount of bloodshedding before the differences are reconciled, and each man knows what makes life worthwhile and each is committed to preserving the ideal pure.

There are vivid characterizations, and brilliant sketches of warfare. But still this novel, though it comes from England highly praised, may leave you of an almost contrary mind. A little bit like the chracters who "Beat on damask drum" and makes no impression, this makes no impression. It keeps on not getting you excited for almost 300 pages.

Company Tells Negotiation Of Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Aluminum Co. of America today announced negotiation of a new three-year contract with the United Auto Workers covering 3,000 workers at four plants.

The contract agreement is similar to one reached in Chicago Dec. 19 between Alcoa and the United Steelworkers and the Aluminum Workers' International Union.

Meanwhile, in East St. Louis, Ill., the president of the Aluminum Workers International Union announced ratification of a similar pact covering 9,000 workers in seven Alcoa plants.

Eddie R. Stahl said AWI members at Alcoa's LaFayette, Ind., plant voted Friday night to accept the agreement, thus making it binding on all seven locals by a 4-3 majority.

All three contracts provide a wage - benefit package totaling 28½ cents an hour over the three year period, Alcoa said, and are retroactive to Aug. 1 when the old pacts expired.

Alcoa workers had been averaging $2.94 an hour.

The UAW represents Alcoa employes at plants in Chicago, Cleveland, Garwood, N. J., and Vernon, Calif.

Alcoa employs 9,000 AWI members at these plants? Chillicothe, Ohio; Cressona, Pa.; Davenport, Iowa; East St. Louis, Ill.; LaFayette, Ind.; Lancaster, Pa.; and Massena, N.Y.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The holidays are over and the college students have returned to school, but use of the Ouachita Parish Public Library continues unabated. Many of our adult patrons who were busy with other activities during the Christmas period are now ready to read again. Every day for the past week we have been just as busy as we could be and evidence of this fact is the appearance of our new book display shelves, which were full of books on Monday, but were sadly depleted by Saturday.

During the year of 1959 we added to the book collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library a total of 3,094 books. During the same period 979 of our old books were discarded or lost. On January first of this year our total book collection consisted of 60,005 books. We still need many more books but we do not have the funds to purchase as many books as we would like to have. At the present time we are working hard on the book collection for the Anna Meyer Branch Library, which will be completed sometime during the summer. Since this is an entirely new library branch, we have to build up the collection entirely and make a card catalog for the branch. We now have in this collection 1,343 books, but we need at least 7,000 by the time we open. If you have books which you would like to give us for this branch, we would be happy to have them.

The circulation of books from the Ouachita Parish Public Library increased enormously last year. A fact which we attribute to our increased facilities. We circulated in 1959 316,204 books as compared with 285,084 for 1958. This is an increase of 31,120 books or more than a 10 per cent increase.

New books are added to the collection each week and some of the titles listed today will fill a long felt need. One question that we are frequently asked at the library is "What is the value of a certain old book?" It is hard for us to answer this question, but we do have a reference book called "American Book Prices Current" which tells what certain editions brought at sales during the past year. This is such an expensive book that we cannot purchase a copy each year, but we are happy to now have the new 1959 edition. With the increase of automobiles on the roads it is necessary that everyone who drives a car, should understand the rules of the road. A new book by Maxwell Halsey is called "Skillful Driving." This book should be read by every beginning driver and by others who are not entirely satisfied with their performance. One of the most used books which the library has is "The Cokesbury Party Book". A new edition has just been published and we purchased a copy for each branch of the library. If you are planning a party, you will want to see this book, for it is full of ideas.

One of the most beautiful cities in the world is "San Francisco" and one of it's most outstanding and colorful figures is Barnaby Conrad. He has just published a new book, which he calls "San Francisco, a Profile With Pictures." Everyone who has visited there will want to see this book. Scholars of English literature will be very interested in a book by Hubert Creekmore called "Lyrics of the Middle Ages." This is a worthwhile contribution to our literary heritage.

Many people from this area visit Mexico regularly and a new guide book for this country is eagerly awaited. Our latest one is called "John Wilhelm's Guide to All Mexico" and seems to be most excellent. It is surprising how many people are interested in the subject of archeology. Most of our books on this subject deal with excavations in foreign countries. Now we have a book called "Hidden America," written by Roland Robbins and Evan Jones, who tell about the interesting artifacts that may be discovered in our own country. For a very illuminating picture of life in contemporary America, readers are recommended to "The End of American Innocence" by Henry Farnham.

One of the most colorful figures of the old west was the Indian Geronimo. A new book has just been published, written by Jason Nye called "I Fought With Geronimo." This will certainly interest students of the period. "Arctic Wings" by William A. Leising is a graphic account of the problems of aviation in the far north, written by a man who has had the actual experience. Two books of interest to young adult readers are "The Golden Pharoh" by Karl Bruckner and "Tomahawk Shadow" by Nancy Faulkner.

The cold winter months when one must stay indoors are excellent for reading. Are you using your Ouachita Parish Public Library? If not we give you a hearty invitation to do so at your earliest convenience.

Methodists Here Note Founding Date Of Faith

Today at the 10:50 a.m. service, the Gordon Avenue Methodist Church will celebrate the 175th anniversary of the Christmas conference that officially organized Methodism in the United States of America.

On December 24, 1784, sixty Methodist preachers met in Lane Chapel in the city of Baltimore for the purpose of organizing the first Methodist Church in America which was to be entirely independent of British Methodism.

Francis Asbury and Thomas Coke became the first bishops of American Methodism; however, Methodism goes back to the year of 1729 when John and Charles Wesley were at Oxford University.

Moving Is Key To Car Industry

DETROIT (AP) — Take 15,000 parts and 2,500 men and women. Keep both moving for 12 hours and you can build a 1960 automobile.

"Moving" is the key word. Fifty years ago Henry Ford was building 28 cars a day. Final assembly lines today spew out new cars at the rate of one per minute and in some cases even faster.

Some of the auto plants are integrated, which means virtually the entire car is produced at a single location. One of the most modern of the integrated plants is the newly remodeled home of Plymouth in Detroit.

The plant covers 30 acres, enough room to build a nice subdivision of 100 homes or so. Here's what you'd see on a leisurely walk through it:

Steel stampings, shipped to the plant by truck and rail from various stamping plants, are carried by overhead conveyors to the body construction line. This actually is two lines, one building the right hand side and the other the left hand sides. The pieces are placed in a gage line, which in effect is a moving frame. Along this line are 339 welding machines. As the sides move they are welded into single pieces. At this instant they meet another line carrying body floors. Welding continues until the body becomes a single unit.

A constantly moving line carries the bodies past metal working experts who add the finishing touches. The unit then moves into a storage bank preparatory to rust proofing and painting. The bodies are stored by type—two and four door sedans, station wagons, convertibles and special orders.

From this bank a machine operator selects the order of bodies to be painted. Conveyor lines route the body through an anti-corrosion process of seven dips which lasts two hours, then into the paint section and finally into another storage bank to await further assembly.

At the other end of the building basic engines are being received from two engine plants. These go on a moving assembly line where carburetors, distributors and air cleaners are added.

In another section of the plant instrument panels are being assembled, on a moving line. These panels have hundreds of variations depending on color and the type of accessories for which controls must be installed--heaters radios, cigar lighters, protective padding, and the like.

From yet another direction comes a moving line on which the underparts of a car are built up—the wheels, axles, springs, transmission.

The engine is dropped into a stub frame which has been connected to these underparts. The painted bodies move out of the storage bank and into the body hardware line where chrome trim, door handles and other decorations are added.

With the help of punch card control the proper body arrives at a given point just as the completed undercarriage arrives. A machine operator brings the moving lines together with amazing ease.

By now the outer shell and mechanical parts of the car are complete. It can run under its own power and is in fact driven a few feet around a bend into an inspection area.

At this point the mechanical and electrical parts of each car are checked. When the car is approved, it moves to the final assembly line, which at Plymouth is about the longest in the business—an awesome 1,972 feet or longer than six football fields.

Now comes installation of the hundreds of parts that make up the interior finishing of an automobile. One of the most fascinating processes is the setting of the huge glass pieces that make up the windshields and rear windows.

Halfway along the line the car, now fully equipped with windows is subject to a hurricane-force water test for leaks. Trim panels are installed; carpeting goes in; seat cushions, built in another part of the plant, arrive in the right color and seat combinations just as the appropriate body style and color comes along the line. headlights are aimed by machines manned by women who step onto the moving line.

At the end the cars are driven a few feet into a special toe-in device for wheel alignment. Then they are driven into lanes for final inspection.

New Orleans Man Arrested In Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Police arrested a New Orleans man Friday in connection with the alleged cashing of $4,736 in bad checks.

Detective Walker Talley said David G. Brenner, 33, had admitted that he was released Dec. 23 from the Atlanta federal prison after serving 26 months of a three-year auto theft term.

Most of the checks, including one for 1,921 were written to an art gallery here. Officers said some jewelry and merchandise bought from the gallery has been recovered. More items were given to a Hot Springs woman, who apparently was not involved in the check-writing, police said.

Talley said Brenner also admitted writing checks in Louisiana. Brenner was quoted as saying that he had $35,000 in the bank, but that the institution had misplaced some records.

No charge was filed immediately, pending questioning by FBI agents.

Ike Holding Hope For Tax Slash In '61

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is holding out hope for a tax cut in 1961 if Congress will go along with the President's new budget forecasting a $4,200,000,000 surplus.

It also was learned Saturday that President Eisenhower's prediction of a 200-million-dollar surplus in the current fiscal year is based principally on expectations of a whopping drop in farm aid spending.

ESTIMATES

Estimates of agricultural outlays have been reduced by 900 million dollars since September — more than enough to offset revenues lost through the steel strike.

A high official, who declined to be quoted by name, told a reporter, the administration likely will favor broad tax reform legislation, including reduction of basic rates, at next year's congressional session provided

1. The $4,200,000,000 materializes in the 1961 fiscal year that begins July 1, 1960.

2. The surplus is used to reduce the record national debt of 290 billion dollars.

3. The economy continues to expand and a recession is avoided.

President Eisenhower drew a question mark around tax relief in his State of the Union message to Congress Thursday. He said tax cuts should be voted only after debt reduction becomes a normal practice.

This could be interpreted as indicating the President would want to see several more years of balanced budgets before tax relief is attempted.

While Eisenhower is leaving the White House next January, it will be his job to prepare the following year's budget for his successor. He also will be expected to submit a final series of legislative recommendations for the new Congress convening in 1961.

The present administration has been working closely with the House Ways and Means Committee in a broad-scale study of tax reform. The official who spelled out current thinking said a tax cut in 1961 is a distinct possibility.

U.S. Asking Reds' Consent To Early Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI(— The United States has asked Russia's consent to hold the first meeting of the new United Nations committee on peaceful uses of outer space within a month, diplomatic sources disclosed Saturday.

At the same time, U.S. officials were reported drumming up support to convene as early as this September an international scientific conference devoted to the exchange of outer space information.

Statement By Adcock Given On Senate Race

Jamar W. Adcock, successful candidate for senator from the 30th Senatorial District, representing Jackson and Ouachita parishes, last night issued the following statement:

"I want to thank all the fine people in Ouachita and Jackson Parishes for the splendid vote they gave me. I am deeply appreciative and accept this victory with a deep feeling of humility and responsibility.

I shall work very hard, as I promised, to make a good senator for our district. And let me say to those who saw fit to vote for my opponent: I have great respect for the reasons you had in your vote. Let me assure you that I have a keen desire to be senator for all the people in Ouachita and Jackson parishes and my efforts shall be devoted to that end.

Army Probers Look For Link To Escape Plot

HAVANA (AP) — Army investigators Saturday night looked for a possible outsidt link to an escape plot they said was uncovered at La Cabana military prison.

Authorities said earlier the plot was organized amont 190 persons held on charges of trying to overthrow the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

A spokesman at LaCabana, an ancient jail on a hill across the bay from Havana, said the investigation was being made into possible outside links but he declined to comment on its progress.

ARRESTED

Monroe police yesterday arrested James Wafer, 35, Negro of 103 DeSiard Ave., on a charge of reckless driving.

2 Automobiles Collide, Killing Three Soldiers

AIKEN, S.C. (UPI) — Two automobiles collided on U.S. Highway one, 10 miles north of Aiken early Saturday, killing three soldiers and seriously injuring the wife of one of the victims.

The Highway Patrol said a southbound automobile driven by Pfc. Bobby D. Moon, 20, of Tennille, Ga., was on the wrong side of the road when it collided head-on about 5:30 a.m., with a northbound vehicle driven by M. Sgt. Ralph G. Pearson, 37, of Fort Benning, Ga. Officers theorized Moon had fallen asleep while driving.

Killed instantly were Pearson, Moon, and Sgt. Marvin L. McVay, 25, of Greenville, Ala., a passenger in Moon's car.

Mrs. Carolyn McVay was taken to the Fort Gordon, Ga., Army Hospital in "serious by not critical" condition. She was pinned in the wreckage between the bodies of her husband and Moon for half an hour.

Moon and McVay were attached to Howitzer outfits with the 83rd Atillery at Fort Bragg, N.C. Pearson was attached to Co. C and Battalion, 9th Infanty, Fort Benning.

Methodists Here Note Founding Date Of Faith

Today at the 10:50 a.m. service, the Gordon Avenue Methodist Church will celebrate the 175th anniversary of the Christmas conference that officially organized Methodism in the United States of America.

On December 24, 1784, sixty Methodist preachers met in Lane Chapel in the city of Baltimore for the purpose of organizing the first Methodist Church in America which was to be entirely independent of British Methodism.

Francis Asbury and Thomas Coke became the first bishops of American Methodism; however, Methodism goes back to the year of 1729 when John and Charles Wesley were at Oxford University.

LUTHER BURNEY

New Minister Of Music At W.M. Church

Luther Burney, has been elected as a full time staff member of the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church of West Monroe and will serve the church as minister of music, youth and promotional director, according to the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor.

Burney will move to West Monroe with his family. His wife is the former Marilynn McCormick of Monroe and they have one child, Perry. Burney started serving the church as part time music director when only 17, he is now 21 and a senior at Northeast State College.

Moving Is Key To Car Industry

DETROIT (AP) — Take 15,000 parts and 2,500 men and women. Keep both moving for 12 hours and you can build a 1960 automobile.

"Moving" is the key word. Fifty years ago Henry Ford was building 28 cars a day. Final assembly lines today spew out new cars at the rate of one per minute and in some cases even faster.

Some of the auto plants are integrated, which means virtually the entire car is produced at a single location. One of the most modern of the integrated plants is the newly remodeled home of Plymouth in Detroit.

The plant covers 30 acres, enough room to build a nice subdivision of 100 homes or so. Here's what you'd see on a leisurely walk through it:

Steel stampings, shipped to the plant by truck and rail from various stamping plants, are carried by overhead conveyors to the body construction line. This actually is two lines, one building the right hand side and the other the left hand sides. The pieces are placed in a gage line, which in effect is a moving frame. Along this line are 339 welding machines. As the sides move they are welded into single pieces. At this instant they meet another line carrying body floors. Welding continues until the body becomes a single unit.

A constantly moving line carries the bodies past metal working experts who add the finishing touches. The unit then moves into a storage bank preparatory to rust proofing and painting. The bodies are stored by type—two and four door sedans, station wagons, convertibles and special orders.

From this bank a machine operator selects the order of bodies to be painted. Conveyor lines route the body through an anti-corrosion process of seven dips which lasts two hours, then into the paint section and finally into another storage bank to await further assembly.

At the other end of the building basic engines are being received from two engine plants. These go on a moving assembly line where carburetors, distributors and air cleaners are added.

In another section of the plant instrument panels are being assembled, on a moving line. These panels have hundreds of variations depending on color and the type of accessories for which controls must be installed—heaters, radios, cigar lighters, protective padding, and the like.

From yet another direction comes a moving line on which the underparts of a car are built up—the wheels, axles, springs, transmission.

The engine is dropped into a stub frame which has been connected to these underparts. The painted bodies move out of the storage bank and into the body hardware line where chrome trim, door handles and other decorations are added.

With the help of punch card control the proper body arrives at a given point just as the completed undercarriage arrives. A machine operator brings the moving lines together with amazing ease.

By now the outer shell and mechanical parts of the car are complete. It can run under its own power and is in fact driven a few feet around a bend into an inspection area.

At this point the mechanical and electrical parts of each car are checked. When the car is approved, it moves to the final assembly line, which at Plymouth is about the longest in the business—an awesome 1,972 feet or longer than six football fields.

Now comes installation of the hundreds of parts that make up the interior finishing of an automobile. One of the most fascinating processes is the setting of the huge glass pieces that make up the windshields and rear windows.

Halfway along the line the car, now fully equipped with windows is subject to a hurricane-force water test for leaks. Trim panels are installed; carpeting goes in; seat cushions, built in another part of the plant, arrive in the right color and seat combinations just as the appropriate body style and color comes along the line. Headlights are aimed by machines manned by women who step onto the moving line.

At the end the cars are driven a few feet into a special toe-in device for wheel alignment. Then they are driven into lanes for final inspection.

New Orleans Man Arrested In Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Police arrested a New Orleans man Friday in connection with the alleged cashing of $4,736 in bad checks.

Detective Walker Talley said David G. Brenner, 33, had admitted that he was released Dec. 23 from the Atlanta federal prison after serving 26 months of a three-year auto theft term.

Most of the checks, including one for 1,921 were written to an art gallery here. Officers said some jewelry and merchandise bought from the gallery has been recovered. More items were given to a Hot Springs woman, who apparently was not involved in the check-writing, police said.

Talley said Brenner also admitted writing checks in Louisiana. Brenner was quoted as saying that he had $35,000 in the bank, but that the institution had misplaced some records.

No charge was filed immediately, pending questioning by FBI agents.

Ike Holding Hope For Tax Slash In '61

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is holding out hope for a tax cut in 1961 if Congress will go along with the President's new budget forecasting a $4,200,000,000 surplus.

It also was learned Saturday that President Eisenhower's prediction of a 200-million-dollar surplus in the current fiscal year is based principally on expectations of a whopping drop in farm aid spending.

ESTIMATES

Estimates of agricultural outlays have been reduced by 900 million dollars since September — more than enough to offset revenues lost through the steel strike.

A high official, who declined to be quoted by name, told a reporter, the administration likely will favor broad tax reform legislation, including reduction of basic rates, at next year's congressional session provided

1. The $4,200,000,000 materializes in the 1961 fiscal year that begins July 1, 1960.

2. The surplus is used to reduce the record national debt of 290 billion dollars.

3. The economy continues to expand and a recession is avoided.

President Eisenhower drew a question mark around tax relief in his State of the Union message to Congress Thursday. He said tax cuts should be voted only after debt reduction becomes a normal practice.

This could be interpreted as indicating the President would want to see several more years of balanced budgets before tax relief is attempted.

While Eisenhower is leaving the White House next January, it will be his job to prepare the following year's budget for his successor. He also will be expected to submit a final series of legislative recommendations for the new Congress convening in 1961.

The present administration has been working closely with the House Ways and Means Committee in a broad-scale study of tax reform. The official who spelled out current thinking said a tax cut in 1961 is a distinct possibility.

U.S. Asking Reds' Consent To Early Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States has asked Russia's consent to hold the first meeting of the new United Nations committee on peaceful uses of outer space within a month, diplomatic sources disclosed Saturday.

At the same time, U.S. officials were reported drumming up support to convene as early as this September an international scientific conference devoted to the exchange of outer space information.

Statement By Adcock Given On Senate Race

Jamar W. Adcock, successful candidate for senator from the 30th Senatorial District, representing Jackson and Ouachita parishes, last night issued the following statement:

"I want to thank all the fine people in Ouachita and Jackson Parishes for the splendid vote they gave me. I am deeply appreciative and accept this victory with a deep feeling of humility and responsibility.

I shall work very hard, as I promised, to make a good senator for our district. And let me say to those who saw fit to vote for my opponent: I have great respect for the reasons you had in your vote. Let me assure you that I have a keen desire to be senator for all the people in Ouachita and Jackson parishes and my efforts shall be devoted to that end.

Army Probers Look For Link To Escape Plot

HAVANA (AP) — Army investigators Saturday night looked for a possible outsidt link to an escape plot they said was uncovered at La Cabana military prison.

Authorities said earlier the plot was organized amont 190 persons held on charges of trying to overthrow the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

A spokesman at LaCabana, an ancient jail on a hill across the bay from Havana, said the investigation was being made into possible outside links but he declined to comment on its progress.

ARRESTED

Monroe police yesterday arrested James Wafer, 35, Negro of 103 DeSiard Ave., on a charge of reckless driving.

2 Automobiles Collide, Killing Three Soldiers

AIKEN, S.C. (UPI) — Two automobiles collided on U.S. Highway one, 10 miles north of Aiken early Saturday, killing three soldiers and seriously injuring the wife of one of the victims.

The Highway Patrol said a southbound automobile driven by Pfc. Bobby D. Moon, 20, of Tennille, Ga., was on the wrong side of the road when it collided head-on about 5:30 a.m., with a northbound vehicle driven by M. Sgt. Ralph G. Pearson, 37, of Fort Benning, Ga. Officers theorized Moon had fallen asleep while driving.

Killed instantly were Pearson, Moon, and Sgt. Marvin L. McVay, 25, of Greenville, Ala., a passenger in Moon's car.

Mrs. Carolyn McVay was taken to the Fort Gordon, Ga., Army Hospital in "serious by not critical" condition. She was pinned in the wreckage between the bodies of her husband and Moon for half an hour.

Moon and McVay were attached to Howitzer outfits with the 83rd Atillery at Fort Bragg, N.C. Pearson was attached to Co. C and Battalion, 9th Infanty, Fort Benning.

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

Ruple, Cannon 'Days'

It's "Bill Ruple Day" in Monroe tomorrow and Mayor Jack Howard has given official status to the celebration honoring the Neville High School football coach with a proclamation setting aside the day as one in which to recognize the Tiger tutor for his greatest season of achievement with an undefeated football team and the Louisiana double-A football championship.

Then, on Wednesday, the nation's football "player of the year" and third ranked "athlete of the year" by the Associated Press—LSU's Billy Cannon—will be honored here at a "North Louisiana Billy Cannon Night."

Both are in keeping with the trend toward the steak circuit this time of the year when athletic banquets come thick and fast.

Northeast Louisiana State had its annual football fete Thursday night when fullback Stewart "Smokey" Stover, Seminole, Okla., was named the Tribe's most valuable player, best back, and winner of the Devone Payne Memorial for nearest perfection in "100 per cent effort" for his team.

And Coach Joe Aillet's Gulf States Conference champions at Louisiana Tech will be feted at their annual banquet January 20 as guests of the Ruston Rotary Club.

At least 500 followers of Ruple and the Neville Tigers are due to jam Neville cafeteria tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock to honor Ruple, his coaching staff, and his Tigers for the first completely unbeaten championship year in Neville High football.

Ruple, as Mayor Howard's proclamation points out, "has been instrumental in instilling sportsmanship, character, physical fitness and the elements of fair play into hundreds of youths that have been privileged to participate in the Neville athletic program . . . has through his decades of service always placed 'the boy' rather than the game's victory in the forefront: in developing team spirit, comradeship, and self-reliance.'

Two-time All-America Billy Cannon, playing today in the Hula Bowl in Honolulu, is due to arrive here Tuesday evening. It has been thought Cannon might come here directly from Honolulu, but we're informed by Tom Hyland, member of the committee planning the Cannon reception, that Billy probably will fly to Baton Rouge first, come to Monroe Tuesday evening, and be here throughout the day Wednesday as he awaits the testimonial banquet slated that evening for north Louisiana LSU alumni and fans desiring to pay tribute to this athlete who has done much to build LSU football fortunes. The Heisman Trophy, emblematic of individual football supremacy and awarded annually by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York City, was won by Cannon at the close of the season and will also be displayed here.

In commenting on Neville's state title recently we mentioned 103 points scored by the 1931 Neville team in a single game. This has brought some debate from skeptics who figured the "103" was a typographical error. "No team around here ever scored 100 points in a football game," was one comment.

Not only did the 1931 (the first Neville team as the old Monroe City High went out of existence) Tigers score 103 points in one game, but the Northeast Indians, when a junior college, counted 111 in shutting out Arkansas A. and M. September 24, 1937.

Neville got its big single score against Colfax on September 25 of 1931. That was the game in which a substitute halfback, George Manteris, entering play for the first time in the third quarter, made Ripley's Believe It Or Not when he carried the ball on six successive plays for six touchdowns, totalled 256 yards for the six runs, averaged 42.4 per carry, and set a mark Neville athletes have been shooting for ever since. Manteris was a champion boxer at Neville who later was a standout boxer at Tulane and coach at a New Orleans high school.

The Tigers went wild against Colfax despite absence from the lineup of two of their finest players of the year—center "Butch" Martin and tackle Jack Adcock. Three of the day's players are working at the post-office here now—the ends Woodrow Hathorn (postmaster) and Carlo Sciara, and tackle J. N. Davis.

Three other players—and one coach—have retired or are in the process of retiring as lieutenant colonels of the army. Linemen Leo Ticheli and Tony Marsala, at our latest reports were retiring and already retired is back Henry Florshiem, a much decorated World War II Army flier, once called the "best bombardier" in service. The coach—backfield boss under head coach Paul Neal—was Percy Brown who left as Neville's head coach in World War II, now is in process of retiring and plans to make his home at Baton Rouge.

Others on the team for the Colfax game?—Ivan Causey, Earl Cobb, Douglas Bearden, Julian Reagan, Roland "Babe" Adcock, Sam Jones, Ernest "Pug" Pierce, Ira Portis. But the regulars played little more than half the game that day.

With The Little Boys

West Carroll Little Boys Baseball, Inc., (with headquarters at Oak Grove) has completed its organization for the new year election of officers and directors.

Ralph Moore, who has done such a good job leading the youth baseball movement in this area, has been re-elected president of the organization.

La Velle Thomas is vice president, Clinton Head has been re-elected secretary and player agent, and elected to three-year terms on the board of directors were A. R. Head and J. K. Roberts.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

Lee Difference In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Rival coaches in Saturday's 11th annual Senior Bowl football game, won by the North 26-7, were agreed in one thing: Cincinnati quarterback Jack Lee was the difference.

Lee's pitching led the North to the most lopsided triumph in the all-star game history, set a record and brought him the most valuable player award.

Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants, coach of the North squad, said in the dressing room: "Lee's just the best, that's all."

And the losing South coach, Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts, said: "That Lee kid can throw that ball. He was well drilled. He had lots of poise. When he was in trouble he got out of it and made the big play. That was the difference."

Howell also said fullback Jimmy Joyce of Maryland "played a good game for us, and we had two good ends on offense." He referred to Don Norton of Iowa and Gail Cogdill of Washington State.

"Our defense was extra good," Howell said. He mentioned halfbacks Bob Bercich of Michigan State and Mark Johnston of Northwestern.

Both coaches agreed that a turning point in the game would have to be the South's missing a field goal attempt in the third period with the score tied 7-7.

"We knew we could move the ball fairly well, especially with our passes," Howell said, "and after they missed that field goal we came on and went all the way from there. We were in command from then on."

CINCINNATI PASSER

Lee Paces North Seniors To 26-7 Defeat Of South

By STAN ATKINS

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Cincinnati's great passer, Jack Lee, tossed for two touchdowns and directed the North to a 26-7 victory over the South all-stars in the 11th annual Senior Bowl Saturday.

The slender Lee, named the game's most valuable player, broke the game wide open early in the fourth quarter with a 73-yard touchdown toss to Syracuse's Gerhard Schwedes. Moments later he threw a 22-yard touchdown pass to his Cincinnati teammate, Ed Kovac. The latter came on fourth down and 11 shortly after end Curt Merz of Iowa covered a fumble by Mike Dowdle of Texas on the South 21.

In the third quarter, Lee set up a go-ahead touchdown with a 57-yard pass to Iowa's Don Norton, who was caught by Jim Mooty, Arkansas All-America on the South 13. Jim Joyce, Maryland fullback, rammed over from the one five plays later.

The Northerners, with the dazzling Lee at the controls, had started off as though they were going to make the game a runaway scoring the first time they got the ball.

After stopping the South on the first series after the kickoff, the North took over on its own 42. Ten plays later, the powerful Kovac plunged over the one to cap the 58-yard drive.

Schwedes got the drive under way with an 11-yard pass to Gary Cogdill of Washington State.

Syracuse's Bob Yates converted after the first and third touchdowns.

The South got its lone touchdown after Norton was forced to punt from inside his own end zone when the South downed one of their own on the one-foot line. The ball sliced off his shoe and went out of bounds on the North 13.

Georgia's Charley Britt passed to Tom Moore of Vanderbilt for the score on the next play. Charley Milstead of Texas A&M converted to give the South a short-lived tie with the speedier Northerners.

The game was witnessed by 40,119, a new Senior Bowl record.

Lee broke one passing record and tied another by completing 13 of 21 yards for 223 yards and two touchdowns. The yardage was the most in Senior Bowl history, eclipsing the 227 yards gained by Auburn's Travis Tidwell in the opening game in 1950.

The 13 completions tied Tidwell's mark, although the Auburn star had attained his completions in only 19 tries.

Britt, named most valuable for the South, also tied the record of completions with 13 of 21, identical to Lee's efforts. The Georgia star, several of whose passes were dropped by his receivers, ended up with 124 yards in the air.

A record for total number of passes also was tied, with the South completing 19 of 33 and the North 14 of 23. The record of 56 attempts also was set in the inaugural game.

Norton pulled in six passes for 103 yards to lead in that field. He was chosen outstanding lineman for the North. Ken Kirk of Mississippi, the South's middle linebacker, was named the top lineman for the South.

The margin of victory was the largest in the history of the Senior Bowl, in which the players turn pro. The North's triumph also narrowed the South's edge in the series to 6-5.

Jim Lee Howell, coach of the New York Giants, directed the North to victory over his old rival, Weeb Ewbank of the world champion Baltimore Colts. Ewbank's Colts two weeks ago on their second straight title playoff over the Giants.

Forest Boys, L. P. Girls Wins Titles

OAK GROVE, La. Special) — Forest's unbeaten boys' team downed Kilbourne, 45-36, and Lake Providence's girls whipped Oak Grove, 44-33, to win tourney crowns here last night.

Larry Butler led the victory for Forest, netting 23 points, while Billy Hendrix hooped 13 for Coach Gene Stephens' Kilbourne five. Beth Johnson had 37 points for the winning girls and Barbara Richey dropped in 20 for Oak Grove.

In boys' semifinal play Forest bested Cecil Johnson's Oak Grovers in a tight defensive duel, 34-18, and Kilbourne stopped Epps, 42-36. Oak Grove held the high-scoring Butler to 7 points, but James Rios and Harold Kelly took up the slack with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Dub Martin bagged 12 for Oak Grove.

Hendrix and Cleveland led Kilbourne with 15 apiece. Gwin had 10.

Girls' semifinals went to Lake Providence over Forest, 36-33, and Oak Grove over Kilbourne, 40-31. Betty Johnson led Lake Providence with 26 while Betty McCowan chalked up 17 for Forest. Sonnye Howell scored 19 for Oak Grove and Phyllis Dosher had 14 for Kilbourne.

Officials for the meet were Dewayne Tharpe, Sherrod McKoin and Bill Crowe.

Pioneer Girls Nip Reb Sextet

Scottie Sims outdueled Billy May, 32-20, in an individual scoring battle and Calhoun edged Grayson, 51-49, to win the championship of the 12th annual Ouachita Tournament here last night.

Pioneer handed W. Monroe its first defeat to win the girls' championship, while St. Matthew's boys and Neville's girls grabbed consolation honors.

Sims scored Calhoun's first nine points and 23 more to lead his team to the tournament championship. The 6-1 star collected most of his team's rebounds played a great floor game all night.

May almost pulled the game out of the fire for Grayson, scoring the field goal that pulled his team to within two points of Calhoun with 28 seconds to go, but missed a push shot in the last four seconds that would have tied it up.

The victory was the 26th of the year for Jerry lovett's Calhoun team against three defeats. Grayson took on its 4th loss in 33 games.

Calhoun jumped off to an early lead and had a 10-6 lead at the end of the first period, a 24-22 advantage at halftime and was in front by a 35-33 count at the end of the third period.

May tied the score for Grayson with 6:15 left in the game at 37-37, but minutes later Calhoun built up a six-point lead and stayed in front the rest of the way.

Sims got a field goal with 57 seconds to go to give Calhoun a five - point bulge, 50-45, and Spike Smith sank a free throw with 32 seconds left to make it 51-47. May came in with his field goal four seconds to pull Grayson within two points of the lead. But his last try was off the mark.

With sensational Mary Katherine Ross pioneering the trail with a blazing 43-point performance, Pioneer's undefeated girls clinched their title with a come-from-behind 65-59 victory over previously unbeaten West Monroe.

Miss Ross, who dribbles, passes and shot with either hand, was almost a one-man — or one-woman — show. With Pioneer trailing, 33-31, at halftime, she dropped in all but four of her club's point total in the third stanza as they pulled ahead 50-46 after three quarters.

The victory was Pioneer's 19th straight without a loss, but the high-flying sextet found it a rocky road to win No. 19. With Nancy Smith hitting on driving layups, and Ann Chapman peppering the nets with long two-handers, West Monroe moved out front early in the game and held a 25-16 advantage with six minutes to play in the second quarter.

Then Pioneer began to move up. Three quick buckets as the second half began made the score 38-37. Then Ross scored on a three-point play to put the Pioneer sextet ahead, 40-38. West Monroe tied the scoreboard twice after that and Ross' layup with 1:20 to play in the period made it 46-44 and put Pioneer ahead to stay.

The Rebel girls, in dropping their decision in 13 starts, made a desperate effort in the closing minutes, whittling a 12-point lead to four points with 1:25 left in the game. But Ross alertly drove in untouched for two easy bank shots to wrap it up.

Miss Smith, an all-stater, almost held her own against the Pioneer sharpshooter. She wound up with 13 fielders and 9 foul shots for 35 points. Ann Chapman notched 17 points. Miss Ross connected on 14 from the floor and dropped in 15 of 19 tries from the line.

Glenda Goyne and Ila Kay Guraedy both played and outstanding game defensively for the Rebs, but fouled out trying to halt Ross' scoring.

Neville won the girls' third place spot by downing Ouachita, 47-36, an dSt. Matthew's copped the boys' consolation game with a 61-51 triumph over the host Ouachita quint.

Cecile Menuet led the Neville victory, tossing in 22 points. Janice Holloway gathered 21 points for Ouachita. Neville grabbed a 15-6 lead after a quarter and led all the way.

John Varino poured in 34 points in the Irish win over Ouachita. The Lions of Coach H. H. Holliman held a slim 28-26 margin after two quarters but faded in the final half. Harry "Rabbit" Crowe pumped in 21 points for the Lions. Teammate Bobby Hendrix added 14.

Calhoun gained the finals with an unexpectedly easy triumph over St. Matthew's, 63-44, snapping the Irish's 15-game winning string. Scottie Sims got 25 points for the winners with Bunny Gilliland contributing 13. John Varino, averaging around 20 points per game for St. Matthew's, was held to 12. Buddy Embanato put in 10. Calhoun had leads of 13-7, 34-16 and 48-34 at the end of the three opening periods.

Joe Bill Pine whipped in 24 points and Melvin Jordan 19 as Grayson cruised past Ouachita in the other boys' semi-finals, 71-54. The winners had a 18-11 lead at the end of the first period, a 40-28 margin at halftime and a 55-39 advantage at the end of the third stanza. Don Long, developing into one of Ouachita's best after a slow start, pushed in 15 points to lead the losers and Harry Crowe got 12.

Nancy Smith's 30 points sparked West Monroe girls over Ouachita, 54-43, in their semi-final and Mary Kathryn Ross netted 22 to spearhead Pioneer's 44-34 conquest of Neville in the other.

Pioneer had a four - point lead, 14-10, over Neville at the end of the first period and 25-20 lead at halftime, stretching its margin to 10 points in the second half. Miss Stegall trailed Ross in Pioneer's scoring with 16 points while Cecile Menuet was high for Neville with 17.

Janis Holloway got 26 points to lead Ouachita's efforts and Janet Glenn 12. Ann Chapman and Joyce Saxon trailed Miss Smith with 12 markers each. West Monroe had leads of 13-6, 29-20 and 41-33 at the conclusions of the first three periods.

First and second all-tournament teams were selected in both boys' and girls' divisions. Named to the first boys' squad were Scottie Sims, Calhoun; Billy May, Grayson; James Taylor, Fort Necessity; Harry Crowe, Ouachita; and John Varino, St. Matthew's.

Second team choices were Bill Brasher, Marion; Joe Bill Pines, Grayson; Bunny Gilliland, Calhoun; Curtis Bunn, Eros; and Buddy Embanato, St. Matthew's.

Selected on the girls' first all-tournament team were forwards Katherine Ross, Pioneer; Nancy Smith, West Monroe; Janice Holloway, Ouachita; and guards Nell Waits, Pioneer; Lorena White, Calhoun; and Ike Guready, West Monroe.

Second team members were forwards Joyce Sacon, West Monroe.

Second team members were forwards Joyce Saxon, West Monroe: Virginia Stegall, Pioneer; and Cecile Menuet, Neville and guards Beanie Terrell, Neville; Glenda Toney, Ouachita, and Frances Futch, Pioneer.

CANNON TOP PRIZE

AFL Waging Strong Fight Against Established Loop

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The infant American Football League, which scored a major coup by luring "Player of the Year" Billy Cannon into its fold, is waging a strong campaign against the middle-aged National League in the battle for college football's top players.

An Associated Press survey disclosed that the millionaire-backed AFL, virtually declaring total war against the NFL in the bidding for the colleges' elite, is landing just as many of its top draft choices as the 40-year-old circuit.

Furthermore, the AFL has grabbed some of the first-rate candidates generally considered attached to the National League camp by verbal commitment or signed contract.

This outbreak of frantic recruiting has caused tempers, once calm, to flare. The AFL, using lucrative financial contracts as a lever, has pried four plums loose from the NFL. A lawsuit to settle the issue has been indicated in each case.

Case No. 1 involves Cannon, the most-prized catch in the sprawling sea of draftees. The two-time All America halfback from Louisiana State signed with an emissary of Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers of the AFL, minutes after the Sugar Bowl game.

The NFL's Los Angeles Rams, who also made Cannon their top draft pick, already had announced that the Heisman Trophy winner would play with them. The Rams also claim they have a contract signed by Cannon and will take legal steps to enforce it.

Case No. 2 involves Johnny Robinson, Cannon's running mate at LSU. Drafted by the Detroit Lions of the NFL, Robinson signed last week with the AFL's Dallas entry. Lions' President Edwin Anderson says he also holds a Robinson-initialed contract and will go to court.

Case No. 3 involves All-America tackle Don Floyd of TCU, who admittedly signed twice — once with Baltimore of the NFL, once with Houston of the AFL.

Case No. 4 involves All-America fullback Charlie Flowers of Mississippi. The New York Giants of the NFL selected him a year before he graduated. The Los Angeles Chargers of the AFL drafted the Ole Miss ace this year. Both teams claim he has signed with them.

All four have stated they prefer to play with the AFL clubs.

With the quartet listed in the AFL ledgers, the eight-team junior circuit has signed 11 of its first 23 choices, or 48 per cent. Five have decided to play with NFL clubs, six are undecided and one signed with the Canadian League.

The 12-team NFL has signed 15 of its top 36 candidates or 42 per cent. Eight have turned to the AFL, 11 are undecided, one was traded and one went to Canada.

The figures are based on the top three choices made by each team in both loops, except in the case of the AFL's Buffalo Bills where only the first two choices were available.

While the AFL has been accused of pilfering, the National League has made similar all-out attempts to grab the players it deems essential. The Don Meredith case is the most outstanding.

Meredith, a great passer and imaginative quarterback, was high on the priority list of the Dallas-AFL entry. The Texans figured the SMU standout would be a natural drawing card in their area.

But a Dallas group seeking to gain a franchise in the NFL made Meredith an offer of $100,000 for three years. He grabbed the "personal services" contract with the up-to-now non-existent team.

While such maneuvers go on, most players have to decide which club to join strictly on the merits of the rival leagues.

Top choices such as TCU's Jack Spikes and Richie Lucas of Penn State preferred the opportunities to play, without serving an apprenticeship, afforded by the newly-organized AFL.

On the other hand, players such as George Izo and Monte Stickles of Notre Dame favored the security inherent in the long-established NFL.

Spikes, the leading groundgainer in the Southwest Conference, chose to play close to home with the Dallas Texans of the AFL. He was the No. 1 selection of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL.

Lucas, in a position to sign with Washington of the NFL, feared he might be turned into a defensive specialist by the Redskins. He decided to join Buffalo of the AFL where he likely will be the starting quarterback.

Izo was being wooed by the NFL's Chicago Cardinals and the AFL's New York Titans, both seeking his quarterbacking skills. He chose the Cards.

Stickles, an end, elected to play with the San Francisco 49ers of the NFL rather than the AFL's Los Angeles entry merely because he felt the National League was a better risk.

On a club-by-club basis the Dallas teams—the Texans of the AFL and the proposed Rangers of the NFL have been doing the most business. The champion Baltimore Colts of the NFL, however, have had little success.

The Texans, although losing Meredith, got Robinson, Spikes, North Texas State's Abner Haynes, another Pittsburgh selection, and end Chris Burford of Stanford, a high Cleveland pick.

Besides collaring Meredith, the Rangers have Don Perkins, New Mexico halfback, and Arkansas All-America halfback Jim Mooty ready for action if they are granted a NFL franchise.

The Colts have lost three of their top four draft choices. Don Floyd signed with Houston; Ger Schwedes, halfback for national champion Syracuse, inked a Boston-AFL contract, and Southern Cal tackle Ron Mix was tied down by the Los Angeles Chargers. Mississippi guard Marvin Terrell is among the undecided.

Here's a complete breakdown of the top three draft choices made by the clubs in both leagues showing how much team has done in its recruiting:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

LOS ANGELES — Lost Notre Dame end Monte Stickles to San Francisco of NFL; signed Mississippi fullback Charlie Flowers (also claimed by New York of NFL); Iowa halfback Bob Jeter to Canada.

DALLAS — Lost SMU quarterback Don Meredith to Dallas of NFL; signed LSU halfback Johnny Robinson (also claimed by Detroit of NFL); Northwestern tackle Gene Gossage undecided.

DENVER — Lost Trinity center Jack LeClerc to Chicago Bears of NFL; TCU halfback Jack Spikes traded to and signed by Dallas; Arkansas quarterback Jim Monroe undecided.

BUFFALO — Signed Penn State quarterback Richie Lucas; Ohio State end Jim Houston unsigned.

SEC Dominates All-Academic 11

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Southeastern Conference, with four representatives, dominates the All - Star academic football team selected by votes of sports writers in all parts of the country and announced Saturday.

Charlie Flowers, University of Mississippi fullback and a pre-law student, received the most votes—298. Jackie Burkett, Auburn center, was second with 187 votes.

The Southeast and Midwest each placed nine players on the three All-America academic teams, the Southwest six, the East four, the Rocky Mountain area three and the South and Pacific Coast one each.

To qualify scholastically for the academic team, a player must have averaged B or better during the last grading period.

Members of the three teams were picked by the vote of 410 sports editors of daily newspapers in all parts of the country.

The second team: Leonard Jardine of Purdue and Henry Derleth of Wisconsin, ends; Charles Strange of Louisiana State and Gene Gossage of Northwestern, tackles; Pat Dye of Georgia and Howard Bronson of Air Force, guards; Wayne Harris of Arkansas, center; Dwight Nichols of Iowa State, Joe Tranchini of Navy, Bob White of Ohio State and Tom Moore of Vanderbilt, backs.

The third team: Al Witcher of Baylor and Greville Munger of Penn, ends; Jerry Thompson of Oklahoma and Jerry Mays of Southern Methodist, tackles; Ken Adamson of Notre Dame and Bill Popp of Penn State, guards; Tom Swaney of Missouri, center; Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, Lance Alworth of Arkansas, Gale Weidner of Colorado and James Monroe of Arkansas, backs.

The All-Star academic football team is sponsored by the College Sports Information Directors of America and the American Peoples Encyclopedia.

OKLAHOMA AIDE

Jones Among Top Grid Assistants

By WILBUR JOHNSON

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Assistant coaches in the complex game of collegiate football sometimes find themselves in the role of the expendable. But one of their rank apparently is sitting on top of the world.

He's Gomer Thomas Jones, who has molded raw recruits into linemen of national prominence while serving as Bud Wilkinson's assistant at Oklahoma for 13 years.

There is probably no closer relationship between a head coach and his top assistant than Wilkinson and Jones. They have created a football dynasty and have kept the Sooners in the top 10 teams of the Associated Press poll for 11 of their 13 years.

The big question is why Jones has remained at Oklahoma as an assistant when he could have accepted several head jobs at lucrative salaries.

His answer is simple.

"We like it here, we like the people of Oklahoma, the people of Norman and the kids of the Southwest," he said in a recent interview.

"The boys in our area (Oklahoma and Texas) don't go out just to play football, they play for keeps. Our teams have developed pride and as the boys come along they try to live up to an established reputation and feel proud to help keep the winning spirit alive."

Jones' position is unique. His judgment probably is more respected than most assistant coaches and Wilkinson has described him as a "partner." Folks in Oklahoma call him "our other head coach."

Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Houston are a few of the schools which tempted Jones with good offers during the years when Oklahoma was riding high and wide.

Those close to the scene say Jones is paid probably as much as a lot of head coaches.

Jones joined Wilkinson when he became head coach in 1947, and says "I've never gone looking for another job.

"I have received numerous offers but each time there were a few things that couldn't be settled. Either I asked for too much, or there were other factors."

Jones' loyalty to Oklahoma has not been overlooked. When those other schools were dangling financial lures, the board of regents promoted him to assistant athletic director, with a boost in salary.

About the same time, the folks of Oklahoma chipped in their dimes and dollars to buy him an expensive automobile.

Oklahoma's success through the Wilkinson - Jones regime has depended largely on great line play. Jones developed All-Americas Jerry Tubbs, Jim Weatherall, J. D. Roberts and Kurt Burris, and such stars as Bob Harrison and Tom Catlin, to name a few.

And what makes Oklahoma linemen so good?

Hard work by Jones, who puts all of his 205 pounds into action to show his boys first hand how it should be done. He emphasizes that the most important thing for a lineman to learn is footwork.

"Good footwork is necessary in this day of fast, alert football because if you're a step late or a step in the wrong direction the play is past you," he pointed out. "Of course, we consider that a boy already has the aggressiveness when he makes the squad, but it's another important factor."

When he first came to Oklahoma, Gomer would butt it out with the boys in practice.

"I used to go full speed, but now I guess I'm only a half-speeder," he quipped.

Playing experience as an interior lineman at Ohio State from 1933 through 1935 provided Jones with his coaching know-how. He was considered one of the best centers in the nation his junior and senior years with the Buckeyes and was one of the stars of the East-West game in 1936.

The East won that game 19-3 and Gomer helped out by scoring with an interception.

"But," he added "I also centered the ball to the wrong player and that put the West in position for its field goal."

Gomer and his wife, Jeanette, known as Jennie, derive much pleasure from their 7-year-old boxer "Princess."

"Every coach should have a dog," Jones advises, "because when you come home after a tough game he will greet you in the same old way, not knowing whether you won or lost."

Graves Lands 5-Year Pact With Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Georgia Tech chief assistant Ray Graves, a defensive specialist, signed a five-year contract as Athletic Director and Head Football Coach at the University of Florida Saturday and promptly promised to "stress and emphasize offense."

Graves, 41-year-old Knoxville, Tenn., native, succeeds Bob Woodruff, another ex-Tennessee star and former Georgia Tech assistant who resigned under pressure Dec. 2 because his conservative tactics proved unpopular with some alumni, sports writers and fans.

Graves said he considered the $17,000-a-year job "a real opportunity and challenge.

"I have my own ideas about offense," he said. "After working with defense, I think I have discovered which offense is toughest to stop." He said that offense, which Florida will use, is a multiple offense with a slot, the wingback and the man in motion.

"I know the fans want to see offensive football and the trend is that way," he said. "I intend to supply this type of football. I want the fans to know I intend to stress and emphasize offense. . ."

Graves, who indicated he would approach several of Bobby Dodd's assistants at Georgia Tech as Florida staff additions, said he was going to try to get "one of the top offensive specialists in the country" as one of his assistants. He did not name this specialist. Graves said he also would interview several Florida assistants.

Graves also promised a campaign to get more of the top players in Florida to come to the university, and he said that he would like to include a big eastern school and possibly a big ten school on future Florida schedules.

Clubhouse To Be Open To Braves Early

MILWAUKEE, (AP) — Members of the Milwaukee Braves spending the winter in the Milwaukee area will be given the use of clubhouse facilities to condition themselves prior to the start of spring training activities in Florida.

General Manager John McHale announced Saturday that starting next week a special indoor prespring training exercise program will be held each morning, Monday through Friday, in the visitors' clubhouse at Milwaukee County Stadium.

Ben Geraghty, manager of the Braves' Louisville club of the American Assn., will supervise the program. He will be assisted by Braves' trainer Doc Feron, and equipment manager Joe Taylor.

Players currently living in the Milwaukee area are Eddie Mathews, Johnny Logan, Del Crandall, Billy Bruton, Wes Covington, Frank Torre, Bob Hartman and John DeMerit.

Aillet To Speak At Grid Banquet

BUNKIE, La. (Special) — Joe Aillet, Athletic Director and head football coach at Louisiana Tech, will be the principal speaker at the annual Bunkie High School awards banquet here Jan. 28.

Bunkie reached the state finals for the second straight year in Class A play the past season.

Awards to be made by Bunkie businessmen include most valuable non-letterman, most valuable back, most valuable lineman, most improved player, scholarship, and most valuable player.

PLAY-FOR-PAY BOWL

West Choice To Beat East Pros

By JOE ST. AMANT

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The top pro football stars of the nation began practice here Saturday for the 10th annual pro bowl game a week hence at the Coliseum with the West all-stars already installed as three-point favorites.

Rugged pros from all parts of the National Football League map converged on the practice fields — the Westerners at Wrigley Field under coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco Forty Niners, and the Easterners at the University of Southern California's Bovard Field under Buck Shaw of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The West which has a 5-4 edge in the series gained the favorite's role in the betting marts apparently because of the presence of quarterback Johnny Unitas and five of his team mates from the champion Baltimore Colts.

At last year's game a record crowd of 72,250 watched the under dog East win 28-21.

This year the sponsoring Los Angeles Newspaper Publishers Assn. expects a crowd of at least 75,000 in this city where everything seems to get bigger year-by-year.

The pros always put on a good show in this game and they have a incentive aside from personal pride — the winners get a few hundred bucks more than the losers.

There is no doubt about the seriousness of the players and coaches. Two-a-day workouts will be held up until a few days before the big game.

Unitas has a good nucleus of the Colt team including his favorite passing targets, end Ray Berry and halfback Lenny Moore. Moore played a large part in dumping the New York Giants for the second year in the NFL championship game. Other Colts participating with the offensive team are tackle Jim Parker and guard Art Spinney.

On defense, the Colts will be represented by end Gino Marchetti and the monster tackle, Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb.

To offset the sort of mayhem planned by the West, the East has numerous large and efficient characters. On offense they have quarterback Norm Van Brocklin who left the Los Angeles Rams for the Eagles in a huff in 1957 and will be playing before a crowd which alternately booed and cheered the colorful Dutchman.

Van Brocklin will have in his backfield crunching Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns at fullback and the versatile Frank Gifford of the New York Giants and John Crow of the Chicago Cardinals at the halfback posts.

Offensively, the Easterners' line will not be prepared to find a hole and hide. It includes tackles Roosevelt Brown, a real big man from the Giants, and Ken Panfil, former Ram now with the Cardinals, and end Bob Schnelker of the Giants.

Defensively, the East has such standouts as linebackers Sam Huff of the Giants, and Walt Michaels of the Browns, and tackles Bob Toneff of the Washington Redskins and Frank Fuller, another former Ram who went to the Cardinals in the Ollie Matson deal.

Lane, Dupas Meet In Top Bout Of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich. and Ralph Dupas of New Orleans meet Wednesday at Mobile, Ala. in the most important bout of a skimpy boxing program for the week.

It will be the third scrap between the two who are ranked among the top 10 in the world in the Ring ratings which lists Lane No. 6 and Dupas No. 8. The National Boxing Assn. ranks Dupas No. 10 and lists Lane as the leading junior welter challenger of champion Carlos Ortiz.

Dupas beat Lane in 1955 and Lane reversed it in 1956. The Michigan southpaw has whipped Virgil Akins and Ray Lancaster since he was stopped on cuts by Ortiz last June 12. Dupas lost to Rudell Stitch in October but stopped Pat Lowry in six rounds. Nov. 17. Lane has a 58-7 record and Dupas 78-13-6.

The Dupas-Lane bout will be seen on ABC television.

There will be no TV boxing show this week on Friday with a bowling program taking over the usual time period.

Two unbeaten young lightweights top a Tuesday program in Buffalo, N.Y. where Jackie Donnelly of Buffalo boxes Dick DiVeroniva, Carmen Basilio's protege from Syracuse. Donnelly has a 17-0-1 with only a draw to mark a perfect record for 18 pro starts. DiVeronica has won all 23 pro bouts.

Charlie Powell, the ex-football player from San Diego who recently was flattened by Mike DeJohn, will try to start a comeback Monday at Las Vegas, Nev. against Howard King of Reno.

The Monday night series at New York's Academy of Music will resume after a holidy layoff. In the feature eight-rounder, it will be Joey Donovan of New York with 20-1 record against Puerto Rico's Julio Santiago who is unbeaten but has three draws in nine pro fights.

Charlie (Tombstone) Smith, once a ranked welter from Los Angeles, faces Kid Rayo of Nicaragua in a Tuesday show at Los Angeles.

Old Hickory Purse Goes To Audience

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Greentree Stable's Audience, a front-running son of Native Dancer, withstood the stretch charge by the favored Tenacious Saturday to win the $10,000 Old Hickory purse at the Fair Grounds.

The 4-year-old gelding, who raced with the leaders throughout the mile-and-one-sixteenth event, went under the wire a length in front of Mrs. Joe Brown's Tenacious. Crabgrass Stable's Beauguerre took the show spot.

The crowd of 12,327 made Audience second choice to Tenacious and the Greentree racer returned $6.40, $3.40 and $2.80. Tenacious paid $4 and $3.20, while Beauguerre returned $3.40.

The winning time was 1:45.

The daily double returned $18.60 with Shack Quest ($7) winning the first and Rebel Money ($5.80) taking the second.

Fans bet $571,331 on the nine-race card.

Tech Routs Maroons In SEC Battle

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia Tech added Mississippi State to its list of basketball victims Saturday night with a 82-60 victory in a Southeastern Conference clash before an overflow crowd of more than 7,000 at Alexander Memorial Coliseum.

Roger Kaiser led Tech out of a tight situation in the first half by scoring nine points in less than two minutes on his way to high point honors with 21.

It was the second straight SEC victory for the Yellow Jackets, who are rated No. 6 in The Associated Press national poll.

Tech now has a 10-1 over-all mark. Mississippi State, 6-6 for the season, is 1-2 in the SEC. The Maroons are defending conference champions.

Tech threw a tight defensive clamp on Jerry Graves, leading State scorer who came into the game with a 22.1 scoring average. Graves managed 12 points, but was limited to three field goals, all of which came in the second half.

Mississippi State spurted to a 3-0 lead in the first minute of play, but Tech forged ahead by five points during an early Maroon cold streak.

Mississippi State stayed on Tech's heels and once grabbed the lead 14-13, but two free throws by Dave Denton put Tech ahead to stay after less than 10 minutes had elapsed.

Wrestlers To Give Charity Show Monday

JONESVILLE, La. (Special) — A March of Dimes benefit wrestling event will be held at the Block high school auditorium on Monday, Jan. 11, beginning at 8:15 p.m., it was announced yesterday.

A special event will be a 15 minute time limit one fall match between Sonny Champlin of Jonesville and Pat Ryan of Dublin, Ireland.

Two other matches will follow, both one hour time limit with two out of three falls. Featured in the first one - hour match will be Lhil Bruomett of Alexandr Phil Brummett of Alexandria and The Wild Louisiana Cajun.

The last match will feature Billy Starr of St. Louis, Mo. versus Jack Snow of Little Rock, Ark.

Champlin, Jonesville businessman, has taken issue with Ryan for stating that he can beat the local hero in five minutes of the 15-minute bout.

The wrestling event is being staged to aid in the new March of Dimes fund drive in Catahoula parish.

"Every dime that is contributed in this "strong legs will wrestle so weak legs can walk again," wrestling event will be of tremendous value to the cause," Champlin, who is sponsor of the event, said.

Conservative Monti Holds Lead In Los Angeles Open

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teaching professional Eric Monti gave his fellow pros a lesson in conservative but successful golf Saturday as he held the lead at the mid-way point of the $37,500 Los Angeles Open.

The 41-year-old Los Angeles pro, whose pupils include such amateurs as Jack Benny, Groucho Marx and other Hollywoodites, shot an even par 71. Coupled with his first round 66, it gave Monti a 36-hole total of 137.

Play was at the Rancho municipal course, a 7,000-yard layout with 35-35—71 par.

Monti's lead, just as it was Friday, was slim.

One stroke back was capable Dow Finsterwald, with 70-68—138, and at 139 was Jim Ferree, a young player from Crystal River, Fla., with 68-71.

While Monti and his nearest challengers grabbed the spotlight, all was not well with some of the pre-tournament favorites.

Last year's winner, Ken Venturi, took a 75 for a total of 147.

Five strokes off tht pace were Art Wall Jr. and Bo Winninger with 73s, and Jay Hebert, 72, among others.

Nestled even farther back at 143 were Doug Ford with a 69, Gene Littler with a 72, and Jimmy Clark, who followed his first round 67 with a 76.

The 146 bracket included such erstwhile threats as National Open champion Billy Casper, with a 72, Arnold Palmer, with a 74, and Mike Souchak, who shot the first nine in a wild 43 and the second nine in 32 for a 75.

Back toward the top of the roll, at 140, were Dick Knight of San Diego, whose 66 was low for the day; Johnny Bulla, who won this tournament in 1941, with a 72; Ken Still, Tacoma, Wash., 71; Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., also 71, and Bill Collins of Denver with a 70.

Young Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., who led this tournament at the 36-hole point last year, had a 73 for 141 and a tie with six others, including ex-U.S. Open champion Jack Fleck, who took a 73.

Monti, who described the course as "sloppy," said he still isn't feeling well in a running bout with the flu. Yet he had but one bogey during the dull, damp afternoon.

He missed the 16th green and finally scrambled down in five strokes. But he squared matters on the 18th after another scare. His approach landed in the bleachers. Permitted to retrive the ball without penalty, he chipped down 6 feet from the cup and holed out for a birdie 4 and a 35-36-71 round.

The leaders:

Eric Monti	66-71—137
Dow Finsterwald	70-68—138
Jim Ferree	68-71—139

Wilt Nets 48 As Warriors Defeat Nats

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Led by Wilt Chamberlain's 48 points and 31 rebounds, the Philadelphia Warriors Saturday defeated Syracuse 119-112 for their seventh straight National Basketball Assn. victory.

The loss snapped a three game winning streak for Syracuse. George Yardley was high man for Syracuse with 29 points while teammate Johnny Kerr collected 20 in the national televised game.

The Warriors had a 62-55 point advantage at half time. Syracuse battled back in the third quarter, getting as close as 80-76. But Tom Gola, a 21 point contributor, and Vern Halton teamed up to run off 13 points for a 99-86 three-quarter lead.

At the start of the final quarter Syracuse rallied, closing the gap to 108-103. But Chamberlain went to work with six straight points as he cleared the boards with regularity. This put the Warriors out of reach at 119-108.

Paul Arizin of the Warriors shared scoring honors with 22.

Chamberlain had 20 field goals, breaking the old Convention Hall record of 19.

Mulloy Easily Beats Zuleta In Dixie Play

TAMPA, Fla., (AP) — Gray-haired Gardnar Mulloy dumped young Eduardo Zuleta and Mike Davies defeated Ed Mandarino in semifinals play of the Dixie international tennis championships Saturday.

Mulloy, 45, of Miami, second-seeded in the Dixie, played a steady backcourt game to easily defeat the 22-year-old Eduadorian, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

England's Davies, third-seeded, ran into a little trouble with the spunky Brazilian but his speedy serves proved the deciding factor in the 6-3, 6-2, 6-1 match.

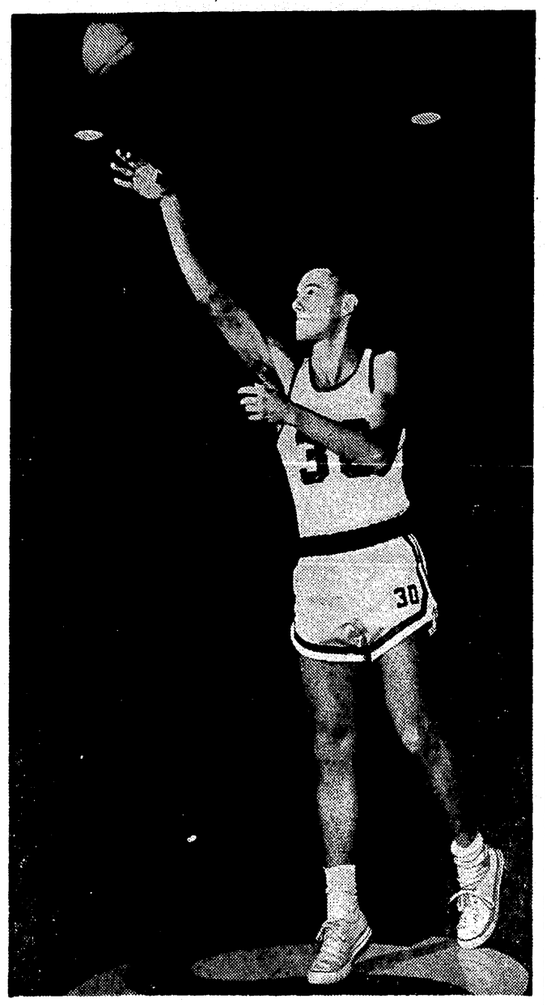
Top-seeded Laura Lou Kunnen of Clearwater, Fla., ousted Judy Alvarez of Tampa 6-3, 6-2, in the women's division, while Sandy Warshaw, also of Tampa, washed out Maggie Beeland, Clearwater, 6-3, 6-2.

Finals are set for Sunday.

Stynchula Signs With Redskins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins of the National Football League Saturday announced the signing of Andy Stynchula, Penn State tackle, for the 1960 season.

Stynchula, a 6-3½, 240-pounder from Old Crabtree, Pa., was signed at Mobile, Ala., by Asst. Coach Bill McPeak just after the Senior Bowl football game. Terms of the contract accepted by the Redskins' No. 3 draft choice were not disclosed.



EX-REBEL HERE MONDAY — Shelby Aulds, 5-10 former West Monroe prep star, and his Southwestern teammates will play Northeast here Monday night in a GSC game at Ouachita.

Oakland Presses Franchise Bid

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Oakland pressed its bid for an American Football League franchise Saturday as Mayor Clifford Rishell envisioned pro football eventually leading to a major league baseball team for this city.

Still unsettled, however, was where money for the bootball franchise would come from.

Lamar Hunt, president of the AFL as well as its Dallas franchise, said he was personally encouraged by enthusiasm shown during a meeting with Oakland leaders.

He added both Atlanta and Miami had made formal bids while the Oakland situation still was on an informal basis.

Mayor Rishell said studies would begin immediately on a proposal to build a stadium for a multiple operation—for both football and baseball.

"We think the American (baseball) League might come here and locate in the future," he said at a news conference which followed the meeting with Hunt.

Barron Hilton, owner of the AFL Los Angeles Chargers and leader in the move to get a second AFL team on the West Coast, said he felt the league was unbalanced without another team on the coast. "I feel I've convinced Mr. Hunt that Oakland and the bay area should have the eighth team," Hilton said.

Hunt said there were no plans now to expand beyond eight teams but if there should be a later expansion, the two cities not given franchises this time probably would be first in line.

"I don't have any real preference except I appreciate Barron's feeling that he should have a second West Coast team. Keeping in mind we may never go beyond eight teams, it might be a good idea to come to Oakland now," Hunt said.

Mentioned as possible playing sites until a new stadium is built were Candlestick Park and Kezar Stadium, homes of the San Francisco Giant baseball team and the pro football 49ers, and the University of California stadium at Berkeley.

The eighth franchise became available when backers of a proposed Minneapolis-St. Paul club withdrew. Other AFL franchises are in Dallas, Houston, New York, Boston, Buffalo, Denver and Los Angeles.

Ingo, Jenson To Get Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, world heavyweight champion, and Marv Jenson, fight manager, will receive the main awards Thursday at the 34th annual dinner of the Boxing Writers' Assn. of New York.

Johansson will accept the Edward J. Neil award as "Fighter of the Year." The award was named for the late Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in the war in Spain. Jenson will receive the James J. Walker award for long and meritorious service to boxing.

AULDS IN LINEUP

SLI Here For Contest Monday

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — The SLI Bulldogs go on their first road journey in GSC competition when they travel up to North Louisiana for two contests two with two tough teams in Northeast and Louisiana Tech.

When the Bulldogs go to Monroe, it will be something of a homecoming for one of the Bulldog co-captains, Shelby Aulds. Shelby is a native of West Monroe where he attended high school and played a lot of basketball for West Monroe High.

Aulds is the smallest man on the Bulldog varsity team at 5'10", but is one of the squad's real hustlers and a fine ball handler. Only a sophomore, he will be around for two more seasons after this one.
one.

Northeast has a squad built around freshman. Coach Lenny Fant's squad this year has more height but less experience than the Indian team which finished fifth in the six-club GSC last season.

One starter returns for Northeast, Ronald Doyle, a 6'2" forward who Fant used as the necleus for his club. Other portable starters will be Fred Bradley, Lanny Johnson, Gene Cozine and Charley Barnes.

The Bulldogs will go with Aulds and Bill McHorris at the guards, Larry Simon and Tim Thompson at forwards and Howard Humphreys will be the center. First line reserves who should see considerable action include Richard Britton, Bob Verlander, John Redding, and Valdo Zavich.

The game will be played in the New Ouachita High School gym in Monroe with tipoff time being 8 p.m.

Britton Slates Cage Tourney

RAYVILLE, La. (Special) — Eula D. Britton High School inaugurates its first annual Dragoland Basketball Tournament for boys here Friday afternoon.

Opening games on the Friday agenda pit Terzia of Monroe against Magnolia of Pioneer at 4:30, Alto against Ester Tombs and Rhymes against Eula D. Britton.

Five games have been scheduled for Saturday. Carroll meets Morehouse at 9 a.m., followed by the Waverly - Tensas battle at 10. Oak Grove takes on Union Central at 11, Lake Providence plays the winner of the first game at 12 and Tallulah battles the winner of the sixth game at 3.

Newcomer On Monday Card In Local Ring

A 248 - pound member of the "strongest family in the world" makes his first appearance before Monroe fans Monday night when wrestling resumes at B&B Arena after a week layoff.

The newcomer is Adrian Baellangeon, a Canadian grappler. Al Massey, who recommended Baellangeon to local promoter August Baumgartner, says he is the "sixth brother of the strongest family in the world."

Massey, a frequent performer as a wrestler and referee here, says the 6 - 4 Canadian can "wrestle terrifically."

Baellangeon will team with Jack Larue and Chris Belkas against Firpo Zybysko, Carlos Mendoza and Jack Kennedy in a six - man tag team match, the evening's main event.

The relay scrap will have a 90-minute limit with two falls to win.

A pair of 15-minute battles will open the program. Kennedy tangles with Belkas, a former state heavyweight champion, in one of the preliminaries. Zybysko, another ex-state titleholder, matches holds with Baellangeon in the other.

Lew Fonseca To Be Feted By Scribes

CHICAGO (AP)—Lew Fonseca, former major league star and now director of motion pictures for baseball, will be honored for long and meritorious service to the game at the 20th Diamond Dinner of the Chicago Baseball Writers Jan. 17.

Fonseca, starting his 26th year in promotion of the major leagues, will receive the J. Louis Comiskey award, the top trophy given by the Chicago writers.

An infielder, Fonseca played for the Reds, the Phils, Indians and White Sox. He managed the White Sox in 1932, 1933 and part of 1934.

Films directed by Fonseca, including World Series movies, last year were viewed by an estimated 13½ million fans.

Celtics Move Past Pistons By 126-103

DETROIT (AP) — The Boston Celtics, who had lost four of their last five games, feasted on the Detroit Pistons again Saturday night, winning 126-103.

It marked the fifth straight time this season and the 23rd time in 25 games over the last three seasons that the Celtics have downed Detroit.

A Boston explosion, which started late in the third period and carried over into the fourth, turned what had been a close game into a rout.

The Pistons had fought Boston even during the first half which ended 60-60. Then Detroit went ahead 82-77 with three minutes left in the third period.

At this juncture Boston hit a hot streak and Detroit went cold with the result that the Celtics pulled ahead 90-84 going into the final period. Then they blew the game wide open by scoring 12 straight points while blanking Detroit.

City Drug Nips Ruston Quint By 55-54 Count

FARMERVILLE, La. (Special) — Stein Baughman's 30-foot bucket in the finals keep City Drug of Farmerville undefeated with a 55-54 victory over City Service of Ruston.

The win was the eighth straight for Fuzzy Huff's crew, while City Service dropped its first contest in six meetings.

L. V. Norris whipped in 30 points to pace the win while Jim White netted 12 and Lou Bravo notched 10.

Bud Frye sparked the losers with 28 points.

Huff announced a new team had been added to the all-girls' Monroe Merchants Tournament here Saturday. Eros joined Northeast, Lakeshore Washerettes and Jackson, Miss., in the meet. First, second and trophies will be awarded along with medals for the most valuable player and the best sport.

Jackson Signs

BOSTON (AP)—Ron Jackson, a 6-7 first baseman obtained in a trade with the Chicago White Sox Saturday returned his signed contract to the Boston Red Sox. He is the fourth to sign for 1960 with the Red Sox.

MAY CERTIFY GAMES

NCAA To Take Long Look At Post-Season Contests

By JIM KENSIL

NEW YORK (AP) — The NCAA is going to take a good look at post-season football and basketball all-star games involving college athletes.

The policy-making council of National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Saturday appointed a special committee to study the feasibility and desirability of certifying such games. Now only bowl games involving teams representing NCAA-member colleges come under certification.

Walt Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said: "The study is being made because of queries from other member colleges regarding the further athletic eligibility of students who play in the all-star games."

Byers added, "It is not a direct result of complaints by officials of the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala."

Earlier this week the Senior Bowl, the only post-season football game in which the players actually turn pro, complained it was being discriminated against because other post-season games were paying excessive expenses which topped the $600 maximum at the senior bowl. The "expenses" went unreported to the players' colleges.

The NCAA last year recommended any payments received by players in the Senior Bowl be deducted from their financial aid support given by the university.

Byers said the committee study was spurred chiefly by a desire to assure colleges that senior players in post-season games, other than the Senior Bowl, will be eligible for sports played after the football and basketball season.

The council also discussed a proposal before the American Football Coaches Assn. for a mid-June college all-star game between East and West teams.

As proposed by Jack Curtice of Stanford, the game would be played in the Rose Bowl with the proceeds going mainly to the National Football Hall of Fame. Soldier Field, Chicago, and the Sugar Bowl were other proposed sites. All players would be seniors who have completed their athletic eligibility.

The idea, however, is considered still very much in the formative stage and the council had no comment.

The next council meeting will be April 25-27 at an undetermined site so the indefinite probation imposed on the University of Oklahoma this week will last at least until then. The committee on infractions, which investigates violations of the athletic code, next meets Feb. 28-March 1, site undetermined, and could consider any new evidence available in the Oklahoma case for presentation in the council in April.

The council wound up the week long NCAA convention by reappointing the entire television committee for another year. The chairman will be selected later.

The infractions committee also remained intact, but George H. Young of Wisconsin will replace G. D. Kirway of Kentucky as chairman.

The collegiate scene now shifts to Miami Beach, Fla., where next week the NCAA Football Rules Committee will tackle the question of returning unlimited substitution to the college game.

Lake Providence Football Banquet Scheduled Friday

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La. (Special) —The Lake Providence Lions Club will host their annual football banquet at a local restaurant Friday, January 15, at 8 o'clock.

The members and coaches of the Panther squad will be special guests.

Trophies will be awarded to the best lineman, best back, and the most improved player of the year.

Sheriff J. W. Gilbert will donate and present the award for best lineman. The trophy for the best back will be a gift of Lion S. V. Fissel, who will make his presentation, and trophy for the most improved player of the year will be presented by the Lions Club.

Kansas Staters Take 65-60 Nod

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Kansas State battled back in the second half Saturday and took a 65-60 televised basketball victory from Missouri despite a 29-point effort by the Tigers' Charlie Henke.

K-State jumped into an early lead and held the advantage for 16 minutes but Missouri rallied to take a 31-29 lead at halftime.

Great Backs Make Eastern Team Choice

HONOLULU (AP) — On the strength of their back field, the East all stars, coached by Paul Dietzel of Louisiana State, are a one-touchdown favorite over Bud Wilkinson's West all stars in the 14th annual Hula Bowl game Sunday.

Dietzel's has quarterback Richie Lucas, of Penn State; halfbacks Billy Cannon, LSU, and Ron Burton, Northwestern, and fullback Charlie Flowers of Mississippi.

Wilkinson's ace is Southern Methodist quarterback Don Meredith, who passed the West to victory in last week's Shrine game in San Francisco. Chris Burford, Stanford end, and Dick Bass, College of the Pacific halfback, Meredith's main targets last week, also are with the West Hula team.

Other backfield starters for Wilkinson are halfback Bill Bucek, Rice, and fullback Jack Spikes, Texas Christian.

Ohio State end Jim Houston will be out of action. He suffered an arm injury in the Shrine game and his recovery has been so slow that Dietzel has decided to let him sit out the game.

Dean Look, Michigan State, and Durel Matherne, Louisiana State, are expected to share the passing duties for the East with Lucas.

Meredith's relief will be Bobby Boyd, Oklahoma quarterback.

RULES COMMITTEE

Platoon System Due For Setback

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Barring a last-minute change in sentiment by the NCAA Football Rules Committee, a proposal for a return of unlimited substitution and platoon football will be voted down at meetings to be held here Jan. 11-13.

Although the sentiment of the nation's coaches is clearly in favor of unlimited substitutions, the conservative-minded eight - man NCAA Rules Committee is not likely to go along with the majority.

Lou Little, chairman of the American Football Coaches Assn. announced at meetings in New York during the past week that his group voted by a 2 to 1 majority to bring back platoon - type football which was abandoned after the 1952 season.

However, the NCAA convention as a whole recommended by a Rules Committee keep the current vote of 90 to 46 Friday that the rules in effect for at least another season.

The Rules Committee, headed by Gen. Bob Neyland of Tennessee, is not bound to carry out the recommendations of either group. But it is known that at least half its members are opposed to unlimited substitution.

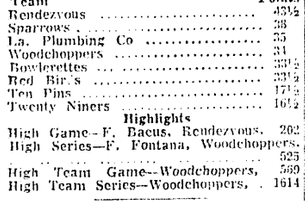
The anti-platoon group includes Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, Jess Neely of Rice, Dave Nelson of Delaware and John Roning of Denver.

Other voting members of the committee are Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin, Leo Harris of Oregon, Frank Howard of Clemson and Norm Daniels of Wesleyan (Conn.) Neyland votes only in case of a tie.

Both sides for that a return to platoon football would benefit the smaller colleges.

"The fewer the restrictions on substituting, the greater ability a coach can get out of a small squad," said Little.

Opponents of platooning feel it requires excessively large squads, which results in overzealous recruiting and subsequent NCAA violations by the schools.



The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

Villanova Joins Dixie Classic

RALEIGH, N. C., (AP)—Villanova was added Saturday to the list of teams for the 1960 Dixie basketball classic.

Two other out-of-state teams, Wyoming and Marquette, already have accepted bids to the tourney, which pits four visiting teams against North Carolina's "big four"—Wake Forest, Duke, North Carolina and Noth Carolina State. The three-day event begins Dec. 29.

CRASH SURVIVOR — Virginia Arnold, the 11-year-old who was the sole survivor of the Sibley plane crash that took the lives of her parents and brother, left the Ruston hospital Friday to return to Oklahoma with relatives. The young girl was taken into the hearts of Rustonites.

Change Of Pace Due In Life Of Presidential Candidate

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next six months will be a change of pace for young Robert F. Kennedy.

Last year he spent a good deal of his time staring gangsters in the eye and calling them sissies.

This year, at least until the Democratic National Convention, he'll be working actively to get his older brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy, the presidential nomination.

Bob Kennedy has traveled the political trail before. At the age of 26 he managed the campaign in which brother John won election to the Senate in 1952.

Right now he's working on a book about the hearings of the Senate committee which he served for 2½ tempestuous years as chief counsel and top investigator. He resigned last fall.

Those who have seen the manuscript predict that some of the personalities mentioned won't relish whath they read. It's to be published in February.

Kennedy won't discuss details of the book. He says it deals with, among other things, the good and the bad he believes congressional investigations can cause, depending upon how they are handled.

For the tough job of Senate investigator Kennedy seemed too young, too mild and serious, too shy and inexperienced. His voice sounds very youthful. More people address him as Bob or Bobby than as Mr. Kennedy.

But his appearance is quite misleading. Kennedy is 34, the father of seven children, a lawyer who knows his way around. He has been a war correspondent and an adventure seeker around the globe.

Big shot mobsters, labor union leaders, veteran lawyers and business executives old enough to be his father never seemed to realize in time that underestimating Kennedy was a mistake.

The tough, the pompous and the evasive, one after another chose to match wits with Kennedy, only to run into deflating thrusts.

He showed a knack for swiftly spotting a lie, a half-truth or a self-serving gap in the truth, and pointed it out derisively.

Kennedy had a favorite device for dealing with witnesses who gave long, evasive replies.

"Oh?" he'd ask, and let a long silence emphasize the ridicule he managed to get into the single word. Then: "Now, answer the question."

James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, was Kennedy's pet target. The committee's investigation led to the expulsion of Hoffa and the Teamsters from the AFL-CIO, based on allegations that the Teamsters under Hoffa had become a disgrace to organized labor.

Clothed with immunity from lawsuit for anything he might say in a hearing, Kennedy called Hoffa an ally of gangsters. Hoffa dared him to step outside this immunity and repeat the allegations.

Kennedy went on a televised program, denounced Hoffa afresh and invited Hoffa to make good the threat to sue.

"Hoffa hasn't sued me yet," Kennedy told a reporter. "I wish he would."

Like his senator brother who is on the Senate Labor-Management Committee, Kennedy is a Democrat. Last September the committee's Republican members insisted on the hearings to explore allegations of wrongdoing in the United Auto Workers Union. This union usually supports Democrats in political campaigns.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and some other GOP committee members acused Kennedy of trying to prevent any real investigation of the UAW.

The Kennedy brothers contended the Republicans had politics on their mind in insisting on the probe.

Bob Kennedy's hot temper boiled over in a public hearing, with a bitter protest that the Republicans were bringing in evidence long before discredited.

"That's why this whole hearing is such a fraud," he flared.

Kennedy resigned shortly afterward and began writing his history of the investigations. His friends say that Kennedy's book will reflect his thoughts that if you're going to tread on toes at all you might as well stomp hard.

The book is titled "The Enemy Within." He says this describes the danger to the nation from corrupt and powerful labor union, business and underworld figures a ng in combine.

Any profits from sale of the book will go to charity, Kennedy says—to aid handicapped children. He heads the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. foundation, established in memory of his brother who lost his life as a naval pilot in World War II. The foundation provides aid for research and treatment in this field. He is a son of Joseph P. Kennedy, Boston financier and former ambassador to England.

Kennedy is known as a hard worker, sets a hard pace for his staff, and has a faculty for commanding the loyalty of his aides. He was often the first of the staff in the office, and the last to leave well past midnight as he prepared painstakingly for major hearings.

The investigations provided the basis for the controversial labor-reform law Congress enacted in 1959. Many observers thought Kennedy's televised pleas to the public to urge Congress members to enact a law tough enough to force a cleanup of corrupt unions had much to do with the final shape of the law.

Detectives Push Search For Heiress

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives said Saturday they have questioned eight persons in their search for Gamble Benedict, 18, heiress to the Remington Typewriter fortune, missing since Dec. 27.

The names of those questioned were not disclosed.

The girl may have eloped with a man she had been seeing since last August, police theorize.

Her grandmother, Katherine Geddes Benedict, said Gamble had vanished from her upper East Side home the day after a dinner dance given in her honor. Mrs. Benedict is the widow of Henry Harper Benedict, former president of the Remington Typewriter Co.

Miss Benedict did not return to Briarcliff College, where she was a freshman, after the Christmas holidays.

Gamble's disappearance has been investigated quietly, without the usual widespread alarm sent on missing persons.

The family attorney, Robert Hoffman, said a girl believed to be Gamble had telephoned Dec. 30 to say she would return the next day. She did not appear, however.

Mrs. Benedict was quoted as saying the couple may have left the country. She said the man is in his 30s.

Miss Benedict's mother, the former Josephine Benedict, died of an overdose of sleeping pills in 1946. Her father, Dr. J. Douglass Sharpe, a psychiatrist, signed away his legal one-third of the estate after his wife's death but later tried unsuccessfully to revoke his action.

The girl and her brother, Douglas, 19, have lived with their grandmother since their mother's death.

Miss Benedict made her debut last Dec. 21 at the Cotillion Ball here.

By, for, and about WOMEN

The Monroe area with its wealth of game has been a "Happy Hunting Ground" for many who enjoy the sport. Here are a few who are avid hunters.

Monroe Morning World

January 10

Dr. Scott Hamilton and daughter, Miss Ashley Hamilton have enjoyed many afternoons of dove and quail shooting on their farm near Cheniere Dam. They find it is close enough for them to run out for a couple hours of relaxation and get back to town for other pressing activities.

Happy over getting their limit of doves are Mr. Charles Garretson, Mrs. Garretson and Mrs. David I. Garrett. The doves shown were killed at Jones after an all day hunt in the rain. However, the rain didn't dampen the spirits of these determined hunters.

Hunting has been good at Jones and Alabama Landing according to Mr. George Hibbard Jr. and Mrs. Hibbard of West Monroe who usually hunt with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. D. Fortenberry Jr. of Monroe. This group likes all types of hunting and will travel wherever the game is to be found. This year they have had more than ordinary luck. Of course, their Labrador Retriever, Pepper, always accompanies them.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hart select their favorites from Mr. Hart's collection of fine guns, each of which has been personally stocked by Mr. Hart. Deer hunting is their sport and above the gun case can be seen just a few of their trophies to prove their skill.

Off to pick up friends to spend a day at Black Bayou, duck hunting, are Mr. and Mrs. John Kelso Jr. They and a congenial group are always eager for a day out in the open looking for game.

MRS. LONNIE AARON ROARK

Miss Lynnell Hendricks, James Monroe Roark Wed

In a candlelight service in the chapel of the First Methodist Church, December 27, at 3:30 p.m., Miss Lynnell Fay Hendricks became the bride of Lonnie Aaron Roark. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Hattie Hendricks of Magnolia, Arkansas and Oscar Hendricks of Los Angeles, California. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Monroe Roark of Jena.

White tapers burned in seven-branched candelabras on each side of the altar and large baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and woodwardia fern formed the setting for the bridal party.

While the guests were seated by the ushers, Mrs. Everett Zeagler played the organ. Miss Barbara Hyde, cousin of the bride, sang the selections "Always" and "Because".

The bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her brother, James T. Hendricks, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of her own design, fashioned of white imported Chantilly lace over ice blue satin, with a fitted bodice, a Sabrina scalloped neckline outlined with seed pearls, and long sleeves. The street length bouffant skirt was of silk organza over satin, trimmed at the hemline with lace and seed pearls. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of the same lace and she carried a purple throated orchid, surrounded by white split carnations on a lace covered Bible. For something old, she chose a gold heirloom bracelet, worn by many brides in her family.

Mrs. Betty Jean Tucker, the bride's only attendant, wore a Royal Blue silk organza frock with fitted bodice and rounded neckline, and satin shoes to match. Her headband of the same shade of satin had a tulle veil. Carnations with streamers of blue ribbon and miniature ivy were the flowers she carried. The candle lighters, Mrs. Billy Carlisle, of Shreveport and Mrs. Robert Beason, wore identical blue dresses, with matching blue headbands. Two neices of the bride, Misses Gladys Fay and Carol Ann Hendricks, served as flower girls, wearing pale blue silk dresses with puff sleeves and bouffant skirts, and carried small baskets as they strewed rose petals in the path of the bride.

The groom's best man was Wayne H. Coon of Baton Rouge. Ushers were Bruce C. busvice and Robert Beason.

Mrs. Hendricks was gowned in a blue silk peau de soie. Her hat was of matching blue velvet and her corsage pink sweetheart roses.

For her wedding trip the bride changed into a brown and beige suit with which she wore a mink hat and brown accessaries and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The young couple will make their home at 302 Glenmar.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. James T. Hendricks, Sr., James, Jr., David Wayne, Gladys Faye and Carol Ann of Pine Bluff, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Hendricks and Clay; Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hendricks, Mike and Russ of El Dorado, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coon of Baton Rouge; Hardy Coon of Jena; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Carlisle of Shreveport; Miss Barbara Hyde and Paul Hyde of El Dorado, Ark.

Miss Grier Becomes Bride In Candlelight Ceremony

On Saturday evening, Dec. 26th, Miss Linda Maureen Grier became the bride of Charles Dwain Barron in a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church of Farmerville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim W. Grier of Farmerville and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barron of Spearsville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Reverend James Gray of Vienna. The vows were exchanged before the altar where tall tapers burned in branched candelabra. On either side were large baskets of white gladioli. Miss Frances Read, organist, played the pre-nuptial music.

The bride wore an ice blue taffeta street length model, fashioned with an overskirt of silk organza with a wide satin cummerbund ending in a large bow in the back. she wore matching blue satin slippers and feathered bandeau and carried a white orchid surrounded by split carnations and white satin streamers.

The only attendant was Miss Margie Buckles of Rayville, who wore a darker blue velveteen sheath with matching slippers and petal hat. Her corsage was of white carnations. Serving the bridegroom as best man was Vernon Smith of Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Grier chose a navy two-piece suit with which she wore white accessories. Mrs. Barron's dress was navy with white accents. Both wore white carnation corsages.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Ruston, where both are students at Louisiana Tech.

Miss McGregor's Engagement Is Announced

CROSSETT (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. McGregor, of Memphis, Tennessee, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Joel Wilson Duskin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Wilson Duskin, of Crossett.

The wedding will be January 30th, in Union Avenue Methodist Church in Memphis.

The bride-elect was graduated from Nicholas Blackwell High School in Bartlett, Tennessee, and will be graduated from Memphis State University in January with a bachelor of arts degree. She is a member of Wesley Foundation, and for two years was Greek Editor and Beauty Editor of the DeSoto yearbook. She is a member of Delta Zeta Sorority, for which she has served as house chairman and now is publicity chairman.

Mr. Duskin was graduated from Crossett High School and attended the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. He will receive his bachelor of science degree from Memphis State University in August. He is a member of Wesley Fonundation and is president of Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity. He is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity.

Chapel Chosen For Wedding In Vickeburg

TALLULAH (Special) — Mrs. Juanita Sevier Cassidy and Richard Cole Burton of Tucson, Arizona were married in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church in Vicksburg, Miss. on Tuesday, December 29, at 3 p.m. with the Rev. William F. Mansell officiating. Only members of the immediate family were in attendance.

The bride was attired in a beige knit silk suit with matching accessories and cypritedium orchid in brown and beige tones.

The couple left after the ceremony for New Orleans after which they will sail on a South American cruise before returning to Tucson where they will reside.

The weather this week has been of the variety in which only ducks and native born, bred-in-the-bone Louisiana can thrive. ('Twas amazing, as a matter of fact, how duck-like the weather got the day after duck season closed.) But by the time this sees print on Sunday morning, spring may be with us. For whatever your complaints about our climate hereabouts, you must admit that we have variety.

The lure of far away places gets particularly strong when we are battling the 100 per cent humidity. Our people begin to dream of sun - drenched beaches, tropical climes, and cruise ships. The FRED FRAZIERS left on Wednesday to fly to Miami Beach for a week at the Americana.

EILEEN RUBIN is another vacationer in Miami Beach. She and son MARK flew down to join her parents, the SAMUEL RUTTENBERGS of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. SAM and baby BARRY are keeping house here.

Mexico City is a popular spot any time of the year. Among those from these parts who are spending some time there this month are the C. B. M'MAHONS, the H. G. PROPHITS, JR., LORA and BOB CARSON, the FRANK RIZZOS, and MARGARET and FRANK DAVIS.

The first week of the year, of course, is properly spent cleaning o'f the desk and getting ready for the new cycle. And on stay-indoors type days, what better companion than good reading material? During 1959, your reporter accumulated a desk full of quotable quotes to be passed on in season. As someone has said, "He who seldom quotes is seldom quoted." George Bernard Shaw put it this way: "I often quote myself. It adds spice to the conversation."

Here, for example, is some advice from architect Edward Stone: "Don't be too worth-while. Always keep a few character defects handy. People love to talk about your frailties. If you must be noble, keep it to yourself."

Along the same lines, Olin Miller says "If you must talk about your troubles, don't bore your friends with them —tell them to your enemies, who will be delighted to hear about them."

A. A. Milne divides bores into two classes: those who have their own particular subject, and those who do not need a subject . . . and George Jean Nathan drinks only to make other people interesting.

"Each of us has to learn that it's no true gift to have another say: 'Beside you, nobody else matters—' since the only tribute to be trusted in life is, in the end, the one that means: 'Because of you, all others in some way matter more" . . . Doris Peel.

Answers to the question "What is Quality?", quoted from the Control Tower: Quality is the elusive ingredient that enables the art connoisseur to distinguish a Gainsborough from a copy by Smith . . . that intangible that gets six bucks for a dinner that elsewhere would cost only three . . . the World Series, the Kentucky Derby, the Masters . . . the radiant debutante, the Pyramids, Helen Hayes . . . a child's laughter, a woman's faith, a mother's tears . . . Quality chooses "Father" over "old man," sirloin over round, and roquefort over mayonnaise . . . . It is the difference between champagne and Chianti, sterling and plate, and Tiffany's and the five and dime . . . What is quality? It is all that is good, all that is lasting, all that upholds and preserves the dignity of mankind.

From the wisdom of the Chinese: You cannot prevent the birds of sadness from flying over your head, but you can prevent them from building nests in your hair . . . Mark Twain gave this advice a twist: By trying, we can easily learn to endure adversity —another man's, I mean.

Happiness is no a destination that you arrive at, but a manner of traveling . . .
Or as Dale Carnegie said, Success is getting what you want; happiness is wanting what you get.

Frederick Collins said "Always remember that there are two types of people in this world. Those who come into a room and say, 'Well, here I am!' and those who come in and say 'Ah, there you are!' "

George Adams states: "People who understand each other never fight."

From Ann Landers: "Live one day at a time. Life by the yard is hard; by the inch — it's a cinch." . . . And as for that, what was it you were so worried about a year ago today?

Another favorite quote of ours was borne out in personal experience this week. Our hunters came home with doves early this week. In an effort to avoid the dryness and toughness which sometimes makes this game unpalatable, your reporter browned them in butter and steamed them in a sauce of light Burgundy and mushrooms. After devouring every dove in sight, the men of the house pushed back chairs and announced "Those were so good, we'll have to go out and get some more." . . . All of which bears out the truth in the advice handed down mother-to-daughter for generations in the Southland: "Honey, don't learn how to do that. What you don't know how to do, you'll never have to do."

Here's a poem which points the same moral: "Second Thoughts on the Way to a Man's Heart," by Barbara Kremer:

I learned to concoct cacciatore.
And next mastered moo goo
gai pan.
I studied the cookbooks like fury
And landed my food-
conscious man.

This path to his heart was the wrong one;
I'm sentenced to K. P. for life.
I beg, "Let's dine out!"
but my strong one Cries, "What! with a cook like my wife?"

MRS. ARTHUR DECKELMAN

Wedding Vows Pledged By Miss Graham, Meredith

Last Evening at 8 p.m., Miss Amanda Jo Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Graham of Columbia and Jerry Meredith, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Meredith of Grayson, were united in marriage at the First Baptist Church of Columbia by the Rev. James Bolton.

The Nuptial vows were exchanged before the altar on which was an arch of native greenery and camellias. Tall standards of yellow roses and ivy entwined candelabra with lighted white tapers formed the background. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Erby E. Meredith played the pre-nuptial music as well as the processional from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's Recessional. Mr. Charles Pollard sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in traditional white satin and lace. The satin covered buttons fastened the fitted bodice in the back and also the long tapered sleeves ending in lily points over the hands. The bouffant lace over satin skirt fell to a chapel train. She carried a cascade bouquet of valley flowers surrounding a cymbidium orchid, encircled with maline and satin bows.

Mrs. Charles Thompson of Columbia, matron of honor wore a sheath dress of emerald green brocaded taffeta, with an overskirt of silk organza, and carried yellow carnations. Miss Shirley Ann Graham, sister of the bride and Miss Gloria McGuffee, bridesmaids, wore dresses identical in style to the matron of honor, and also carried yellow carnations.

The groom chose his father to serve as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were: Arlis Grant of Columbia and Don Grant of Grayson.

The bride's mother wore a distinctive sheath dress of ice blue wool with accessories to match. Her corsage was of feathered mums. The groom's mother wore a beige lace gown with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze mums.

Following the service, a reception was held in the church social room. The bride's table covered with a lace cloth and satin swags, held large candelabra with burning tapers. On one end was the three-tiered wedding cake embossed in lillies of the valley and roses and at the other the punch bowl.

Miss Bert Hearn and Mrs. Ray Gregory invited the guests to sign the bride's book; Mrs. W. E. McDonald Jr. of Columbia presided at the punch bowl; Mrs. Florence Calhoun of Colfax, cousin of the groom, served the wedding cake. Tea girls were; Miss Barbara Page, Miss Mary Alice Page, Miss Pat Page, and Miss Donna Jean Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Meredith will be at home in Grayson.

Girl Scout News

One of the nicest Christmas affairs we've heard of was the party the girls of Troop 26 planned for their leader, Mrs. A. B. Gregory Jr. Keeping all their plans secret the girls invited Mrs. Gregory to a party at the home of Wendy King. There the girls presented their leader with a lovely gift in appreciation of her work with them in Scouting. A complete surprise, too! The girls of Troop 26, now in their third year of Scouting, are: Janet Brueck, Peggy Dawson, Kyle Gregory, Joan Harris, Kathy Heckathorn, Pamela Hudson, Judy Jacobs, Wendy King, Cynthia McDonough, Joan Nowell, Kay Otnott, Martha Peters, Sarah Zeagler, Bobbie Lefkoe, Patricia McCain. The scouts served dainty refreshments which they had planned and prepared.

We've written about the troop camping season going all the way into December last year. Now we hear that Troop 64, Farmerville, had a primitive troop camp of three days and two nights during the Christmas holidays. The girls pitched tents on a wooded hill near Linville, slept in bedrolls, did their cooking outdoors, learned a lot, and had fun, according to their leader, Mrs. Woodrow Downs.

No doubt, the fact that the Boy Scout troop, under the leadership of Mr. Downs, camped on the opposite hill, lent interest. The girls inspected the boys' camp, and vice versa, and the groups enjoyed campfire together the first night.

The first troop to view the new filmstrip, "A Trip to the Birthplace," was Troop 84. Mrs. George Fink, a member of the troop committee planned the showing, including also "A Trip to Our Chalet," on that rainy Tuesday last week. The filmstrip, which may be borrowed from the office, shows the childhood home of Juliette Low in Savannah, which has been restored and is now the property of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A.

Many of our readers know Miss Robbie McClendon who has often visited in Monroe and who showed beautiful slides of Our Chalet one year at the annual meeting of the council. Robbie is now the hostess at the birthplace, and there is an excellet view of her in the film.

Speaking of annual meetings, there is one coming up on the 21st, which all adults in the Girl Scout family are urged to attend, and to which Intermediate Scouts are especially invited. The speaker is to be Mrs. Charles Jones, who was chosen as the adult to attend the first Juliette Low session at "Our Cabana" in Mexico in 1957. Troops have shown a special interest in Our Cabana since it was opened as an international center, and will be interested in seeing pictures and hearing more about it.

Crossett Wedding Unites Miss Finley, Deckleman

CROSSETT (Special)—Miss Marilyn Kay Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lester Finley, became the bride Sunday afternoon, December 27th, at 2:00 o'clock, of Thomas Valentine Deckelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deckelman, of Hamburg.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the chapel of the First Baptist Church, by the Rev. B. G. Hickem, before an ivy entwined arch interspersed with baby chrysanthemums. Standing candelabras held lighted tapers beside floor baskets of white gladioli. Willard Burnham was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess fitted dress of Chantilly lace with Sabrina neckline edged in scallops. The satin banded bodice swept into a full skirt with ruffles cascading down the back to a brush train. Her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Miss Sandra Johnson, maid of honor and Miss Jeanne Downing, of Little Rock, bridesmaid, were dressed alike in emerald green dresses of peau de soie with full skirts, and matching velvet sashes and head bands. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

The bride's mother was dressed in rose beige lace with matching accessories, and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories, and a white carnation corsage.

David Pickering, of Little Rock, served the groom as best man. Groomsman was Billy Joe Scott of Hamburg. Bobby Kerr of Dermott, and Jerry Finley, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a linen cloth with Italian cutwork embroidery over emerald green. A crystal epergne held the bridal bouquet. Mrs. David Pickering, of Little Rock, served the cake; Miss Roxie Brookings poured, and Miss Barbara Roberts was in charge of the bride's book.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Crossett.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolf, of Gillette, Ark.; Miss Mary Ann Law, of Hamburg: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peters, of Hamburg; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deckelman, of Hamburg; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Garceau, of Winder, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. John Baxter, Jr. of Dermott; and Mr. and Mrs. Conlyn Deckelman, of Memphis, Tenn.

New Parents' Problem Could Be Family Dog

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brand new parents — and parents-to-be — frequently wonder how the family dog will accept the new baby.

Fears spring from worries about two things: Will the dog become jealous and harm the infant; will taking care of baby and pet tax mother to the breaking point.

Dr. E. M. Gildow, director of (Friskies) research kennels, takes the view that most fears are unfounded — if the new parents follow a few simple rules, sprinkled with patience.

"When the new baby is brought home for the first time," he said, "don't forget your dog completely. Include him in the joyous occasion by giving him a few extra pats. Feed him at his usual dinner hour.

ADVISES AGAINST CHANGE

"Don't relegate him to the kitchen if he's been used to the freedom of the house. Show him the new baby and — let him take a sniff or two."

Scent is a dog's strongest instinct and after a few days, through some mysterious dog chemistry, your pet will know that the baby is part of the family.

Dr. Gildow said research has shown that the majority of dogs have an affinity for babies and children. What's more, the canines seem to sense a responsibility where little ones are concerned.

Most dogs, according to the scientist, accept their new responsibility with dignity and can easily be trained to stay with baby while he's sunning outdoors or just making pleasant sounds in his playpen or carriage.

Dr. Gildow said it's vital to reward the dog for showing a nice attitude toward baby.

MUST TEACH DOG FACTS

Reward him by telling him he's a good boy and by generally showing your approval by an extra pat and a kind word.

When the baby gets to toddler size, don't be surprised to find that your dog will tolerate indignities from the child that he never would accept from an adult.

Most of the dogs, according to Dr. Gildow, enjoy the toddler's playful hugs, squeezes and rough romping.

"Usually," he said, "it's up to parents to teach the toddler a few dog facts, however. For example, the toddler should understand that the dog is not a stuffed toy and that pulling his tail, ear, or hugging him too hard can be painful."

U. S. Women Forget To Look Pretty

AP NEWSFEATURES

Women who would earn admiring glances from the menfolk should take time out of their busy schedule to keep well groomed, advises Antoine of Paris, well - known hairdresser.

"American women are so dedicated to their homes and families that they forget sometimes that the husband and children love to see them looking pretty. In Europe, women know that, and their first duty, they feel, is to keep attractive. They work harder at that than anything else," says the 75-year-old master of the coiffure, here to tour America.

He is favoring the "tall-headed look," a rising silhouette with a rounded smooth well - brushed bump of hair at the back of the head.

"Of course it is not for everyone," Antoine says of his "beehive coif," a rather severe vertical silhouette. "But there are interpretations of it for everyone, otherwise I would not have created it."

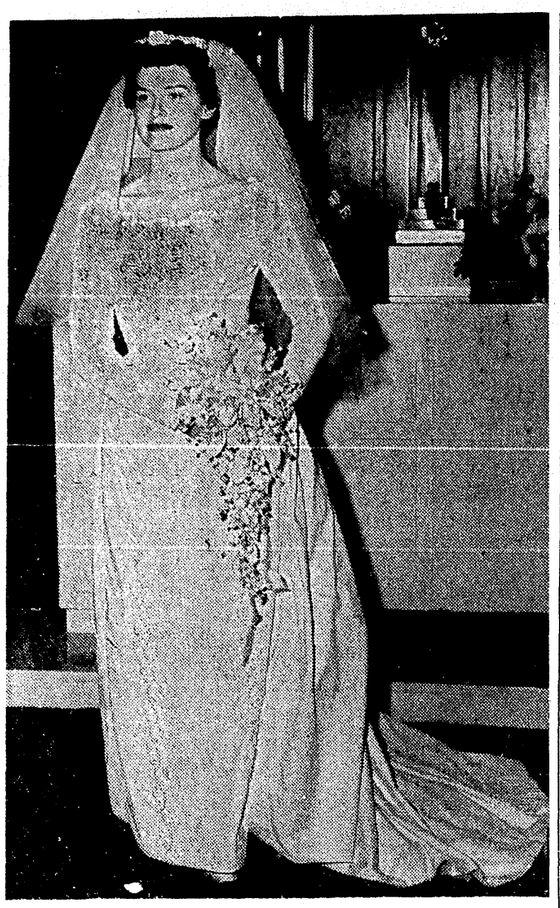
Older women can wear the upswept hairdo, but not very high. It makes them look older, he says. It is good for them to look sophisticated, but the line must be chic, never spoiled by "decorations and curls that hide the shape of the head."

They should be more discriminatory in their choice of hair color too, now that the fad is raging, he says. "The hair one had as a child is the best color for the older woman as it will be most flattering to her complexion and eyes, and doesn't give too much the appearance of dye," he advises.

He doesn't like the over-curl of a permanent wave and the "kinky mass effect" that some women acquire from it. "Hair should shine not look dusty," he says.

Far hairdoes, he reminds us, are for the very young. fine for Hollywood and Brigitte Bardot types, but we should ask ourselves whether they will fit into our society which may require more formal fashion ,rather than the elaborate and fadish styles. We should strive for refinement and simplicity, he says. "We must be soignee as we grow older," he proclaimed.

Antoine held court in the Fifth Avenue salon of Saks, performing artistic shenanigans with the hair as scissors sang and brushes hummed in the silence created by awed spectators. No entrechat. No tour de force. But a ballet of sorts that charmed his admirers. Tanned and happy he kept repeating his prescription for good health, happy old age and a fine head of hair — "boiled or broiled meat, vegetables, fruit and camomile tea. And don't forget to exercise," he says. He goes ice skating almost every day in France.



MRS. JAMES ERWIN MAXWELL

Rayville Wedding Unites Miss Haley, Mr. Maxwell

The Rayville Methodist Church was the setting on January 2 for the wedding of Miss Harriette Nan Haley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Haley of Rayville, to James Erwin Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edward Maxwell, of Lonoke, Arkansas.

The Reverend Wyatt David Boddie heard the vows at the double ring ceremony which took place at 6 p.m. in front of a host of friends and relatives.

The nuptial scene was illuminated by glowing candelabra and the altar was banked with fern and white specimen chrysanthemums. Mrs. William Lawrence Calhoun at the organ accompanied Mrs. Wyatt David Boddie who sang "The Lord's Prayer", setting the scene for the entrance of the wedding party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Italian velveteen, designed and fashioned by the bride. The lovely gown featured an empire line bodice with decollete-circlet neckline and long sleeves which ended in points over the hands. The skirt, made along slim lines in the front, was pleated to a lowered waist line in the back which cascaded into a chapel train. The decorative interest was gained through the use of seed pearls and re-embroidered Alencon lace around the neckline with double groupings of Alencon lace down the sides of the skirt. Her finger - tip veil of illusion fell from a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white Palmer violets and satin leaves centered with a white orchid.

Dr. Martha Haley Pope attended her sister as matron of honor, gowned in Christmas blue organza over taffeta, with a velveteen top. She carried a single specimen chrysanthemum with velvet leaves.

Mrs. Kersh McIntyre of St. Joseph; Mrs. Kenneth Earl Newsom of Rayville; Miss Betty Miller of Winnsboro; and Miss Margeret Scott of West Monroe; attended the bride as bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to that of the matron of honor.

The groom's best man was his brother, Richard Everette Maxwell, of Lonoke, Arkansas. John Barkley Knight, Jr. of Winnsboro; the Reverend Finley C. Patton of Winnsboro; Brown McLemore of Gilbert; and Robert C. Horton of Tallulah served as groomsmen.

Mrs. Haley chose a becoming model of mauve lace over matching satin with matching accessories. Her corsage was a yellow throated orchid. The groom's mother, Mrs. Maxwell wore a brocaded satin dress in ashes of roses shade with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the parish house of St. David's Episcopal Church. Mrs. J. E. Stodghill was in charge of the bride's book. The reception table was overlaid with a cutwork linen cloth and was centered with a silver epergne filled with white pompon chrysanthemums and white huckleberry, illuminated by the glow of tapers in crystal candelabra. Magnolia leaves, evergreens and candles completed the decor of the reception hall.

Mrs. Emmett B. Bell of New Boston, Texas; and Mrs. E. J. Archibald of Archibald, aunts of the bride, presided at the serving of the three - tiered wedding confection. Miss Ola Cooper and Mrs. J. C. Ellington, both of Rayville, were at the punch bowl. Assisting as tea girls were Mrs. Fred Sims, and Misses Lois Crocker, Martha Brown, Teency Pitman, Lauren Johnston and Sue Connell, all of Rayville.

Hostesses were Mrs. W. D. Cotton, Mrs. Foster Johnston, Mrs. J. L. Bond, and Mrs. Max Livingston, of Rayville.

Music was provided for the occasion by Mrs. Ellis Bairnsfather of Rayville, seated at the piano.

The young couple will make their home at 1204 Warren St., Winnsboro upon their return from the honeymoon trip.

The bride was graduated from Rayville High School and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston. She is presently employed in Winnsboro. She is a member of Theta Upsilon sorority.

The groom was graduated from Lonoke High School and Louisiana State University. He is a member of Alpha Zeta fraternity and Xi Sigma Pi, honorary fraternity. He is presently employed in Tallulah.

MR. AND MRS. J. SHEPPARD JR.

Miss Johnson Becomes Bride Of Mr. Sheppard

Miss Mary Ellen Johnson became the bride of John Burt Sheppard Jr. in a ceremony at the First Methodist Church on Saturday, December 26 at 5 p.m. The Rev. Earl Emmerich officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Johnson and the groom is the son of Mrs. R. Stevens of Miami, Florida.

Miss Johnson, given in marriage by her father, wore a white waltz length dress over taffeta. Her veil was of illusion held in place by a crown of pearls and net. Attached to the Bible she carried was a bouquet of miniature orchids and chrysanthemums which she pinned later on her travel suit.

Mrs. Ruby Jo Clay, serving as matron of honor, wore mint green chiffon with accessories of the same shade. The bridesmaids, Miss Peggy Bryan and Mrs. Hugh Mattison wore pink and turquoise chiffon gowns. All carried pink carnations centered with pink poinsettias of velvet.

Acting as best man was Hugh Mattison, uncle of the groom. The ushers, who also acted as candlelighters were; Richard Johnson, brother of the bride, and Willard Turnage Jr.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Social Hall. A beige lace cloth with an arrangement of pink carnations was on the refreshment table which held the bride's cake and crystal punch bowl. Assisting at the table were: Miss Ruby Jo Clay, Miss Peggy Bryan and Mrs. Hugh Mattison. Mrs. Lamar Clay presided at the guest book.

A royal blue lace dress with accessories were chosen by Mrs. Johnson for the occasion. A corsage of white chrysanthemums completed her attire. A suit of powder blue with a corsage of red roses were chosen by Mrs. Stevens.

The bride changed to a beige suit with beige accessories before leaving on her wedding trip. The couple will make their home in West Monroe.

Out-of-town guests were; Miss Elizabeth Beard of Houston, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harrell and daughter, Alice of Vicksburg, Miss.

Chapel Ceremony Unites Miss Butler, A. McKeithen

Pink gladioli and greenery illuminated by slender tapers burning in branched candelabra provided the background for the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Virginia Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Butler, and Aubrey McKeithen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McKeithen, in the chapel of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe, on the evening of December 26. Dr. Jaroy Weber, church pastor, heard the exchange of vows in the double-ring ceremony, witnessed by members of the two families.

Mrs. Charles DeLand played the wedding music and during her rendition, the candles were lighted by Diane Eastwood, niece of the bridegroom, and Jerry Butler, nephew of the bride. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. John David Salter, who wore soft brown wool with matching accessories and a corsage of feathered carnations. Mr. Carlton McKeithen served his brother in the capacity of best man.

The bride, lovely on her wedding day, was wearing a two-piece model in a beige - tone with flowered headpiece and carried a white Bible surmounted with brown cyprepedium orchids and walked the aisle on the arm of her brother, Mr. I. H. Butler, Jr., who gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Butler chose for her daughter's wedding a navy ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations, while the mother of the bridegroom wore brown with harmonizing accessories and a carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Putnam on Belmont Drive. The bride's table, overlayed with a white linen cutwork cloth was placed against the fireplace in the living room and was centered with pink carnations flanked with pink tapers burning in silver holders. Mrs. Charles DeLand served the punch, Mrs. H. O. Cooley presided at the coffee service; Mrs. Putnam served the tiered wedding cake. After their honeymoon trip to the Gulf Coast, the young couple moved into their home on Glenmar Avenue in Monroe.

Out - of - town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Eastwood and daughter, Diane, of Midland, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wardlaw of Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. Carlton McKeithen and son, Ronnie, of Sand Springs, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Butler, Jr., and son, Jerry, of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cooley, and daughter, Cindy, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Booles, all of Ruston; Mrs. Lucille Fisher and daughter, Linda, of Shreveport, and Mr. Harry Boyd of Shreveport.

District Vice-President L.F.W.C. Speaks To Club

The Miro Book Club, a member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, met Monday Jan. 4th. with Mrs. Neil McHenry for their Annual Business and Observance of "Federation Day" meeting.

The President, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell presided.

REALISM STRESSED

NEW YORK (AP) — The theater - goer used to orderly procedure finds himself in unorthodox surroundings at off-Broadway's Living Theatre. Currently doing Pirandello's "Tonight We improvise," and Jack Gelber's "The Connection," the actors carry their improvisation right into the theater lobby during intermission.

Both plays loudly insist on audience participation and frequently an unrehearsed play-goer gets caught up by the shouts of some actor planted in the audience and joins in with such cries as "liar, egomaniac" and so on.

In "The Connection," the producers testify, 14 men in the audience have fainted during the scene in which a heroin addict plunges a hypodermic needle into the flesh of his arm.

How To Make And Keep Friendships

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Is popularity the key to happy school days? More than one letter emphasizes that the student who is lost in a sea of unfamiliar faces may have difficulty feeling at ease with the young people around her, especially if they are different from those she has known.

It isn't easy to make new friends, these letters emphasize, but it is a cinch to lose them. So it ill behooves a teener in a new school to treat friendships lightly.

Here are some tips to help ease the way:

1. Do not expect other people to conform to your pattern of living. Learn to understand them, and their mode of living, the customs of their families and their interests.

2. Avoid dreary outlooks, telling troubles to everyone you meet. Be jolly, and you will not only win friends, but be able to weather the hurdles you encounter.

3. A reputation of being a gossip can make you highly unpopular. You'll attract those who love to gossip, and they may even eventually turn the heat on you.

4. Be helpful without expecting obvious rewards. If you lend some one a book don't expect them to fall on their face in appreciation.

5. If your family is better heeled than those of your friends, don't emphasize the fact.

6. A group may laugh at your off-color jokes or crude remarks but these are unflattering tributes to your popularity. Good types will avoid you on other occasions, especially in not extending invitations to their homes.

7. Do not speak disparagingly of ex-friends — girls or beaus you've dated. When friendships cease, go on to make new friends.

8. Students below par in your estimation should not be avoided in such a way that they are sneered into despair.

9. The most difficult role you can play is that of a liar. You'll need a perfect memory to put it over, and the chances are you'll be suspect No. 1 after the first few tries.

10. Avoid suspicion. Your imagination may be the reason people do not like you, gossip about you or try to avoid you. If you have such ideas, test the individuals you suspect by pouring out the honey rather than the vinegar. If they are against you, this method may chance their attitude, and if your doubts are merely your imagination, a shot of honey will have done no more than impress the suspect.

One way to make friends is to learn to like people. Many girls, especially, have difficulty making fast friends because they try to single out a girl without getting to know her. Get to know as many people as you can, and from these acquaintances you may make some very choice friends. You will naturally choose those who see more eye-to-eye with you, rather than those who are different from you. Meanwhile give everybody a chance.

Youth Takes Over 1959 Best Dressed List

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK, (AP)—Youth takes over the annual list of the world's best-dressed women this year, as the familiar perennial winners in the international poll are retired from competition to permanent places in the Fashion Hall of Fame, initiated last year.

Twelve women are named best-dressed of 1959 in the list released today by the New York Group. Ties in voting account for the extra two names over the usual 10.

The list is released in alphabetical order, another innovation, eliminating the designation of first and second place, and so on.

Here they are:

Donna Marella Agnelli, young, blonde and glamorous wife of Giovanni Agnelli, head of the Fiat Automobile Company, of Turin, Italy.

H.R.H. Princess Alexandra of Kent, replacing her mother, the Duchess of Kent, on the list.

Mme. Herve Alphand, wife of the French ambassador to the United States, a blonde and vivacious figure in Washington society.

Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr., of New York.

Mrs. Walther de Moreira Salles, wife of the Brazilian ambassador to the United States.

Vicomtesse Jacqueline de Ribe of Paris.

Princess Grace of Monaco.

Mrs. Loel Guinness, of Paris and Palm Beach.

Audrey Hepburn (Mrs. Mel Ferrer).

Merle Oberon (Mrs. Bruno Pagliai).

Mrs. John Barry Ryan III of New York.

Mrs. Norman K. Winston, of New York and Paris.

The four women named to the permanent Fashion Hall of Fame this year, in recognition of their "faultless taste in dress without ostentation or extravagance" are:

Countess Consuelo Crespi of Rome, the former Consuelo O'Connor, one of the famous O'Connor twins, former New York models.

Mrs. Henry Ford II, of Grosse Point, Mich.

Mrs. Winston Guest, of Palm Beach and New York.

Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Jr. of New York.

They will join eight other famous perennial members of the best-dressed list, who were elected to the Hall of Fame last year: The Duchess of Windsor, Mrs. William Paley, Countess Edward von Bismarck (the former Mrs. Harrison Williams), Queen Elizabeth II, Mme. Jacques Balsan (the former Consuelo Vanderbilt) and actresses Mary Martin, Irene Dunne and Claudette Colbert.

MRS. ROBERT REGNIER

Miss Laura Irene Thornton Weds Rev. Robert Regnier

CROSSETT — On December 28th, Miss Laura Irene Thornton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thornton, of Hope, became the bride of the Rev. Robert Regnier, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Regnier of Crossett.

The double - ring ceremony was performed in the First Methodist Church of Hope, by the Rev. Rufus F. Sorrells, before a setting of seven - branched candelabra and floor baskets of white stock. Nuptial music was played by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, organist, who also accompanied Miss Jan Newby, of Little Rock, who sang, "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer." The tapers were lighted by Misses Jean and Cathy Copeland, of Texarkana, cousins of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of lace over satin fashioned with a sabrina neckline, long sleeves, and a V-shaped waistline. The floor - length skirt swept into a chapel train. A satin caplet encrusted with pearls and sequins held her veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet centered with a white orchid.

Miss Judy Hammons, of Little Rock, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Judy Thornton, sister of the bride; and Miss Mary Jane Regnier, of Crossett, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identical frocks of American Beauty velveteen, designed with a small bow on a low neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, and full skirts. They wore matching bandeaus, and carried pink carnations. The flower girl, Miss Lucy Thornton, of Mena, niece of the bride, was attired in pink velveteen.

The groom chose his father to serve as best man. Groomsmen, who also served as ushers, were the Rev. Elmo Knoch of Glenwood, and Charles Portis, of Little Rock. Other ushers were Oris Thornton, of Mena, brother of the bride; Joe Crain of Hope; and Jack Bennett, of Nashville, Tenn.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thornton wore a dress of blue lace over taffeta, with a matching hat and a white orchid corsage. The mother of the groom, wearing a pink dress with blending accessories, pinned a purple orchid corsage at her shoulder.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will make their home at 7507 Asher Avenue, Little Rock, where the Rev. Regnier is pastor of the Douglassville Methodist Church.

Review Club Meets With Mrs. G. Walker

The January 4th meeting of the Review Club was held in the home of Mrs. George T. Walker on the campus of Northeast Louisiana State College. The meeting was opened by Mrs. D. W. Griffith, club president. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Sam Smith introduced Mrs. Claude K. Smith and Mrs. H. W. Chapman, who reviewed "Lorena" by Frank Slaughter and "The Bridge on the Drina" by Ivo Andric.

A dessert course was served by the hostess to Mesdames W. E. Bennett, Jr., C. B. Brawn, H. W. Chapman, E. P. Cudd, W. T. Davis, C. P. Gray, Jr., D. W. Griffith, Dewitt Henry, Fred Huenefeld, J. C. Loftin, Marcus Mapp, Claude K. Smith, Sam Smith, N. D. Touchstone, and L. N. Waddell.

The wedding will take place in late January.

N. S. A. Chapter Meeting In Wilson Home

The Ouachita Chapter NSA held their December meeting in the home of Mrs. Ray Wilson on Glenmar. A Christmas motif dominated the room and table. Jessica Lawn, president, presided. The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Lorraine Wilson and Beverly Dodson who are co - chairman for the chapter's seminar to be held Saturday, February 20th at the Virginia Hotel.

Refreshments were served to the following: Jessica Lawn, Lorraine Wilson, Beverly Dodson, Helen Byrd, Naomi Campbell, Hazel Jones, Molly King and Toby Smith.

Auburn Church Scene Of Risinger-Wilson Vows

The Auburn Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Jacquelyn Ann Wilson and George Larrin Risinger on December 27th at 4:30, the Rev. Powers McLeod officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kermit Wilson of Auburn, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Clyde Allen Risinger of Spearsville.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Lan Lipcomp, Jr., organist and Mr. Robert Ware, sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee." The altar was decorated with white gladioli, green palms and silver magnolia leaves. Large candelabras were on either side of the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Maynard Wilson, wore a gown of organza and chantilly lace appliqued with iridescent sequins. The princess style bodice had long sleeves coming to points over the wrist. Tiers at the waist created a wide flared skirt which swept into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a queen's crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of orchids.

Miss Kathy Risinger, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Mrs. Robert Ware was matron of honor and Miss Peggy Haynes, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore matching patio length dresses of rose delustered satin. Their bandeaux and bouquets were of red roses.

The groom's brother-in-law, E. H. Chandler of Ruston, La., was best man. Ushers were Larry and Ted Wilson, brothers of the bride, and Terry Hurley, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Wilson chose for her daughter's wedding a green lace dress with matching accessories, and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Risinger, mother of the groom was wearing a blue suit, a white hat and blue accessories, with an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony there was a reception in the banquet room of the church.

For the wedding trip to Atlanta the bride wore a blue flannel costume suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage. The couple plan to make New Orleans their home.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Cunningham, Mrs. Odel Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Messer, Mrs. Lawson Benefield, all of Roanoke, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Chink Hurley and Gail, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hamric, Mrs. Ethel Adcock, Mr. Jo Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Poole, Pat, Shelia and Lamar, of LaGrange, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Bovard Hurley and Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wilson, Barry and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wilson, Mr. Doug Wilson, Miss Kathyn Carpenter, Mr. Jim Gus Taylor of Wedowee, Ala.; Mr. Jack Goodman, Memphis, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Haynes, Fairfax, Ala. and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Farley of Dubach.

"Take Time To Worship" Theme Of P. T. A. Talk

The Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. held its regularly scheduled monthly meeting in December with Rev. John O. Stewart, guest speaker, who opened with the P.-T. A. prayer.

The children's choir of Georgia Tucker School, led by Mrs. Anna Rose Camp, rendered a program of Christmas music.

Mrs. Rabun Wroten introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Stewart, whose subject was "Take Time to Worship."

After all necessary business had been taken care of and room count was won by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Lippman introduced the new music director for Georgia Tucker, Mrs. Anna Rose Camp.

Bassett-Steele Wedding Is Announced

Claiming interest in this area is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steele Jr. of the marriage of their daughter Linda Fagan to Marvin Glen Bassett, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bassett. The ceremony was performed November 7 in Hamburg, Arkansas, by Rev. T. D. Douglas.

Mrs. Bassett is a graduate of West Monroe High School and is presently attending Louisiana Tech in Ruston. She is a member of Phi Mu Sorority. Mr. Bassett graduated from Neville High School and is a senior in the School of Chemical Engineering at Louisiana Tech. He belongs to Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

The young couple will reside in Ruston.

BUSY AND MORE TO COME

NEW YORK (AP) — With three shows currently on board and a weighty dossier awaiting the 1960-61 season, busy Kermit Bloomgarden has secured still another work being fashioned for Broadway.

It is Borden Deal's "The Insolent Breed," which will make what Bloomgarden calls "a wonderful musical."

His current shows are "The Music Man." "The Fighting Cock and "The Gang's all Here."

Languages Easy For Children To Acquire

AP Newsfeatures

The adult who learns a second anguage has trouble ever speaking it without some accent. Children on the other hand can acquire a new language easily and so well that they speak like a native.

This fact leads many people to think that the ideal time to start a second language is in the toddler stage when the first language is being learned. This is likely to happen in families who speak a language at home different from the one used by the community in which they live.

Experts in the field of speech think that presenting a child just learning to talk with two ways of saying everything he would like to communicate slows the child down and in the long run may interfere with his full use of any language.

Let a child, these experts agree, learn one language well enough so that he has a real concept of the value of communication before you confuse him with another way of getting his ideas across.

EXPERIMENTS IN SOUND

In early babyhood a child experiments with all manner of sounds — all the sounds a human being is capable of making, many more than he will ever use for any single language. Before he is a year old a baby can say expertly a German "ich" or a French "tu" as well as the difficult English "th." But when this child begins to copy the speech about him he stops practicing those sounds which do not occur in his own language. After a while (10 years or so) he finds it hard to recapture his baby ability to make his tongue and lips and throat go the way they did during his early experiments. But most anytime below the age of 10 a child can make any sounds he hears with extraordinary accuracy.

Language, however, is far more than the ability to make sounds. Language is really a very complicated thing when you come to think about it. We use sounds not only to mean things, but to mean how we feel and what we think and what we do. And we have all sorts of subtle shades of meaning that we get across to others not only by the sounds themselves but by the way we combine them.

LANGUAGE STRUCTURE

This is no small job for a youngster to master. It would be bad enough if all a child needed in learning two languages at the same time was to learn two names for everything. But it's much more complicated than that. Syntax and sentence structure are never the same in any two languages. As a very simple example, an English speaking baby might say: "He throws it." But in French he must change the words around: "He it throws" (Il la jete). Or in German he would have to say, "The ball throws he" (Den ball kastet er).

If Bobby has to do this, it's small wonder that he throws the ball a long time before he talks about it. Talking is so difficult that he doesn't bother with it — in any language.

Make Your Own Coat

AP Newsfeatures

There's nothing that gives the home seamstress such a sense of achievement as making her own winter coat. This is a project worth while, and one worthy of a professional.

It's not so hard to do as it seems. The experienced seamstress can turn out a handsome coat if she follows pattern directions for cutting, sewing, lining and interlining, and is careful about fit and finishing details.

Perfect for this fall is a pattern designed by Pierre Cardin, talented young French designer. It is a handsome reefer coat incorporating the top fashion details of the season - giant collar, wrinkle - resistant fabric, important buttons and new shorter sleeve. Local sewing center experts recommend using a new nubby - textured fabric in 50-inch width, with a choice of 16 solid colors or five print designs each in five colors. This is an acetate blend with locked - in color which never fades.

The printed pattern gives detailed directions for each step of construction. Lining and interlining may be cut at the same time and stitched together. For a professional touch, choose thread a shade darker than the coat fabric.

Use the zigzag stitch on your automatic machine or zigzagger attachment for reinforcing interfacing in the collar. For the overedged seam an automatic blind stitch makes a durable, bulkless finish. This is particularly good for straight - grain lengthwise seams that have a tendacy to ravel. To reinforce collar interfacing, mark the seam allowance and fold lines of the collar on the interfacing. Then stitch across the back of the neck, filling in the area from the fold line to the stitching, but do not stitch into the seam allowance.

neck edge with rows of zigzag.

Elizabeth Discusses New Heir

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth, whose third child is due in a few weeks, is hoping it will arrive Feb. 6, the anniversary of the death of her father, court sources said Saturday.

It was on that date in 1952 that George VI, whom Elizabeth loved dearly, died in his sleep.

The queen has a deep belief in the strength and continuance of the family line of the royal House of Windsor.

To give birth on Feb. 6, therefore, would especially delight the sovereign, more so if the baby is a boy.

The queen, in excellent health, plans to stay at her country home at Sandringham where she has spent the Christmas holidays until Jan. 18. Then, she will return to Buckingham Palace in London to await the birth.

The baby will be born in the palace, not in a hospital.

If a boy, the baby will rank second behind Prince Charles, the heir apparent. If a girl, she will rank after Charles and his sister, Anne, but ahead of Princess Margaret, the queen's sister.

No names have been selected yet. Close friends think the most favored at the moment are James or George (after the queen's father) If it is a boy and Caroline or Mary (after the queen's grand mother, the late Queen Mary) if a girl.

But Prince Philip has said he would like another son to be called Andrew in memory of his own father, the late Prince Andrew of Greece.

Since Royal babies receive several Christian names, all of these could be accommodated with room to spare.

The actual name chosen first probably will not be announced until the baby is about one month oid. At that time, the registrar of the local London district of Westminister will be called in and told to inscribe the birth data, then the public will know.

Since 1934, steel's accident frequency rate decreased 70 per cent.

SPRING COLLECTIONS

Designers Slated To Unveil Styles

ROME (AP) — Italian designers will explode no revolutionary bombs in the world of fashion this week when they unveil their spring and summer collections.

But color will be plentiful, and enough nonconformity will be paraded down the ramps here and in Florence to dazzle the feminine eye.

Following strictest high-fashion tradition, no one is saying much before the shows. But piecing together the rumors, and a word or two, dropped here and there, the picture looks something like this:

Skirts are still short. Waists are still waists. Colors will range over the spectrum. There will be no major shift in the feminine silhouette.

The shows get under way in Rome Wednesday, when more than 200 buyers get their first peek at spring and summer accessories, boutique, and sportswear. Items expected to hold sway include muti-color harem-styled beach pants, rough silk shirts, and one-piece bathing suits.

On that day, too, Zingone, Rome's high-fashion designer for children, will send his tots before the lights in beach and resort wear.

Other designers whose creations are eagerly awaited in Rome are Luciani, De Luca, Mingolini-Guggenheim, Gattinoni, Garnett and De Barentzen.

The Rome show gets fully under way Thursday when Mingolini-Guggenheim show their spring and summer collection. This house won attention last year with its short-fronted, long-backed evening gown.

Buyers will be eager to see if Luciani continues the slope-shouldered, collarless and almost bare tops that he emphasized in his last two collections.

On Friday the entire fashion entourage moves into the gilt salons of Rome's Excelsior Hotel, where Gregoriana — one of the houses that remained longest true to the empire line—will present her creations.

Male models will parade the fashion ramps Friday for the House of Valetnino in creations of Litrico — the Rome tailor who helped produce Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's wardrobe for his journey to the United States.

The Fontana sisters on Friday are featuring liberty silks, surahs, and a filmy chiffon wool in their spring and summer cocktail creations. Colors should be particularly luminous because of a special dye process.

Expectations are high for Saturday's show by young Patrick de Barentzen, who still rates as the dark horse of Roman high fashion. The 27-year-old youth trained with Desses and Fath in Paris. He has shown only twice but made fashion news both times.

Mrs. Coulter Hostess To Garden Club

Mrs. J. R. Coulter was hostess to the Garden Study Club in the home of Mrs. W. G. Haynes in West Monroe.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. C. H. Tait, who appointed the following committees: nominating, Mrs. W. G. Haynes, Mrs. R. B. Henry and Mrs. C. T. Johnson; year book, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. J. F. Stone and Mrs. Henson Coon.

Mrs. Haynes, assisted by her granddaughter, Kathy Haynes, served refreshments to the following members: Mrs. C. H. Tait, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Mrs. J. F. Stone, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. C. T. Johnson, Mrs. R. B. Henry and Mrs. Morris Harrison.

Says Dad Of 7 Love 'Em And Spank 'Em

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

One reason for juvenile delinquency is the philosophy that a child should be allowed to express his personality or he'll be repressed, says Edgar Allan Jones Jr., law professor and father of seven children. But he adds:

"Fortunately, that theory is going out the window. You can't convert a 12 or 13-year-old child to rules and regulations of society when he has been permitted to run his own life from birth. That simple fact is pure logic, but some confused minds try to sell that paradoxical idea to parents."

Logic is the basis of the Jones' children's rearing. The range in age from 2½ to 13 years, with another expected.

"Parents must give children 'why' and 'now' tests," Jones points out. "If a small child learns to ask himself the how and why of things, he'll be able to see basic differences such as right and wrong. We have tried this experiment in our home and it works."

JONES METHOD

The "Jones School of Higher Learning," as he likes to refer to it, teaches analytical reasoning, among other things. Jones poses a "think problem" to his brood and they all try to solve it. A typical one is this:

"We were on a ship. The ship sank. No people, no animals on the little island where we found refuge. But there was a lush island about 100 yards across shark - infested water. How do we get over to that island for food?'

The children answer, with Dad interjecting questions:

"We'd go over by boat. (Where would you get the boat?) Build it. (With what?) Boards and nails. (There are no boards and nails.) We'll cut trees. (With what?) We'll make an axe out of a sharp stone. Then we'll make a raft. (How will you put it together?) We'll use glue. (No glue.) We'll use grass, mud."

As usual, says Jones, the smallest gets into the act, so David, 2½, suggests with a gleam in his eye that on the way over "the mud will melt."

Jones was born in Brooklyn and was graduated from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. and the University of Virginia Law School. Besides his job at UCLA Law School, he presides over a "Traffic Court" television series on ABC in California. He just won the American Bar Assn. gavel award for outstanding public service in disseminating understanding in the administration of justice. The show is "ad lib" researched by five UCLA law school students.

EQUAL PRIVILEGES

Jones believes in giving children privileges. He says:

"We have a 'Day Out and a Night Up'. Each child goes to bed at 8, except one who is permitted to stay up until 9 on the rotation plan. My wife and I participate in whatever the child would like to do — play checkers or watch television. Each child looks forward to his night up, and is likely to burst into our room at dawn to announce 'this is my night up'."

All children get a whirl at chores, and Jones likes to use the ant system — a chain of children with a little foreman, ideal for moving such items as books. Children bring the brush to him for spanking when there is a hair-brush offense.

'We are forgetting the basic premise that the father is head of the family," he says, " and therefore the family is a unit. In our family we spank and punish when it is needed, but we also pray together. The family which kneels at prayer helps generate dignity and respect for each other. That is what is sadly needed in today's society — respect for others — and the lesson must start at home."

Wife Involved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The wife of a Soviet embassy official has been involved in a $2.56 supermarket shoplifting incident, authorities reported Saturday.

The State Department has been "informally" advised of the episode by the store manager who said Mrs. Galina Glinsky was detained by store detectives on grounds she had a package of meat concealed under her coat without a purchase receipt.

Men Go For Sweater Look

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Men's sweaters are going gay this winter. And even the most conservative males seem glad of the change.

No longer is there just one V-necked sweater style for men. Today we're seeing men of all ages wearing handsome, husky, boat - necked, crew - necked, turtle - necked and shawl - collared sweaters in rich colors and rugged yarns.

Coat sweaters in bulky brushed yarns, in horse - blanket patterns, are favorites both on college campuses and back home on the farm. Business men who stick to gray flannel suits and regimental striped ties during the workaday week enjoy changing to slacks and rugged sweaters for leisure wear on week ends. And they are not at all averse to the new colors and patterns being shown — black and maroon or black and cognac brown, for instance.

The new sweaters look heavier but actually weigh less than in former years. New knitting techniques produce the popular bulky look without added weight.

There also are many handsome solid - color cable knits, in both pullover and coat styles, featuring such colors as black, white, charcoal, heather, dubonnet, blue, olive and brown.

Men are finding the new, rugged, colorful sweaters right for many activities — golf, hunting, fishing, spectator sports or merely lounging around the house.

Appreciation Dinner Set For Couple

RUSTON (Special) — Carl and Julia Williams will be honored in an appreciation dinner Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the educational building in the Tech room of Trinity Methodist church.

The couple will enter full-time mission work in Bolivia in February. This decision was publicly announced in April of 1958 and since that time these two and their three children have been at school at Scarritt College for Christian workers and learning the language of the Bolivians, the culture of the peoples and doing Bible study.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Rev. Jolly Harper, present district superintendent for the Shreveport district, who was pastor at the time Carl and Julia made their decision.

Mrs. Williams is the daughter of Mrs. C. E. McLean and the late Rev. McLean. Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams, formerly of Ruston, presently living in Alexandria.

Noted Artist Dies In Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — Artist Pierre Nuyttens, 83, noted or his etchings—portraits, and stage presentations—died early today when fire swept through his studio apartment on the North Side.

Hundreds of etchings, oil paintings and plates were believed destroyed when the flames raced through the first-floor studio and living quarters above.

The elderly man apparently tried desperately to get out of the blazing room, firemen said.

An occupant of an apartment next to Nuyttens said he had heard the artist shout about the fire and cry for help.

"He kept pounding the floor, apparently trying to awaken others," related William Benedict, 37. "I called the Fire Department immediately, and as soon as I ran outside the first firemen were arriving. But it was no use. It was an inferno in there. And once outside I couldn't hear Nuyttens' cries for help."

A fireman found the body, fully clothed, face up in the upstairs bathroom. A broken water tap indicated the old man tried desperately to turn on the water in the tub, firemen said. His hands were burned.

Ruston Crime Rate Declines In Past Year

RUSTON (Special) —The crime rate was way down in Ruston in 1959, discloses O. O. Osbon, chief of police yesterday.

Outside of parking violations only 270 persons were arrested for crimes and misdemeanors in Ruston last year, he said.

These were broken down as follows: murders, 1; larceny, 22; auto theft, 3; assaults, 13; carrying concealed weapons, 3; violations of liquor law, 7; drunk, 92; disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace, 21; gambling, 18; driving while intoxicated, 16; careless and reckless driving, 16; speeding, 52; other misdemeanors, 6.

If you are one of those people who thinks he is the only one who ever gets caught with the time run out on the parking meter, you might gain consolation for the figures on parking violations. There were 15,055 parking violations. Of these 13,657 have been paid. The 782 who have not paid their fines are subject to summons, the chief said.

BUT FRINGE VARIATIONS DEVELOP

Soviet Union's Press Usually Uniform in Tone

Editor's note—Almost every day you read of something that Pravda or another Soviet newspaper has said. The chief of the AP bureau in Moscow was asked to give American readers an up-to-date report on how the Soviet press operates. His dispatch, like all those from Moscow, was subjected to censorship, but information received by The Associated Press indicates that essential points are given as the correspondent wrote them.

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's press is usually uniform in tone, but fringe variations among the newspapers have developed in recent years.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, urging improvements, has said a lot of the press is dull. He has said it is necessary to read foreign papers to know what is going on in the world—but for the ordinary Soviet citizen even listening to foreign broadcasts is prevented.

The Soviet peoples have an enormous press to read in 67 languages. Many are avid readers. The reported circulation of newspapers and magazines is so large that virtually every family must have access to one or more publications.

The newspapers are getting access to a bigger body of news distributed by the growing agency, Tass. Except for the big central papers in Moscow and the Moscow Radio, Tass is the sole supplier of foreign and big scale national news. It is a state agency.

The Soviet Union has 7,686 newspapers. Add to this farm and factory newspapers, cinema groups and the like and the total swells to 10,088.

The distribution of dailies is very wide. At a conference of newspapermen in Moscow it was stated there were 23 nationwide newspapers, most of them dailies and weeklies concentrated in Moscow.

By far the biggest is the Communist party newspaper Pravda (Truth) with a circulation given by its editor as six million. It is the only big Moscow paper publishing seven days a week. It appears all by itself on Monday.

Pravda appears most of the time with four to six pages. There is virtually no advertising in the Moscow press. But even so these four to six pages have a scanty chance of publishing as much news as big American dailies.

Into those four to six pages can be poured very often more boredom than is likely to be found in any other press in the world. Khrushchev himself told the newmen that a lot of their newspapers, and much that was in all of them, was drab and uninteresting reading. He wanted it a lot better by the end of the seven year plan, or sooner.

You realize how far you are on the other side of the world when you read the Moscow newspapers. The Soviet press insists it is the most free press in the world, but freedom in the West has a different meaning from freedom as meant here.

The newspapers rarely criticize the central government. Never would there be a political slogan such as "Turn the rascals out."

Nevertheless, a paper sometimes will criticize some regional or republican government and hit its officials with fury. The law of libel does not seem to protect officials or others who come under press fire. Frequently the press attacks are followed quickly by local governmental shakeups. Often the changes come so fast that there can be no doubt that the powers that be directed the press attack in preparation for a shakeout.

The papers rarely attack the state police, but they recently tore the hide off numbers of the volunteer morality police who had taken upon themselves the power to beat up students whose conduct they didn't like.

A few months ago there was an exposure of black marketing and price rigging in stores. The press treated the whole affair with the deadly seriousness of a major heresy. There is rarely a light touch, although the humor magazine Krokodil takes gay passes at many subjects and many people—not too high up the governmental ladder.

In recent years reporters are getting bylines. Tass agency feels this increases the responsibility of the reporter.

Tass broadcasts in 16 languages. Its broadcasts are picked up by radio or teleprinter receivers all over the country.

Tass admits it sometimes is slow in getting news into print. But its editors study the workings of the foreign agencies, particularly the American. They have adopted a lot of new techniques.

Tass operates frankly as an agency of the state although it gets its revenue, it stated recently, from its subscribing newspapers. There are no competing agencies. It says:

"We try to report all the important events taking place abroad, give a truthful picture of foreign life to the reader. Tass has as its aim to assist the cause of peace and friendship and mutual understanding by its dissemination of news.

"In reporting events, we strive to analyze them, expose the reasons which caused them, and (to explain) currents of international life."

The explanations are sometimes such that East and West reports of the same event may sound as if they are talking about different events.

Tass says "The amount of official material sent to the local press has decreased, other matter increased."

Even so, much of the Tass report consists in reporting the doings of the central government and the various governmental agencies.

In addition to supplying news for the Soviet Union, Tass broadcasts throughout the world. It has representatives in 54 countries. Broadcasts go out in Russian, English, French, German and Spanish.

Red Claims Snowman Is Fairy Tale

MOSCOW (AP)—The leader of a Soviet expedition just back from a nine-month search in the mountains of central Asia claimed Sunday that the Abominable Snowman is just an old fairy tale.

The expedition journeyed to the Pamir Mountains in the Soviet Union, near the frontiers of Afghanistan and western China, to seek the truth of stories that a wild man-like creature inhabited the snowy peaks.

The expedition was led by an exploring professor, Kirill Stanyukovich. Radio Moscow reported Stanyukovich and his party, using specially trained bloodhounds and hunters, found no evidence that a snowman ever had lived there.

The snowman stories became widespread after the conquest in 1953 of Mt. Everest, in the Himalayas. The Russians searched in an area hundreds of miles west of the Himalayas, where mysterious tracks have been reported.

Quoting Stanyukovich, the Moscow radio said: "Careful studies were made of a large area of the central Pamirs. The area was combed many times. Secret observation posts with telescopic lenses and other up-to-date optical equipment were set up.

"The expedition used as bait more than 20 rams and goats. It spread out nets and sprinkled sedatives. But no Snowman was caught.

"The expedition's archaeologists established for certain that the central Pamirs have been inhabited by human beings for a very long time. Man's ancestors would undoubtedly have evicted and destroyed the more primitive Snowman.

First Step In Proposed Merger Taken

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The first step in the proposed merger of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., and Consolidated Gas Utilities Corp, was accomplished yesterday by approval of the directors of both firms.

The next step is approval of the stockholders of each and by regulatory agencies having jurisdiction.

Spokesmen said the merger would leave operation of consolidated to the persons now employed, and the present stockholders would be represented on the board of directors of the merged company.

The companies operate integrated natural gas systems serving 370,000 customers. Arkansas Louisiana serves 280,000 in Arkansas, North Louisiana and East Texas, and consolidated serves more than 90,000 in Oklahoma and Kansas.

Arkansas Louisiana also operates several other business enterprises.

If the merger is approved, Consolidated stockholders will get one share of a new class of cumulative convertible preference stock in Arkansas Louisiana for each share of their own stock.

The new stock would carry an annual dividend of 90 cents, which for two years from the date of issuance will be convertible into ¾ share of common stock of Ark-La. The new preference stock would be non-callable for the first two years and callable thereafter at the option of the company at $23 per share.

Air Force Experts At Station Site

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The Air Force landed four military experts on disintegrating Station Charley Saturday while continuing its orderly evacuation of men and equipment from the floating scientific Ice Island in the Arctic Ocean.

With nine men already evacuate from the big sheet of ice 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, four Air Force men were moved in to help the remaining civilian and military personnel pack valuable equipment.

The Alaska Air Command at Anchorage announced the four are Capt. Frank A. Lammert, Normandy, Mo., transport technician; Tech. Sgt. Jerry A. Bailey, Salisbury, N.C., power production technician; Staff Sgt. Thomas A. BGAR ER, Greensboro, N.C., equipment maintenance technician, and Staff Sgt. Vernon Taylor, Broken Bow, Neb., supply technician.

All are assigned to the 11th Air Division at Ladd Air Force Base in Fairbanks.

As around-the-clock operations continued in the Arctic darkness, two more veterans of the expidition were scheduled to be flown out soon. They are Capt. Harold Van Horn, Mead, Md., and Airman 1.C Robert Seiter, Farmingdale, N.Y.

Withdrawal is expected to be complete in 3 or 4 days.

The floe is now only 1½ miles wide and 2 miles long.

With only about an hour of twilight a day available, the ice landing strip is being lighted with flare pots and battery operated lights to guide the big evacuation aircraft in to a safe landing.

Blast Rips Through Plant Near Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An explosion ripped through the mixer building of the Oronite Chemical Co. plant in nearby Belle Chasse Saturday. Five persons working in the building were hurt.

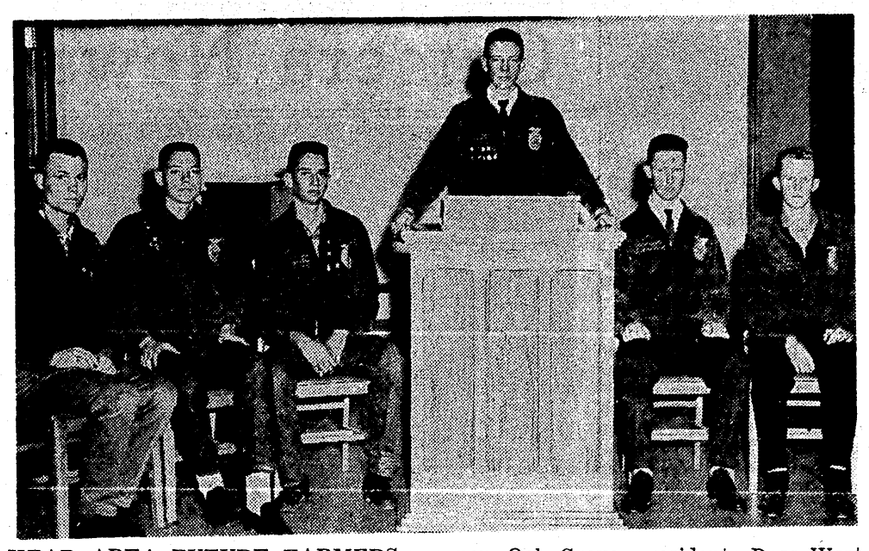
The blast, reported heard 10 to 12 miles away, occurred on the second floor of the two-story building. The roof, sides and floor were torn away from the steel frame.

Company workers extinguished a fire that followed.

Cause of the explosion had not been determined. An estimate of damage was not immediately available.

The firm, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of California, manufactures additives for lubrication oil.

The injured, all of whom received burns, were listed as Sam Martin, 33, of Marrero, Douglas Broom, 23, of Belle Chasse, Noel Danuenhauer, 40, of Marrero, Wendell Champagne, 26, of Belle Chasse, and Joe Cherry, 26, of Algiers.



HEAD AREA FUTURE FARMERS—Officers who will lead Area II FFA were chosen Saturday at a leadership training conference on the Northeast State campus. Six Children Die Yesterday In House Fire

THOMPSON FALLS, Mont. (AP) —Six children ranging in age from 2 to 12 years, died yesterday in a predawn fire that destroyed their northwestern Montana ranch home. Their mother and infant twin brothers were injured.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Dodson said the victims, four girls and two boys, were children of Mr. and Mrs. Lionell Scott. They were Edna, 2; Mary, 3; Mildred, 6 Barbara, 8; Carl, 10 and Aaron, 12.

Taken to a hospital at Hot Springs were the 4-month-old twins, one burned critically, and Mrs. Scott, who was burned on the back.

The father escaped injury.

The sheriff's office said the fire was reported at 2:55 a.m. Volunteer firefighters raced to the scene but reported there was little they could do.

"It was too far gone then," said Dodson.

The children who perished were sleeping upstairs in the two-story frame house. The parents and twin boys slept on the first floor.

GAL AMONG GUYS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Rosemarie Bitschnau, a WAF lieutenant at McClellan Air Force Base, has an assignment a good many gals would envy.

She's the only woman among the 2,600 men of the 552nd Airborne Early Warning and Control Wing.

State Police Hold Two Men

OPELOUSAS, La. (UPI) —State police yesterday were holding two men who have admitted prison escapes, thefts, fradulent entry into the U.S. Army and being AWOL.

Officers identified the pair as Roger Grant Pedigo, 25, and Ernest Kenneth Darnell, 18. Darnell is from LaGrange, Ga., and Pedigo refused to give his hometown.

They were arrested Thursday for speeding. Pedigo said he escaped from a chain gang in Manchester, Tenn., and Darnell said he escaped from Beaumont Industrial School in Richmond, Va.

The two said they fraudulently entered the Army after their escapes, and while being confined to the Fort Jackson, S. C., stockade for being AWOL, drank poison alcohol deliberately. While the base hospital they escaped from the military reservation.

They said they remained in the woods for "three or four days," and then stole food from a nearby school and stole a car near Fort Jackson.

Pedigo and Darnell said they drove to LaGrange and spent the night at Darnell's home and then drove to Mobile, Ala., where they abandoned the stolen car, burglarized a sporting goods store, and hopped a train to Biloxi, Miss.

They stole a car at Biloxi, they said, and headed for Mexico. Louisiana state police halted their flight.

Boy Murmurs Greeting After Being Beaten

LONDON (UPI)—George Carter touched his six-year-old sons's cheek with his hand. The boy opened his eyes and murmured "Hello, Daddy."

They were the first words the boy had spoken in the eight days since he was beaten by a mystery killer who battered his mother to death while the child looked on.

The murder was the second of two brutal killings that have stumped British police within the past three weeks.

In Birmingham, hundreds of detectives continued an 18-day hunt for the mad killer who beheaded Miss Stephanie Baird in a YWCA room.

Mrs. Carter was found dead in a bed of the family's home in Pennlyne, Wales. Next to her was Alan, apparently left for dead by the killer.

Alan underwent a brain operation that left one side of his body paralyzed. After the boy spoke Friday, police said they hoped to get from him a description of the murderer.

But hospital officials said Alan was still on the danger list and was not allowed to attempt conversation with anyone.

Garden Fever In Mid Winter

By AUDREY DAWSON

Every year by the time Christmas is over, although the weather is cold as can be, yours truly gets a severe case of garden fever. You will be sure to get a good case when you find all the newcomers for the 1960 garden. This will be a banner year with as many newcomers. Some of the new flowers are the new rocket snapdragon which was the all American award winner last year. The rockets grow 3 feet tall and produce ten or more long flower spikes at a time. They're heat resistant and yield two or even three crops of blooms. They come in five beautiful color: golden yellow, bronze, orchid, rose and white. The new double rose pink vanguard snaps bloom even earlier than rockets and grow about 30 inches tall.

A new zinnia which is mildew resistant is red and is called trail blazer. Among the new zinnias for 1960 is lilac time which has a truly unusual new lavender color. The flowers measure 4 to 5 inches across on plants 2½ feet tall. A new zinnia mixture called dark jewel will give bloom in orange, flame, spirea rea, cherry and white.

New petunias include maestro, a bright cerise, mercury, a nonfading light blue with yellow throat; red riches, a profusely blooming red with tightly doubled rose - like flowers and blue magic a deep violet blue.

Flame beauty is a new orange colored calendula. The big husky blooms resist heat, and continue to bloom through the summer.

TEEN AGE DIET

A study made by the nutrition specialist of Washington State showed that the average American teen age girl lives on a diet only slightly better than that in many of the world's famine areas. The teen age diets especially lack calcium, iron and vitamin C and the closer the girls get to maturity the poorer their diets and the fewer nutrients they get on the day's meals and snacks. The cause in many cases is the traditional woman worry of over weight. But another is the ever popular candy, popcorn, pop routine which ranks high with teenagers.

Parents certainly cannot supervise every mouthful their youngsters eat but they can make sure that meals eaten in the home contain needed nutrients, using the "big four" food groups as a daily guide. This includes milk, meat, vegetable, fruit and bread cereal groups.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

Clothes dampened with warm water instead of cold water can be ironed sooner.

Before washing your sweater be sure that you make an outline of it on paper — then when it's washed gently pull to the outline.

If grease should catch on fire in a pan, quickly drop a lid over it. This shuts out the air and smothers the flame.

Lemons at room temperature give more juice than cold lemons.

To renew the nice veil on your good hat, place the veil between two pieces of waxed paper and press with a warm iron.

Use a plastic bag to put your bread dough into for rising. Dough won't stick to the bag and no crust will form.

Cut a slice of angel food cake with a thread, clean neat cut!

ASSISTANT HOME AGENT

We, in the Agricultural Extension Office, are happy to welcome Mrs. Donna Moore as the new assistant home demonstration agent who will work primarily with 4-H Club girls. Mrs. Moore is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and has lived in West Monroe for about 2 years. She was a 4-H Club member in Jackson parish while in high school. Mrs. Moore resides at 106 Neil in Kiroli Woods subdivision.

Wintertime Planning For Shrub Layout

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newfeatures

It's never too early to think about planting shrubs around the house.

In foundation planting, we prefer informal arrangement. Size and shape generally are dictated by the size and shape of the house, but we like tall growth at the corners of buildings and a variety of specie and color of foliage.

A mixture of evergreen and deciduous (the kind that lose their leaves) is attractive. Cost is a factor. Even though nursery-grown evergreens may be more expensive, they provide a lot of winter decoration.

Cedar, fir, hemlock and spruce grow tall and must be kept clipped. There are varieties of dwarf evergreens available, but they are more costly. These can be raised in your own garden until they are suitable for placing and replanting.

Of course, the desirability of the deciduous shrubs is in the summer foliage and bloom. Generally they are less expensive than dwarf evergreens.

Shrubs have other than decorative merits. They can be used as borders to mark boundary lines, to screen recreation areas or to hide ugly buildings.

In selecting shrubs you should consider whether they are hardy enough to withstand rugged winters, or other seasonal and sectional vagaries of the nation's climate.

Order your shrubs early. Not only will you get a better variety and possibly healthier stock, but some nurseries give a discount for early orders. The nurseries generally ship them at the proper time for planting in your locale.

The best time for planting, we believe, is spring, as soon as the ground warms up and the leaves begin to grow. In areas of severe cold many nurseries do not recommend fall planting.

It is a good idea to soak roots overnight before planting, especially if they appear dried out.

Good, rich soil is a must for shrubs. Dig a large hole at least 18 inches deep and 36 inches across. Fill the hole with about 25 per cent rotted manure or peat moss to give the plant a good start. Don't crowd shrubs. They need space. Don't set them closer than three or four feet from the foundation of a building. Set them a bit deeper than they were grown in the nursery and give them a good drink at planting.

The hole should be filled about two - thirds full of good soil, packed firmly and well-watered. Then add the rest of the soil, leaving the top a bit looser. If you mound the dirt too firmly around a shrub or tree the water supply may run off.

At planting, a fairly severe pruning is suggested. Remove broken roots and branches and about one-third of the remaining branches. You'll be reluctant to cut off healthy limbs but tell yourself it's for the good of the plant. If you don't, so many leaves and branches will develop that the food and water supply will be spread so thin the plant may not get enough nourishment. Cut right to the ground old and weak stems so that new, vigorous shoots are encouraged.

Prune shrubs at least once a year.

Early flowering shrubs generally produce flowers on the preceding year's growth. Thus they should be pruned after blooming time. Prune summer and fall blooming shrubs in the spring before growth starts. You should be careful in summer pruning not to take away too much foliage from the base or the shrub will look bare.

Don't prune evergreens when you transplant them. The density of their foliage and the natural shape add to their beauty. This doesn't mean you shouldn't eliminate unsightly limbs.

Nixon Given Birthday Fete By His Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon was given a coffee-and-cake party by his staff late Friday on the eve of his 47th birthday.

They all sang "Happy birthday to you, dear boss" as he cut the first piece from a huge cake bearing the steel of California and inscribed: "Happy birthday, 47 is not old."

Jane Dannenhauer of Upper Sandusky, Ohio, one of the vice president's secretaries helped him cut the cake Friday was her 29th birthday.

The office birthday party has become an annual affair.

"Last year it was angel food," Nixon said, smiling. "This year it is devil's food."

Nixon served cake to the others but decided to pass up a slice for himself so as not to disturb his diet, he explained.

The main gift from the staff was a desk set with a clock. The others were "gag" gifts.

FELINE ON FILM: John Wolbarst used 4x5 Polaroid sheet film in a Graflex camera and two small speedlights to get this remarkable cat close-up. It's an eye-opening start for his first "Polaroid Portfolio."

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Another significant step in the evolution of the picture-in-a-minute process is the first publication of a high - quality book illustrated solely with photographs made by Polaroid Land cameras.

"Polaroid Portfolio No. 1" was compiled by the leading authority in the field, John Wolbarst, consulting editor of Modern Photography magazine.

He gathered 165 outstanding photographs for the book which are reproduced with remarkable fidelity and quality by the gravure process. "My purpose," he explained, "was to show that it is now possible to produce pictures by the Polaroid Land process which, in tonal range and general image quality, are equal to anything made with conventional photographic methods by skilled craftsmen." Amphoto published it.

It is interesting to find that 27 amateur photographers made 84 of the photographs in the book while 22 professionals shot the remaining 81 pictures. Most of the pictures were made on regular roll film cameras. Less than half of them were made on 4x5 Polaroid backs for other cameras or for special scientific equipment.

Subject matter ranges from general, landscape and animal studies to those of a technical, industrial and scientific nature. They also range in groups from a Massachusetts housewife's family album to Philippe Halsman's professional portraits and a series of a tiny spittle bug building itself a bubble house taken by a nature hobbyist.

Since this book is the first of its kind, Wolbarst took an uncharted path in tracking down the best Polaroid pictures. Millions of individual pictures had been made but they were hidden or inaccessible. In a way, this was probably a blessing for few of the pictures had ever been published before and the results are exciting and new.

Many professionals found the Polaroid process valuable as an instant - testing process for lighting and composition especially when shooting with speedlights. When everything proved satisfactory in a Polaroid print, then they would shoot it on color film or with a conventional negative.

Of course, the unique feature of the Polaroid Land process is that it produces a positive print in 60 seconds. There is a negative produced but it is usually a paper negative which is destroyed in the process.

With a certain type of film, (Professional Pan, type 53) the negative is coated on an acetate film base which can be saved and made into a conventional negative by an involved, experimental process. Because of this, Wolbarst predicts that one day a film will be perfected which will produce not only the positive print in a minute but also a usable negative of high quality with a minimum of fuss.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Recent Books Now At Center

By MARY JARDINE

Several new books have been added to the Garden Center library. The first is "Christmas and Its Customs" by Christina Hole. This arrived a little to late for Christmas reading but is now on hand for future reference. This charming little book tells the whole fascinating story of Christmas the world over, from the beginning to the present day. Many of our cherished traditions are buried deep in the pagan past. It is most intriguing to follow Christina Hole as she traces them to their origins.

Another book that should appeal to all arranges is "Religious Themes in Flower Arrangement" by Ruth E. Mullins. As flowers speak a universal language this inspiring book has a spiritual message for all sects and creeds. There are theme ideas for worship programs in churches, women's clubs, garden groups and civic organizations and suggestions for lovely designs for the home in observance of all religious holidays. Plant materials, the mechanics of making each arrangement, the colors, accessories and symbolic meaning of each design are given in detail. For worship days in public places or at home, there could be no more useful and inspirational book than this one.

LOCAL DISPLAYS

Local arrangers presented a beautiful and diversified flower show at the Garden Center this week.

Mrs. John P. Lewis titled her design "Memories of Puerto Rico". A large bamboo cylinder, cut by Mrs. Lewis and her son in a bamboo forest in San Juan, was used for a container. A rhythmic vertical design was created using plant material native to Puerto Rico. Primary placements were of green and yellow striped pandanus followed by gracefully curved sansevieria laurenti banded in yellow. The sansevieria was placed in a vertical spiral over the rim of the container. Variegated euonymus was used for depth and furled leaves of aucuba in the focal area. A black crane, also from Puerto Rico completed the distinctive composition.

Mrs. W. E. Kramer's January garden picture was most appealing. Tones of gray green were featured in the triangular design. The rectangular Oriental container of gray green was set on a black scroll base. The triangular pattern was achieved by placements of pineapple guava, glossy green in color with silver on the reverse side of the leaves. Rough textured loquat formed a background for the center of interest, a line of rosettes of echeveria (hen and chickens). These were of gray - green with rosy tints. This was perfect staged againsta pink background.

Camellias were featured in the arresting design created by Mrs. Luther Branch. A tall dark blue vase was selected in which Mrs. Branch made a graceful asymetrical design of pussy willow for the vertical placements balanced by mahonia (holly grape). The line was emphasized by skillfully placed buds and blooms of the Pink Empress camellias. Very delightful to behold.

Lagniappe this week was the serene and charming design also created by Mrs. Branch. A dark green urn of classic shape held the pyramid triangle design of green aspidistra leaves in the background with furled aspidistra balancing the outer edges. Rosettes of deep green pittosporum were used as a backdrop for the two large snowy white chrysanthemums. Excellent for that small book case or console table.

STAMP NEWS

The second of the American "Credo" stamps — featuring Benjamin Franklin's statement "Fear to do ill and you need fear nought else" — will be issued on March 23, 1960. Site of first day sale will be Franklin's hometown, Philadelphia.

The Franklin design will be essentially the same as that of the Washington stamp (first in the "Credo" series) which is to be first place on sale Jan. 20, 1960, at Mount Vernon, Va.

The message on this 4-cent adhesive plus a facsimile of Franklin's autograph and a new symbol, a dove within an olive wreath, will be featured.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the Franklin stamp may send their addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Philadelphia 4, Pa. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 4-cent Franklin 'Credo' Stamp."

A 4-cent commemorative multicolor stamp honoring the 100th anniversary of the Boys' Clubs of America will be issued sometime in 1960.

The exact date is not yet known but it is expected that the stamp will be placed on first day sale in New York City after the middle of the year when the Boys Clubs of America moves into its first permanent national headquarters.

Surinam is joining the Netherlands and Netherlands Antilles in honoring the fifth anniversary of their joint constitution by issuing a new commemorative stamp. The multi-colored 20-cents stamp shows three flowers of the three countries in the Netherlands kingdom. A red flower symbolizes Surinam, a tulip for the Netherlands and a cactus for the Netherlands Antilles. The design was selected in a contest among local Surinamese artists.

The Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa has issued a set of two values honoring the sesquicentennial of Abraham Lincoln's birth. This "Leaders of Democracy" set will feature the portraits of Abraham Lincoln and Sun Yat-sen against a background of U. S. and Chinese national flags.

The British Solomon Islands will replace the 5-pence and 8-pence stamps of the current issue with a 9-pence and 1 shilling 3 pence depicting Henderson Field and a map of the islands.

Somalia soon will issue a series of five new stamps honoring the opening of Somalia University. Two of the three stamps for regular postage will depict the emblem of the university. The third will show a map of Africa. The two airmails will feature various university buildings.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Trees Produce Fine Effects

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Flowering trees are the most effective plants we can set out on our lots. One flowering tree will produce the same effect as a number of shrubs and will not demand half the care and attention. We southerners who are so blessed with native red buds and dogwoods are apt to overlook the fact that we could have just as big a show from the crabapples, flowering peaches, innumerable kinds of ornamental plums and thorn trees, to name only a few.

IN SUMMER

When summer comes around, we do not need to depend upon crape myrtles alone. There are other summer flowering large and small trees. One of the trees which is most attractive and will bloom when a mere shrub is our native sweet bay from the swamps. Sweet bay is really magnolia virginiana. It is evergreen in all but the very coldest parts of the southern states. When the wind blows, the long leaves show their silvery under - sides. Of course, this tree will grow to be a tremendous specimen in time, but it can also be kept down to the size of a large shrub.

The famous Franklin tree, discovered before the American Revolution (and never found again in the wild) by John Bartram, was named for Benjamin Franklin. In summer, the large white flowers of this tree open over a long period which lasts right into frosty weather. They look like large single camellias and are actually close relatives of camellias. The Franklin "tree" is really a very large shrub. Give it a place where it can eventually cover as much as one hundred square feet because it is such a handsome thing that you will not wish to move it.

ALTHAEAS

Althaeas are now being improved greatly. The first really fine variety is the blue one now being offered in the catalogues. When we have still more of these easily grown summer flowering bushes or small trees, they will put on something of a show in our yards from June onwards. We usually regard the different kinds of vitex as shrubs, and some people cut them to the ground annually to keep them in scale with perennials and small shrubs. If they are allowed to grow up, however, they will make fair sized trees with real trunks. The powder blue flowers are most welcome with the common old orange daylilies. Vitex is easy to plant and not at all fussy about its food or location. You can touch up your daylily patch by planting one or two where they will perform together.

THE HOME SHIFT

Rose Pruning February Job

By MILDRED SWIFT

It is not time to prune roses, now. Associate this job with Washington's birthday. I'm speaking of established roses in your garden. Remember we have lots of cold weather coming up according to the law of average.

EUONYMUS

Euonymus is a fine evergreen shrub for color accent. The foliage is also excellent for flower arrangements. It needs little or not conditioning before using and will last three or four weeks in water.

The euonymus grows in acid or alkaline soil, but does best in partial sun. The plants stand cold very well and should be fertilized when other shrubs and trees are fed. Occasionally the shrubs get a mildew in the hot rainy season of summer.

Now is the time to put out balled and burlapped plants and those in containers. The variegata has an oval shaped very thick glossy leaf with vivid yellow splotches down the center. It is an upright grower. It's variigation is more pronounced when it is planted in full sun, but it will grow in complete shade.

The silver queen variety has a more rounded serrated leaf not quite as thick as the variegata. The leaf has a silvery green color with a white edging. It is a compact growing plant with about a two-foot spread and is a slow grower.

Euonymus comes in many different forms or growth habits including a few prostrate species. Mots varieties are easily rooted from cuttings.

JUST GARDENING

If you're interested in perennials that bloom over a long period of time, don't forget shrimp plant when the nurseries get these in.

There's a primrose that is hardy enough to plant outside. Many are evergreen. They come in all colors and are lovely for low planting where you want color. Plant these this month. They can be purchased in local nurseries. We usually think of the primrose as a house plant. They bloom in early spring.

Start thinking about your gladiolus bulbs, the varieties you want. You'll plant these next month — not now.

If we have a warm spell during January, often a crop of aphids will show up. Spray using nicatine solutions, lindane or other insecticide recommended at the seed store for a contact poison. Read instructions on container for mixing. The temperature should be 70 degrees or higher in order to asphyxiate the little rascals, when you spray.

If you haven't planted your sweet peas, do so at once. Since the seed of the flower is large, it can be planted when the soil is still rather heavy. This is not true of tiny seed. They'll be packed and lost if the soil is too wet.

WAR ON SCALE

Let's keep up that war on scale, on camellias. I say camellias because it is more prevalent on those. It is too cold, now, to use anything but malathion. However, that will help to keep scale under control until March, then use your oil emulsion.

The best place for a bed of cut flowers is in the service area. Then if this bed gets weedy, nobody sees it but you. Unless you like to pull weeds or have good yard help several days a week, you'll need to limit this cut flower bed to a small area.

If you're a lover of camellias and have moved in a new home, remember you must have shade to grow these. You're wasting your time and money if you plant camellias in full sun.

When buying roses, why not include some of the beautiful climbers? Just a good strong stake is a good support. There are many advantages in planting climbing roses. They are less subject to disease and insects. They bloom more freely and don't have to be pruned as often. You'll have masses of color all spring and into the summer. Four of my favorite climbers are: Columbia, peace, picture and pinky.

If your nandians are too tall now is the time to cut them as low as 12 inches from the ground. Leave a few of the lower stems to avoid that stumpy look. After the new growth has come out, remove these old ones.

VIBURNUM FAMILY

No plant is more important to north Louisiana gardeners than the viburnum. They are so acclimated to this area, not too subject to insects, disease, freeze or drowth.

The Seiboldi viburnum has a willow green leaf the size of the common gardenia. It grows about ten feet tall and bears pink blossoms in clusters.

The snowball viburnum is a gorgeous sight in the spring. Its blossoms are truly snowballs and sometime the entire shrub looks like a big ball of snow. This plant is semi-evergreen. In some areas of the parish, it loses all its leaves in the winter; some places, just most of them.

The microphyllum grows very fast and is very large. A number of these are on the courthouse lawn. It will grow as high as fifteen feet, so it is fine for screening. The leaves are large and coarse.

SPRING NEWS

Designers are really sleeve conscious in planning the spring styles. If you have any of your dress patterns from back in the "thirties" just use the sleeve from that. Wider and puffed. That's the sleeve news.

Another "throw back" that's coming into style again is the dirndl skirt. Another is the slinky gingham evening gown, with sequins too!

Franklin Parish TB Association Report Is Given

WINNSBORO (Special) — Mrs. Barbara Butler, executive secretary of the Franklin Parish Tuberculosis association, gave a report on the results to date of the Christmas Seal campaign at the regular quarterly meeting of the board of directors in Winnsboro Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Butler reported that 71 letters had been returned with total contributions of $954.35. There were 4,214 Christmas Seal letters mailed to prospective members in November, and persons who have neglected to return their letter with their contribution are urged to get them in the mail at once to help this very worthwhile cause of fighting tuberculosis.

Dr. Brashear Earle, president of the association, presided at Thursday afternoons meeting, and other members of the board of directors were Mrs. Guy Kincaid, Mrs. Thelma Applewhite, Mrs. Stella Van Matre W. C. Campbell, James H. Ward and Barney Cottingham.

FINCH MURDER

Crucial Part Of Case Told

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the bright moonlight of a warm July night a white dress caught the eye of a police officer.

He hurried down an embankment and turned his flashlight on the dead, battered body of Barbara Jean Finch.

She lay on a neighbor's lawn, face up, eyes staring, her dress stained with great blotches of blood.

A bullet had passed through her body, her skull had been fractured twice, and there were 15 cuts, bruises and skinned places on her face, arms, legs and hands.

One was an abrasion at the base of her right thumb.

And on this tiny nick hangs a crucial part of the case the defense attorney hopes will save the life of Dr. R. Bernard Finch.

He and his sweetheart, Carole Tregoff, 23, are charged with murder and conspiracy. The doctor's estranged wife, who was 36, died last July 16.

The state says the pair had plotted the murder, lay in wait for Mrs. Finch at her home, and that the doctor shot her as she fled.

Finch hasn't testified yet in his own defense. But a first hint of defense plans came Friday as the trial's first week ended, when his attorney demonstrated with a bailiff's pistol and posed this question. Could the pistol which killed her have been snatched from Mrs. Finch's hand, causing the abrasion on her thumb?

An autopsy surgeon acknowleged under cross - examination that the wound could have come from such an action.

He said that other scrapes and bruises—and even a skull fracture—could have come in a struggle in the garage over the pistol.

But Grant Cooper, the doctor's attorney, didn't offer any explanation of how Mrs. Finch was shot. Dr. Gerald K. Ridge, the autopsy surgeon, had testified that she was shot in the back.

"We have a lot more questions for Dr. Ridge," Cooper said as court adjourned Friday for a weekend recess.

In its first week, the state launched its case against the 42-year-old physician. Miss Tregoff's name wasn't mentioned after the prosecution's opening statement.

In it, Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whichello charged that Finch and Miss Tregoff, his onetime receptionist, hated Mrs. Finch and wanted her "out of the way"—so they wouldn't have to share the $750,000 in community property Mrs. Finch had described in a divorce suit against Finch.

Witnesses placed Finch at the home the night his wife died.

Marie Anne Lidholm, 19-year-old Swedish maid at the home, said she ran to the garage, attracted by screams of Mrs. Finch, and found the doctor there—and Mrs. Finch unconscious on the floor.

"He pushed my head against the wall . . . three or four times . . . as hard as he could," she said. Jurors visited the $65,000 Finch home in suburban West Covina and viewed the hole in the garage wall where the maid said her head was pounded against the plasterboard.

Miss Lioholm said Finch ordered her into the car, fired a shot to show he meant it, and then forced the revived Mrs. Finch to get into the car, too. Mrs. Finch ran from the car and the doctor ran after her, the girl testified.

Pattie Daugherty, 12, daughter of Mrs. Finch by a previous marriage, testified that on the night of the slaying she heard the loud, angry voice of her stepfather in the garage. But she said she didn't enter the garage when Marie Anne screamed to her to get in the house and lock the door.

Miss Lidholm burst into tears once under Cooper's patient but exacting cross examination. She admitted half a dozen inconsistencies in different versions she had told of the night's events. But she maintained that her account on the witness stand was the correct version, and blamed language difficulties for some of the changes.

Miss Tregoff burst into tears twice the day the court went to the Finch home, but otherwise maintained an icy composure.

The doctor showed no emotion at all—sitting quietly most of the week with his hands clasped before him, listening attentively to witnesses. He chatted affably with bailiffs during recesses. As the trial began he told a newsman "I'm confident. I know I'm innocent."

Tobacco Leaders Enter Fray

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—Tobacco industry leaders threw their support Saturday behind a compromise plan to hold down rising price supports and begin lining up support for another showdown with Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson.

A group representing all segments of the industry endorsed a proposal that would hold 1960 price supports at the 1959 level—55.5 cents per pound. Supports in subsequent years would be "adjusted" to compensate for increased prices of goods farmers buy.

The proposal already has the support of the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation which, last year, joined with Benson in opposing an industry - sponsored measure that was vetoed by President Eisenhower.

The vetoed bill would have held 1959 price supports at the 1958 level until the figure, computed on an old parity formula, reached that stage. Shortly after approving this year's proposal, the industry leaders voted to call on Rep. Harold Cooley (D-N.C.), Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, to set a meeting of all tobacco-state congressmen for Thursday. Cooley was expected to agree to the meeting.

Tobacco leaders have warned that the continuing rise in support levels was pricing U. S. leaf out of the export market.

The new proposal called for legislation to "maintain a continuing program in tobaco and to stabilize the price support of tobacco to prevent its spiraling due to a decline in prices of other agricultural commodities."

The resolution, drafted by the North Carolina and Virginia Farm Bureau Federations and amended by the AFBF, asked that the tobacco support level in 1960 be the same as in 1959. Adjustments in subsequent years would be in direct proportion to changes in prices paid by farmers for commodities purchased. The previous three - year moving average of prices paid would be used as a base.

Benson had favored a decrease in support prices to encourage more foreign trading. He opposed the 1959 proposal because it did not provide for a decrease in prices and was based on "old parity" instead of the modernized parity which has been used in recent years.

Love Of Dog Nearly Tragic For 3-Year-Old

WARREN, Ohio (AP)The love of a boy for his dog almost spelled tragedy Saturday for Randy Moy, 3½. He chased the dog into a jungle of trees and bushes and spent more than 17 hours there in subfreezing temperatures.

But the story had a happy ending.

Randy was found in a thick clump of five-foot-high bushes, about a mile from his rural home, by one of the more than 400 searchers who hunted for him all night. The dog was discovered early in the search in a section close to where Randy had spent his chilly night. The weather was clear and crisp, but temperatures dropped to a frosty 20 degrees.

Randy was standing up, groggy and sleepy, when one of the volunteers called out: "I've found him. Here he is."

Randy seemed shy and frightened. His only words, murmured through chattering lips, were "mommy, mommy." His face bore scratches from the brambles.

Sheriff's deputies picked up the youngster, put him in a car, and started a daredevil ride to a hospital 12 miles away in Greenville, Pa., twice beating trains over grade crossings by seconds, as warning flashers blinked the red lights.

James Davidson, a constable, cradled Randy in his arms and breathed into the boy's mouth for two minutes.

"He was gasping and his eyes rolled back in his head," Davidson said. "So I blew into his mouth and he seemed to snap out of it. I told him to keep his mouth and eyes open."

His condition was described by hospital attendants as satisfactory to fair. He was treated for shock and exposure. No part of his body seemed frozen, apparently because he was dressed warmly.

Foundation Aims Grants At Sciences

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Ford Foundation made a total of 119-million dollars in grants and other commitments in 1959 — heavily concentrated in science, engineering and education.

The annual report of President Henry T. Heald, released Saturday, shows the foundation devoted 15½-million dollars to projects aimed specifically at a "breakthrough" in training the many new school tachers the nation needs.

The foundation's activities were world wide, although the biggest expenditures by far were in the United States. Total commitments exceeded those of 1958 by 35-million dollars. Immeditae grants and money for projects being carried by the Ford Foundation itself were $63,700,000 with $30.200,000 million dollars earmarked for future work and grants. Expenses were $5,100,000 dollars.

IS SHE STILL TOMMY MANVILLE'S WIFE? — Mrs. Anita Roddy-Eden Sutton, who thinks her divorce as Tommy Manville's ninth wife may not have been legal, displays what she described as a blackmail letter as she and her present husband, actor John Sutton (right), talked with newsmen. A Los Angeles newspaper quoted her as saying that because of an irregularity in the divorce in 1955 she has paid out $27,000 in blackmail in the last two years to an unknown person. Manville is planning to marry wife No. 11 next week. (AP Wirephoto)

'WILLINGLY'

Nixon's Name Set In Primary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon Saturday "willingly" but informally made himself a GOP presidential candidate in three of the nation's 1960 primaries.

Nixon's name was placed in the March 8 New Hampshire primary with the vice president's permission, and his office confirmed that he has agreed to enter primaries in both Oregon and Ohio.

But a spokesman said "This is as formal as it will be" as far as any forthright announcement is concerned.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, told a news conference the Vice President has "no plans to be in any of these primary states—not even once" as a campaigning candidate.

Rather, Klein said, Nixon intends to stick to his official duties in Washington—filling in for President Eisenhower during his upcoming gravels overseas and helping push the administration program through congress.

Nixon stepped into the presidential race on his 47th birthday.

Nixon's candidacy became avowed as he allowed his name to be entered in the three state primaries.

He informed Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield Friday that he definitely wil be in that state's May 20 primary.

Saturday, Gov. Wesley Powell formally entered Nixon's name in the New Hampshire primary. Klein announced Nixon will "allow" his name to remain on the ballot. For official purposes, Nixon will be notified of Powell's action and will have 10 days to reply. His apswer will be in the affirmative, Klein said.

Nixon's entry into the Ohio primary on May 3 was announced by Republican State Chairman Ray Bliss.

Klein repudiated any idea that Nixon's refusal to proclaim his candidacy formally made him a "reluctant candidate."

"I think he felt that all of you have been writing about him as a candidate for some time and that to make a major formal thing of this would be unnecessary," Klein added.

He emphasized that Nixon has made no decision yet about any other primary contests and would not do so until the primary filing times come up.

"This is as formal (an announcement) as it will be," Klein said. "There will be no statement from the Vice President now or in the future."

Klein said Hatfield called Nixon about the Oregon primary Friday and that although the governor was assured the Vice President would be a candidate in his state. He also was told Nixon would "not be able to campaign there."

Klein said Nixon Friday also told Bliss he would approve the entry of a slate of pledged Nixon delegates in the Ohio primary.

Klein said the Vice President has "no campaign speeches scheduled" and that his next major speech outside Washington comes on Jan. 27 when he addresses a salute-to - Eisenhower dinner at Chicago.

Nixon will speak at the University of Florida at Gainesville Friday night and attend a reception in Miami Saturday.

On Feb. 6, he addresses the California newspaper publishers convention at Los Angeles. On Feb. 8, he will make a Lincoln Day speech in Milwaukee, and on Feb. 15 will address the Economic Club at Detroit.

He will be at Squaw Valley, Calif., site of the forthcoming winter Olympic games, on Feb. 18.

In reply to questions, Klein said President Eisenhower is "Aware" of the fact Nixon is entering the various primaries. But Klein avoided answering directly whether the President had given Nixon any expressions of personal support or endorsement. He recalled that Eisenhower had said he will "remain neutral" in the GOP nomination.

The Vice President's aide also said Nixon has not discussed "any vice presidential possibilities" and is only "concerned about getting the nomination himself."

Announcement Of Election For Port Told

GULFPORT, Miss. (UPI)—Public announcement of an election to decide state ownership of the port of Gulfport was made Saturday, thus helping to clear the way for ownership before Gov. J. P. Coleman leaves office.

However, supporters of Gov.-elect Ross Barnett threw up another legal move aimed at delaying the election. Three Gulfport businessmen challenged the validity of the appointment of J. K. Milner of Gulfport to the city's port commission. Milner's vote vote provided the majority needed to approve a contract on state ownership.

Chancellor Stokes Robertson will hold a hearing Monday on the appointment challenge.

Friday, Robertson authorized the Biloxi-Gulfport Daily Herald to publish notice of the Tuesday election after attempts were made to block such publication. Had the notice not been given the election would have been invalidated.

If state ownership is approved in an election before Coleman leaves office, he will be allowed to appoint port commissioners. If it is later, Barnett can appoint them.

Investigators Study Murder Of Deputy

JACKSON (UPI)—Highway Patrol investigators said Saturday that although no further arrests were planned in the immediate future their investigation of the savage murder of Montgomery County Deputy. Kelly was continuing.

Officers made the statement after reports were made that Kelly's widow, Mrs. Minnie Kelly, was cleared of suspicion in the bizarre case.

Highway Patrol investigators Gwin Cole and Ken Fairly, home in Jackson for the weekend, said principals in the murder "implicated Mrs. Kelly in their statements and she may face further questioning."

The 23 - year - old mother was picked up at Winona Friday morning for questioning and released Friday afternoon. Officers said she admitted being intimate with former Montgomery County Sheriff Lawrence King, who is charged with the murder, but she denied having anything to do with the killing.

Cole and Fairly said two Negroes, Alec Morris and Pink Earl Townsend, confessed beating and stabbing Kelly in the sheriff's office at Winona Saturday night. Morris told officers King promised him $1,000 to do the killing.

About 42 billion steel "tin" cans are made annually in the United States.

THE UNPREDICTABLE THEATER

NEW YORK (AP) — In the theater, the most unlikely and improbable things can happen—on stage as well as off. Witness the magic that has touched Gene Boland and Alease Whittington.

Boland — a comparatively unknown 22-year-old actor whose experience has been limited to summer stock and off-Broadway — was signed for the leading role in "The Cool World," a new play by Warren Miller and Robert Rossen.

The "Cool World" producers have signed Miss Whittington for the role of a 16-year-old Negro prostitute. Miss Whittington has never acted before. She works as a secretary in a theatrical-talent agency and her boss recommended her for the role. She got it after a series of readings.

The play is scheduled to begin rehearsals Jan. 11.

ONE UP, ONE DOWN

NEW YORK (AP) — In the theatre, practically all elements are organized in some form of union except for the directors and choreographers. To remedy this situation, the Society of Stage Directors and Choreographers was created.

In its first move for decognition, the society got a setback. The League of New York Theaters refused to recognize the group, arguing that the directors and choreographers are in the same position as producers — that is, they are in business for themselves, as independent contractors.

But Shepard Traube, president of the society, calls the objection absurd. He said the society will give the league another chance to change its mind and position and if that doesn't produce anything, it will then try to bargain with producers one at a time.

Since 1934, over 2 billion tons of raw steel have been produced in this country.

'Li'L Abner' Now Showing At Paramount

America's favorite cartoon strip "Li'l Abner," which became one of Broadway's most successful musical comedies, has been adapted by the authors of the show, Melvin Frank and Norman Panama, into a big-screen, Technicolor extravaganza, which arrives today at the Paramount Theatre. The Paramount production goes a great deal farther in recreating a wacky, wonderful world conceived by Al Capp, clever originator of the cartoon strip, than was possible by the limited confines of the stage. All the biliariously funny, off-beat characters whose zany actions have held the interest of the nation's comics readers for years, will be seen in the flesh, twice as funny as their line - drawing counterparts, and in positively amazin' action.

Li'l Abner "hisself" — big, brawny, but alas, not too brainy — is portrayed by Peter Palmer, the ex - football player discovered by Panama and Frank and cast in their stage play. (Not only Palmer, but many of the other top role players, appeared in the Broadway show.) The luscious Daisy Mae is personified by curvaceous Leslie Parrish, former model who was NBC color girl. Marryin' Sam is played by the rotund, wonderful comedian of "Guys and Dolls" fame, Stubby Kaye; the bombastic General Bullmoose by veteran stage star Howard St. John; and Stupefyin' Jones, the girl guaranteed to stupefy anyone, by fabulous Julie Newmar.

The great musical numbers, the riotously funny doings of Dogpatch, make "Li'l Abner" the most anticipated motion picture of any season.

Little Theater Curtain Call

By DELL MOORE
Guest Writer

"ALL THE WORLD IS A STAGE AND EACH MUST PLAY HIS PART" — that's what Al Jolson used to say in the middle of one of his songs — and it's true. Can you imagine how dull it would be if everyone were just alike. Individuality is a wonderful things. Some of these individuals make up the world of entertainment. For instance, what if there were not books to read, records to enjoy, television, movies, plays, concerts, etc. and you know all these fall into the category of entertainment. Have you ever stopped to think while you are watching any of these plays, movies, etc. how many individuals (or personalities) it takes to make up just one short story. It would not be possible without the cameraman, the stage man, the writers, backstage people, and small parts, and during a dramatic or heartwarming scene the music that emphasizes this most important scene. Or what about the garbage collector, the milk man, the executive, and all over the world how each person is so important. I think that is what Al Jolson was saying ALL the world is a lage Feazel are flying up Monstage and EACH must play his part. God has given each of us a talent.

Your talent may be engineering, science, teaching, medicine, stenographer, salesman, bookkeeping, etc — but as the old saying "all work and no play makes a dull day" — perhaps your play includes bowling, golf, fishing, hunting, bridge, or maybe Little Theatre.

I know some of you have said I would like to be in one of the Little Theatre plays but I can't act. How do you know — have you ever tried? We have a wonderful director and his business is teaching us to play-act. If you have ever said I would like to participate in Little Theatre but — well come on out. We would be more than pleased to have you. Maybe you will be one of the fortunate ones to get a principal part the first thing, but if you don't, just remember — we have to crawl before we walk. I started off in Little Theatre with the part of a maid — I had a wonderful time and I have worked backstage and have had just as good a time as being in front of the footlights. So, come on out and join us in this our big, big year of 1960. We are definitely going to remember 1959 and 1960 as being the years of our new Little Theatre.

One Monroe Little Theatre participant and former director of Little Theatre has just opened in a new play in New York, January 3rd. He is Lewis Guerriero. Lewis' stage name is Lewis Girard. The play at the Eugene O'Neal Theatre is "A Distant Bell" by Kathrine Morrill — imagine the thrill of his first Broadway play. Lewis has been active in and out of New York with summer stock and off-Broadway plays — but this is the first on Broadway. We are thrilled for you Lewis and wish you every success. Lewis's mother, Mrs. A. M. Guerriero and Miss Lalday to see the play.

Our next Little Theatre production will be Sabrina Fair — tryouts were held Thursday at the playhouse — more details next week.

AT JIM THEATRE

Outstanding Cast In Picture Here

Michael Rennie retraces the boot - prints of the late, great British adventurer, Edward Whymper, in Walt Disney's production, "Third Man on the Mountain," shot on location near Zermatt, Switzerland.

"Third Man on the Mountain" begins a local run Friday at the Jim Theatre.

Whymper, most celebrated of all Alpine climbers, was the first to scale the Matterhorn — always regarded by the Swiss as impregnable — in 1865 and in "Third Man on the Mountain" Rennie stars as a British adventurer of that era, Capt. John Winter, who is determined to conquer the Citadel, an undefeated Swiss peak. Using the Matterhorn for the Citadel, Rennie is shown actually re-creating the climb made famous by Whymper.

Rennie, whose previous climbing experience was limited to a vacation ascent of the Statue of Liberty, practiced on the Riffelhorn, an Alp over 9,000 feet high. His assault on the Matterhorn took over four weeks to film. And for Rennie, climbing the Matterhorn was only part of the risky assignment he held with "Third Man on the Mountain."

Shortly after arriving in Zermatt from New York he was flown by helicopter to Gorner Glacier, 13,000 feet above sea level, where scenes were filmed depicting his rescue from a treacherous crevasse.

For two days Rennie emoted from an ice bridge 13 feet inside the big crack, in what was literally a "deep freeze."

The actor stars with James MacArthur, Janet Munro, James Donald, Herbert Lom and Laurence Naismith in Disney's Technicolor Alpine adventure drama, released by Buena Vista.

SOLVES HIS PROBLEM

ATLANTA (AP) — An airline reported a passenger came up with a tasty answer when told his luggage exceeded the weight limit by eight ounces.

The man opened his suitcase, took out a two-foot roll of salami, sliced off half a pound, and ate it before boarding the plane.

Why You Should Choose a
Hammond Organ for Your Church
When you are ready to choose an organ, remember that a Hammond Organ offers your church the best value.
Over 40,000 churches have chosen a Hammond Organ: because only a Hammond Organ has:
• A far greater range of true church tones than any other organ.
• "Living" cathedral-like tones for any enclosure.
• No tuning expense—only a Hammond can't get out of tune.
• Easy to play.
• Rich percussion effects of chimes, bells, celeste, marimba, and others.

FROM BICKS

Oil Industry Gets Monopoly Notice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert A. Bicks, the Justice Department's acting trust buster, put the oil industry on notice this week against monopolistic mergers.

The warning wasn't confined to petroleum alone. It was directed at all big business. But it coincided with the reconvening of Congress and moves to revive anti-merger legislation.

It also followed the filing of a Justice Department suit to block Standard Oil of Ohio's acquisition of Leonard Refiners, Inc., Alma, Mich. Leonard is Michigan's biggest refiner and controls 65 per cent of the crude oil produced in that state.

The Justice Department said the two companies — with combined assets of 433 million dollars and gross annual sales of 444 million dollars — are competitors and that their amalgamation would give Sohio an undue advantage over smaller competitors.

It is mergers of this type which Sens. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) hope to head off with premerger notice legislation pending before the Senate Judiciary Committee. They won subcommittee approval of the measure last year and expect to win the full committee's okay in time for floor action this spring.

The bill would force companies with combined capital of more than 10 million dollars to give the attorney general 60 days advance notice of intent to merge. After such notice the Justice Department would explore the monopolistic aspects, if any, and try to enjoin the consolidation if the public interest stood to suffer.

The oil industry almost unanimously opposes the measure but the Justice Department has endorsed its objectives on grounds it is too difficult legally to unscramble a merger after it has gone through.

Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee, is sponsoring a companion bill but plans to wait for the Senate act. The legislation has been on the Senate Judiciary Committee's agenda since last spring. A committee aide said "it was a good gamble" that O'Mahoney and Kefauver will press for action after the committee completes organizing for the new session.

Bicks, in a year-end report to Attorney General William P. Rogers, emphasized that 50 per cent more federal anti-merger suits were filed in 1959 than in any year since the 1914 Clayton Act became law. Ten were filed.

Cotton Futures Close With Irregularity

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures prices churned irregularly last week to close $1.20 a bale lower to 25 cents a bale higher.

Nearby May and July deliveries took the sharpest losses. But October and subsequent deliveries hit life of contract highs at their best levels of the week.

Prices trickled lower at the start of the week on liquidation, some hedge selling and the uncovering of stop-loss orders.

But the market turned around and headed higher on Wednesday on buying prompted by hopes the administration might accept some of the changes in present price support legislation proposed by the cotton industry.

Profit taking attracted by the advances then wiped out most of the earlier gains and the market moved lower as the week ended.

The amount of cotton registered for export this season under the payment-in-kind program stood at 4,987,000 bales Jan. 1.

Actual exports of the staple for the current season through Jan. 5 came to about 2,038,000 bales against 1,243,000 a year ago, according to the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau.

For the week ended Tuesday, exports totaled about 124,000 bales against 264,000 a week earlier and 48,000 a year earlier.

LIKE DIVER ON SPRINGBOARD

Business Heads Into Big Boom

NEW YORK (AP)—Like a diver poised on a springboard, business was catapulted full speed into the anticipated boom of 1960 by the past week's steel strike settlement.

The agreement burst with surprising swiftness from a stubborn deadlock that had given no indication of a quick break.

The business world, eager to be about the pleasant task of trying to make lavish 1960 predictions come true, had been straining at the leash imposed by the uncertainties of the steel dispute.

Industrial leaders greeted the settlement with almost unanimous expressions of belief that it assures a year of unparalled prosperity in nearly every field.

Some tempered their enthusiasm with sober warnings that the new steel contract is inflationary and will surely bring higher prices.

Some producers of cotton fabrics for automobile interiors responded to the settlement by raising prices for second quarter shipments. A carpet industry leader said the settlement makes higher carpet prices likely for fall.

With worries about steel supplies ended, the automobile industry set out to build 700,000 cars this month which would be a record. Operations are humming on a double-shift, six-day basis. Estimated output the past week was 162,000.

The appliance industry, equally relieved, forecast sale of 16 million major home appliance units this year, a gain of 275 million dollars, or about 10 per cent, over 1959.

Steel production the past week was estimated at 2,707,000 tons, down slightly from the previous week's 2,726,000 but well above the 2,035,000 a year ago.

With all the talk about prices likely to go up, there was some good news for consumers.

Wholesale food prices dipped to the lowest level since Nov. 15, 1949. Dun & Bradstreet's food index stood at $5.70, which is the total amount you would pay at wholesale for one pound each of 31 foods in general use. The past week it was $5.74, a year ago $6.24.

President Ralph W. Burger of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., the country's largest food store chain, said food prices should remain stable in 1960.

People came out of the holidays with money to spend. Retail trade, spurred by traditional early-January clearance sales, posted gains the past week of four to eight per cent over a year ago.

Briefly around the business scene: The Justice Department brought 63 antitrust actions in 1959, largest number since 1943... The Commerce Department estimates construction outlays in 1959 at 54,300,000,000, up from nearly 50 billion in 1958...The tire industry expects to sell a record of 5,800,000 snow tires this year . . . Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corp. says it will contribute $1 for every $2 employes invest in its stock and guarantee against loss for two years . . . S. S. Kresge Co., with 725 variety stores, announced it would introduce a credit plan soon . . . President Allen S. King of Edison Electric Institute predicts U. S. production of electricity will more than double in the next decade . . . Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton has called off merger talks with Lockheed Aircraft Corp . . . The paperboard industry had a record production of 15,990,000 tons in 1959, compared with 14,241,000 in 1958.

Grain Price Works Both Directions

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices worked both ways this week on a variety of temporary influences but finished with gains ranging from small fractions to more than two cents.

Soybeans and rye, which galloped up and down broadly all week, led the advances with plus signs about equal to their last run-up Friday. The two losses, one in March wheat the other in May oats, were in minimum fractions.

The reconvening of Congress brought the market back to long-absent political considerations. It was one of those which sparked a general rally Wednesday when dealers heard rumors President Eisenhower's State of the Union message would include a specific proposal for curtailing grain production and disposing of huge surpluses, particularly wheat.

Instead, the President spoke of the farm problem in generalities which was viewed as a restatement of the administration position a year ago. Since Congress rejected recommended revisions then, brokers expressed belief the same membership is not likely to be any friendlier toward them now.

Withdrawal of participation in the soybean trade appears to have been a factor in the broad price shifts of that commodity. Since the open interest hit almost 200 million bushels shortly before issuance of the government's bearish final crop report in December the figure has been declining steadily. At week's end it was down to about 175 million.

Small cash receipts of wheat and the feed grains imparted firmness to those prices.

At the end of the week, wheat was ⅛ cent a bushel lower to 1⅛ cents higher, March $2.04¼-⅛; corn ¼-⅜ higher, March $1.14⅜-½; oats ⅛ lower to 1 cent higher, March 76¼-⅛; rye 12½ cents higher, March $1.30¼-½; soybeans 1⅝-2¾ higher, January $2.14¾-⅝.

Hawaii Fights For Pineapple Industry Lead

By CLAUDE BURGETT

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii is still king of the world pineapple industry, but increasing foreign competition has the monarch worried.

The 50th state supplied 68.90 per cent of the world's pineapple in 1949. Last year this percentage was down to 57.14.

Foreign competitors have recovered from World War I and are now elbowing for markets. They have invaded Hawaii's biggest and oldest market — the U.S. mainland.

Mainland consumers buy 83 per cent of the fruit from Hawaii's fields. This is about 80 per cent of the U.S. demand.

Following the king's lead, foreign pineapple producers have offered their goods in other markets previously dominated by Hawaii. Their fruit goes to such prime markets as West Germany, Canada, Scandinavia, Switzerland, Belgium and the Netherlands.

Hawaii's growers boast their fruit is the world's best. But, foreign pineapple is cheaper.

Wall Street Adage Is Noted Now

NEW YORK (UPI)—This is the time of year when one might like to join the ranks of the BAWC which stands for "Boy are we confused."

Practically everybody says 1960 will set new high records for industrial production, gross national product, personal income, disposable income,and just about everything else.

Wall Street's old adage says when any group is unanimous in anything, it usually is wrong.

We've licked inflation, says one group. We need more controls to prevent inflation, says another. Still another says the time is ripe for a deflation.

INFLATION POSSIBLE

And then comes the indication the steel strike may result in a mandated settlement with the prospects strong for a rise in steel prices and with that rise and big wage increase a new inflationary spiral may come.

Our nation isn't growing fast enough, says a group of economists.

Another group says the growth rate is a sound one. The Federal Reserve Board recalculated its production index and found we've been growing faster than we thought.

There's a chance of a dip in business with a possible recession in another 12 months or so, one group holds. If so money rates should come down. If they come down, foreigners will sell our short term securities and possibly take our gold. They have enough in dollar credits to wipe out our $19 billion gold hoard with one swoop.

We have helped Europe build up its production machine and taught its people our methods. Now they can undersell us and are doing just that to the extent that we have a $4 billion deficit in the balance of payments. At the same time, they restrict our exports.

All this confusion may have its good side. It will make our caution and if so we'll be able to avoid excesses that would produce a "bust" that might well rock us a bit.

FAVORABLE ITEM PRESENT

There are many very favorable items in the business picture just now that indicate one may not have to do much worrying until the middle of the year.

Consumers aren't afraid, and they are planning to do a lot of buying. The leisure market is going full tilt as witness 39 million people spending two and a half billion dollars on boats in 1959 and planning to spend more in 1960.

The government is doing many things that will give us more foreign trade to cut down our deficit in the balance of payments.

We'll hear millions of words from the politicians as the campaign for next autumn's election approaches. They may do one of two things—take our minds off our own confusion or bring us all into the BAWC.

Asking Price May Go Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The asking price may go down once more when U.S. officials try to convince Soviet officials Monday to pay off their wartime lend lease debt.

It will be the third round of talks on the subject since the end of World War II. American officials reported Friday they were ready to compromise.

During the war, the United States helped the Soviet Union with $10,800,000,000 worth of lend-lease goods. The United States figures the Soviets are liable for $2,600,000,000 worth — the amount of nonmilitary goods delivered during the war and still in possession of the Soviet Union at the end.

But the United States has never asked for that much. The first bill asked for half—$1,300,000,000. After two fruitless periods of negotiation, in 1947-48 and 1951-52, the asking price went down to 800 million dollars.

BIRTH CONTROL

Episcopal Heads Restate Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen Episcopal leaders said Saturday they will ask that the church's 1961 convention urge better-developed nations to provide technical and other aids to countries where population control "has become a necessity."

The leaders thus restated the position expressed by the church's world conference of bishops at Lambeth Palace in London in 1958. Of 310 conference members, 89 were bishops of the church in the United States.

The 13 leaders constitute the joint commission on "The Church in Human Affairs" of the church's General Convention. They issued a statement on "Planned Parenthood and Population Control" after a three-day meeting in nearby Alexandria, Va.

The group said the rapid increase of world population is a problem of grave and growing concern to all thinking people.

"Ominous warnings against the explosive results of population growth have come from experts in demography, economics, and sociology. Ethical and religious aspects of the issue have been discussed by outstanding leaders in the ecumenical movement both at home and abroad. Already in this country the subject has become a matter of political debate and judicial rulings," the statement said.

"The Supreme Court of Errors of the state of Connecticut recently reviewed and upheld the laws of that state which prohibit the use of contraceptive devices and drugs. A recent statement issued in Washington by some 200 cardinals, archbishops, and bishops of that communion on the subject of birth control, and opposes this nation's right to make birth control information available to any nation which might request it.

"Controversy has now developed over the possibility of the election of a Roman Catholic to the presidency and the position he might take on the issue.

"Because of these impelling current concerns, and also because we recognize that the morality of planned parenthood is a problem of continuing concern for our own church people, we have decided to issue this statement in order to call renewed attention to the position of the Anglican communion on these matters."

The group then called attention to a resolution adopted by the Lambeth conference saying the responsibility for deciding upon the number and frequency of children "has been laid by God upon the consciences of parents everywhere: that this planning, in such ways as are mutually acceptable to husband and wife in Christian conscience, is a right and important factor in Christian family life."

The group also referred to a statement on the same problem issued by the Lambeth conference in an encyclical letter which said among other things: "There are many lands today where population is increasing so fast that the survival of young and old is threatened. We believe that it is the duty of better-developed countries to help such countries to become self-supporting in food supplies and health measures through technical and other aids.

"In such countries population control has become a necessity. Abortion and infanticide are to be condemned, but methods of control, medically endorsed and morally acceptable, may help the people of these lands so as to plan family life that children may be born without a likelihood of starvation."

This position, said the group, represents the view of the joint commission and its adoption will be asked in the commission's formal report to the 1961 General Convention.

Signing the commission statement were: The Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, bishop of Texas; the Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Warnecke, bishop of Bethlehem the Rt. Rev. C. Gresham Marmion Jr., bishop of Kentucky, chairman; the Rt. Rev. William H. Marmion, bishop of southwestern Virginia the Rev. Harold C. Gosnell, San Antonio, Tex.;

The Rev. Canon Charles S. Martin, Washington, D.C.; the Rev. William G. Pollard, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; the Rev. Perry F. Rex, Wilmington, Del.; the Rev. Robert P. Varley, Salisbury, Md.; John E. Buddington, Melrose. Mass.; Michael Budzanowski, Monongahela, Pa.; William C. Turpin, Macon, Ga.; and Mrs. Lloyd W. Clarke, Watertown, N.Y.

Head Says FCC Must Be Careful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John C. Doerfer said Friday night the Federal Communications Commission must be very careful in reacting to suggestions on how to handle abuses in broadcasting.

"It should be cautious," he said, "lest it take or recommend steps which may militate against the ultimate best interest of the public."

Doerfer's audience was the Federal Communications Bar Assn., made up of those who argue cases before the FCC.

His prepared speech followed by a week a report in which Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers declared that FCC had failed to use all of its existing powers to control broadcasting practices.

With respect to the questions now raised about possible government controls over program content, Doerfer said: "The future of the American system of broadcasting hangs in the balance. And by the American System of broadcasting, I mean the original congressional intent, as yet unamended, that it shall be developed within the framework of the competitive system, and that the commission shall have no power of censorship or impose any regulation or condition which shall interfere with freedom of expression."

He recalled that during the last 28 years, the Sureme Court has said on one occasion FCC has "the burden of determining the composition of traffic" on the airways, and on another has stated "the commission is given no supervisory control."

Doerfer also noted that more than 25 years have elapsed since there has been a court-approved revocation of a broadcasting license and commented: "the very fact that the commission, made up of men of different walks of life, of different political parties, in the past 28 years, has never been able to consistently and conclusively resolve these (license) renewal problems, indicates to me not laxness, nor an abandonment of duty, nor lack of courage, but reasonable doubts and practical difficulties of reconciling some of the fundamental conflicting views."

SAVED FOR SURPRISES

DES MOINES (AP) — Do you save your cards to be opened all at once, on Christmas afternoon, maybe?

You might take a lesson from the experience of a Des Moines matron. She did that and found she had missed accepting invitations to three early holiday parties.

Army Closes Plant After Explosion

KARNACK, Tex. (UPI) — The Army closed down the Longhorn ordnance plant yesterday to figure out what caused rocket fuels to explode so violently it shook residents of Shreveport, La., about 20 miles away.

The blast wrecked the building where a solid rocket fuel was being mixed by remote control. A ball of flame spiraled into the sky. And the ground shook so badly, hundreds of residents in the area thought it was an earth tremor.

Col. John Harrison, commanding officer at the plant, ordered it shut down and an investigation by a board of inquiry.

Capt. Benedict Comisky, Harison's adjutant, could give no immediate damage estimate, but he said the explosion did "considerabl damage to the building and equipment."

Comisky credited the "remote control" mixing with saving lives. Nobody was in the building, and not a single injury was reported.

Maj. Sherman Jennings, returning to Barksdale AFB near Shreveport from Carswell AFB at Fort Worth, said he was flying at 5,000 feet in a C-7 about 20 miles away when the explosion occurred.

"There was a big ball of flame," he said, "and a good size flash."

One woman in Shreveport said she was "shaken violently" and residents of the Louisiana towns of Dixie, Plain Dealing, Minden, Bossier City and Vivian also reported feeling the ground shake.

The plant is operated for the government by Thiokol Chemical Co.

Hoffa Says Bender Has Quit As Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa said Saturday that George H. Bender, former Ohio senator, has resigned as the union's "antiracketeer" chairman.

Bender, was hired Aug. 23, 1958, as head of a clean-up commission within the scandal-tainted union at a fee of $250 for every day he worked.

Bender said he later had voluntarily taken a cut to $125 a day and had given much of his fee income to charity.

In announcing Bender's resignation, a Teamsters spokesman said Hoffa would have no other comment. Bender declined comment.

The Bender Commission had been denounced by Senate Racket investigators and the court-appointed Teamsters monitors as a Hoffa white wash group.

Bender already has let it be known that his next step is to become active again in Ohio politics.

An official of the Republican organization in Cleveland, he says he will run for delegate-at-large to the GOP National Convention.

Bender may run into difficulties here, because of opposition to his candidacy in the regular Ohio Republican organization.

We've gone places!

Ten years ago, the first Volkswagens were imported into the U.S.A.

These strange little cars with their beetle shape were almost unknown.

All they had to recommend them was 32 miles to the gallon (regular gas, regular driving), an aluminum air-cooled rear engine that could go 70 mph all day long without strain, sensible size for a family, and a sensible price-tag too.

Beetles multiply; so do Volkswagens. By 1954, VW was the best-selling imported car in America. It has held that rank each year since. In 1959, Volkswagen was once again first, with over 150,000 VWs sold, including station wagons and trucks.

Millionaires buy them; so do working people and college kids. Their snub noses are familiar in every state of the Union; as American as apple strudel. Volkswagen is an honest car. We think it's the best car in the world for your money. Everyone who owns one seems to agree. We'd be glad to arrange a test drive . . . very soon.

SPLIT PERSONALITY
HOMEBODY or successful host, you'll love and enjoy this charming Early American used brick! Only a few months old, it's located very near Lexington School and is a perfectly appointed home, planned with "tenderly loving care" by its transferred owner. There are 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, spacious living room, family room with glass sliding door to patio, kitchen full of lovely mahogany cabinets .... and there's more closet space than your husband will let you fill! Centrally heated and air conditioned ... drapes included in sales. It's vacant and you can take it on an assumption of a 5¼ loan with $2550 down. We invite you inside!
609 ORLEANS
WARM AS TOAST
FOR THE cold days ahead and cool as a cucumber next summer ... this centrally heated and centrally air conditioned 3 bedroom brick is almost new, but the owner's being transferred and we can offer it to you on an assumption for $1835 down with monthly payments of $92. It's a beautifully decorated and landscaped home with some special features you'll enjoy ....Such as G. E. dishwasher and disposal. Only a couple of blocks from Lexington School. Won't you see this one today!
909 GLENMAR
ASK FOR SPACE?
THIS ONE has it .... and it's really hard to find a new brick home with 1500 sq. ft. on a 100x150 ft. Northside lot for only $18,500. There are 3 bedrooms, 2 ceramic tile baths, large living room, den 15x16, kitchen full of cabinets, plus pantry ... and it's centrally heated and air conditioned. See this one today!

2100 MARIE PLACE
THUMBS UP
PUT YOUR thumbs up. Take a careful look at them. The prints they make would be entirely different from anyone else's thumb print. Those thumb are uniquely your own. And the same sort of thing is true about this house ..... a person with extra ordinary talent planned this home and made it DIFFERENT with a difference that's charming, exciting, and utilitarian. It's a brick and redwood located on one of the Northside's finest streets, MARIE PLACE. There are 3 bedrooms, 2 ceramic tile baths, tremendous living room, dining room, den, and kitchen. Be glad to show you anytime!
504 WILMUTH
SPLIT PERSONALITY
HOMEBODY or successful host, you'll love and enjoy this charming Early American used brick! Only a few months old, it's located very near Lexington School and is a perfectly appointed home, planned with "tenderly loving care" by its transferred owner. There are 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, spacious living room, family room with glass sliding door to patio, kitchen full of lovely mahogany cabinets .... and there's more closet space than your husband will let you fill! Centrally heated and air conditioned ... drapes included in sales. It's vacant and you can take it on an assumption of a 5¼ loan with $2550 down. We invite you inside!
609 ORLEANS
WARM AS TOAST
FOR THE cold days ahead and cool as a cucumber next summer ... this centrally heated and centrally air conditioned 3 bedroom brick is almost new, but the owner's being transferred and we can offer it to you on an assumption for $1835 down with monthly payments of $92. It's a beautifully decorated and landscaped home with some special features you'll enjoy .... Such as G. E. dishwasher and disposal. Only a couple of blocks from Lexington School. Won't you see this one today!
909 GLENMAR
ASK FOR SPACE?
THIS ONE has it .... and it's really hard to find a new brick home with 1500 sq. ft. on a 100x150 ft. Northside lot for only $18,500. There are 3 bedrooms, 2 ceramic tile baths, large living room, den 15x16, kitchen full of cabinets, plus pantry .... and it's centrally heated and air conditioned. See this one today!

SOME FOLKS HAVE ALL THE LUCK

All the luck ISN'T just for the other fellow: you can have all these nice things in this cozy two bedroom home in Sterlington: oak floors, ample closet space, floor furnaces, attic fan, and drapes. Other features include complete fencing, concrete sidewalks and a blacktop street. Lawn equipment may be stored in the 8x10 utility shed. You'll enjoy the friendliness and warmth of the neighbors as they welcome you into the community. Priced less than $7500.00, only $250 down plus closing costs refinances this home. It's presently financed on a 4½% FHA loan with payments of $44 per month. Call Miss Fran Guthrie, FA 2-6451, for further information.

$48.00 PER MONTH
4½% INTEREST

This 5 year old asbestos siding home is located on a tree studded corner lot (93x107) near Olin. The central location of the wall furnace keeps the 2 bedrooms and kitchen cozy as the family enjoys the amply large living room (12x19). Don't refinance this compact home with a higher interest rate! Let us arrange this approximately $800.00 assumption and really enjoy low payments of $46.00 per month. Call Vernon Maxwell, FA 2-5570.

ANNOUNCING ANOTHER
SELECT HOME!

Yes, it's wanted because our calls have proven the location is right. We have appraised it and know its quality and price is right! The well landscaped lot leads you into this nice asbestos siding home in the Riverbend area of West Monroe. You'll enjoy the 13x16 feet living room with the floor furnace going. The oak floors throughout are beautiful in this 2 bedrooms and separate dining room. This home has a separate garage containing a storage and utility room. Enjoy your home in this quiet neighborhood for less than $10,000. Call me now! Vernon Maxwell, FA 2-5570.

BARGAIN HOME

A bargain hunter's special, this 3 bedroom home with den conveniently located near Mitchell School and downtown shopping in West Monroe. This house with oak floors, plenty of kitchen cabinets, and closet space, would appeal to any housewife. For more information, call Hersnal McConathy, FA 3-6228.

LIVE MODERN—MAN!

Enjoy this new-styled flat roof, 3 bedroom, 2 bath home on the Northside only 5 blocks from Lexington Grammar School. There's a play house in the fenced yard. The 1248 square feet interior includes Venetian blinds, 2 wall heaters, new hot water tank, walk-in closet in the master bedroom, and an extra large storage area. Present loan is 4½% with payments of $45.00 a month. New financing is available for $300 down plus closing costs. Call Miss Fran Guthrie, FA 2-6451, to see this house today. Where else can you get so much for less than $10,000.00.

ALABAMA ST.
HOW CAN YOU RESIST . . . owning your own home when you can move in for only $250 "cash"? That's all it takes to make the move into this 2 bedroom home with oak floors, storage room, floor furnace, blinds . . . and it's just 4 blocks of school. May we show you thru?

MARIE PLACE
PLENTY OF PLANNING went into this 3 bedroom, 2½ bath executive-type brick home! There's a 32 ft. living room-dining area; pine paneled kitchen with matching cabinets; split level breakfast area and 21x20 pine paneled den with broken quarry tile floors, double fireplace. Among its extras are: both baths are tile — one has shower over tub; one bedroom includes built-in chests, vanity; carpeting, 5 tons air conditioning, central heat, drapes blinds, double carport, storage, maid's ½ bath, and landscaped 100x150 lot with trees, fenced back yard. It'll be our pleasure to show you thru!

McCAIN DRIVE
NO COMPLEX HERE — this home loves to be stared at! For it has fireplaced 13x20 living room, one bedroom has wall length closet, other bedroom has 2 closets, bath with tile and shower over tub, attic fan, drapes, blinds, wall heating, carport, storage, and 95x150 lot with fenced back yard. It's already financed with payments of $16.96. Like to look?

PARGOUD BLVD.
MY ENTHUSIASM GROWS with each visit to this colonial styled home of "old brick"! It's 9 months "young" and has: 3 bedrooms with double sliding door closets; 2 tile baths with dressing tables—one bath has glass enclosed shower over tub, other has glass enclosed shower. There's also: 14x21 living room; kitchen boasting natural Cherry cabinets, built-in Magic Chef oven and range, G. E. dishwasher, disposal; and cherry paneled family room with wood burning fireplace. China cabinet, and sliding glass doors to patio; and utility room with closet, cabinets. Plus...drapes, oak floors, central air conditioning and heating (Mathes), attic fan, blinds, double carport, storage, and 110x150 landscaped lawn, partially fenced. You'll be enthusiastic, too when you see it? May we show you?

NORTH 10TH
CONTENTED AS A KITTEN will be your family in this 2 bedroom and den home. The 14x19 living room's carpeted and has fireplace and bookcases; and dining room. And more: 2 closets in each bedroom (one's a walk-in), shower over tub, oak floors, blinds, drapes, attic fan, 2-ton air conditioner, garage, patio, and 75x130 shady lawn with fenced back yard. Let's take a look!

JASMINE ST.
SPACE IS THE KEYNOTE HERE in this 2 bedroom home. For its 1541 sq. ft. consists of: 14x22 fireplaced living room with bookcases, glassed in den, dining room, breakfast room, tile bath with shower over tub, and utility porch. Features include: walk-in closet and built-in chest in one bedroom, oak floors, attic fan, carport, garage, storage, and shady 100x150 lot. We'd like to show anytime!

HARRISON ST.
LOOK FAR AND WIDE—it'd be hard to find a better investment than this 4-unit brick apartment house. Each apt. consists of 4 rooms (2 bedrooms), bath, and porch—and there's also a 5-room and bath garage apt.—all on a shady 75x150 lot. Wait not to see this!

DIANNE ST.
A MYRIAD OF LONG - SOUGHT-FOR FEATURES are to be found in this year old Roman brick home! It's centrally air conditioned and heated (Mathes); has broken quarry tile floor in entry; and carpeted 16x31 living room - dining area with Roman brick fireplace, divider. The kitchen's paneled in natural red gum with matching cabinets, built-in Caloric oven and range, Westinghouse dishwasher, Nutone mixer - blender, refrigerator, and planning area. Family room's also paneled and has a complete wall of built - ins including desk, TV area, bookcases; sun porch, 12x22, is of brick and sliding glass; utility room includes closet and cabinets. Both bedrooms are carpeted — master bedroom has walk-in closet, dressing room (with dressing table, built-in chest, mirror wall) — other bedroom has 2 closets and built- in chest ... and 2 tile baths with glass enclosed shower over tubs, one has dressing table. Plus . . . indirect lighting, decorator drapes, double carport, storage, and shady 125x125 landscaped lawn. This will be hard to leave once you see it!

KENMORE AVE.
"WHUDYSAY?" We said only $50 "cash" moves you in this solid brick 3 bedroom home! Its 1200 sq. ft include: living room (15x20) with exposed brick wall, bookcases; dining room has China cabinet ... as well as dishwasher, fireplace with logs in one bedroom, 3 tons air conditioning, attic fan, breezeway, garage, and shady 100x150 lot. Needs a little fixin', but it's good value to see today!

STERLINGTON
DAVIS ST.
BIG SQUEEZE? Then see this 3 bedroom home that can be moved into for $300 "cash" and payments under $65! There's also dining room, oak floors, metal cabinets, floor furnace, attic fan, blinds, carport, storage, and completely private St. Augustine lawn. Just 3 blocks to high school — and you can move in immediately!

FREDERICK ST.
LITTLE TYKES will be safe in this cyclone fenced back yard—and "Pop" will like the savings of assuming the 4½ per cent loan with payments of $60.54 including everything. This 3 bedroom home includes 14x24 living room, Formica topped cabinets, shower over tub, blinds, wall heaters, carport, and storage. We'd like to show—call now!

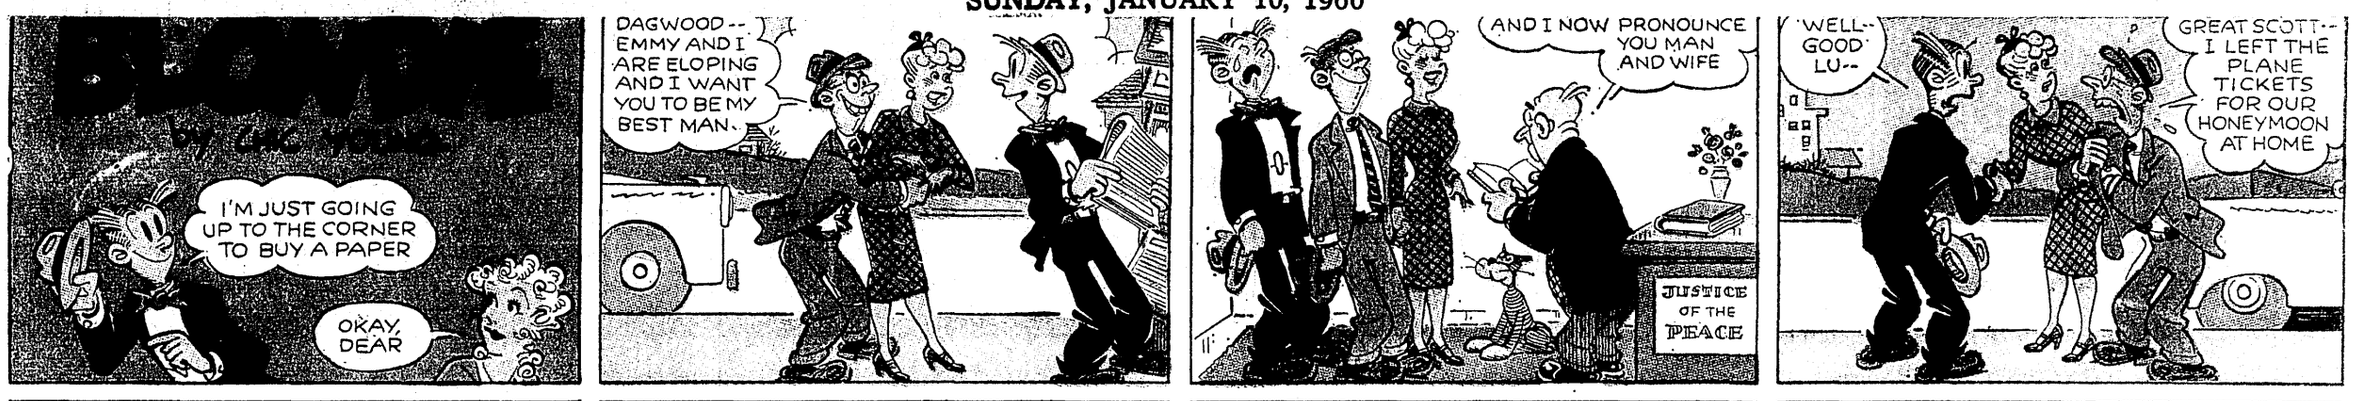
BLONDIE

by Chic Young



I'M JUST GOING UP TO THE CORNER TO BUY A PAPER
OKAY, DEAR
DAGWOOD -- EMMY AND I ARE ELOPING AND I WANT YOU TO BE MY BEST MAN.
AND I NOW PRONOUNCE YOU MAN AND WIFE
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
WELL-- GOOD LU--
GREAT SCOTT-- I LEFT THE PLANE TICKETS FOR OUR HONEYMOON AT HOME
DAGWOOD, YOU RUSH EMMY TO THE AIRPORT IN MY CAR AND I'LL RUN HOME AND GET THE TICKETS AND MEET YOU THERE
OKAY, CLEM
LOOK, JULIUS! ISN'T THAT DAGWOOD RUNNING OFF WITH ANOTHER WOMAN?
JUST MARRIED
FOLLOW HIM--HE'S HEADING FOR THE AIRPORT, THE BOUNDER
IT'S BIGAMY--THAT'S WHAT IT IS, BIGAMY
STOP THAT MAN-- HE'S A BIGAMIST
TO PLANES
EVERYBODY HATES A BIGAMIST
GIVE IT TO HIM
GATE 8
CRASH
I'VE GOT THE TICKETS, MY LOVE
GATE 5
CLEM, DARLING--OUR PLANE IS READY TO LEAVE
DAGWOOD, WE'RE AWFULLY SORRY, REALLY
GATE 7
CLEM EXPLAINED EVERYTHING, DEAR BOY, AND WE OWE YOU AN APOLOGY
BLONDIE WILL NEVER BELIEVE I JUST WENT OUT FOR A PAPER

46" WAIST, 33" LEG.
ALL CLOTHING LEFT AT THE SCENE OF A CRIME SHOULD BE CAREFULLY EXAMINED TO DETERMINE APPROXIMATE SIZE AND WEIGHT OF CULPRIT. LAUNDRY MARKS OFTEN LEAD TO NAMES AND ADDRESSES.
HELLO, SAM. WE FINALLY BOOKED EDDIE ON A CRIMINAL ATTEMPT CHARGE AND—WHAM—HIS BONDSMAN SHOWED UP AND SPRANG HIM. WE CAN'T DO ANY MORE.
HE'S WALKING OUT OF HEADQUARTERS NOW AND GETTING INTO A GREEN CAB, NO. 797. WHERE ARE YOU, SAM?
2-WAY WRIST RADIO
I'M IN A MANHOLE IN THE 6000 BLOCK ON ELM, DISGUISED AS A CITY ELECTRICAL WORKER.
WE'RE KEEPING A SHARP LOOKOUT FOR ANYTHING THAT MIGHT INDICATE WHICH BUILDING FIFTH LIVES IN.
WE KNOW IT'S IN THE 6000 BLOCK HERE ON ELM, BUT THAT'S ALL.
YOU MAY KNOW VERY SOON. KEEP AN EYE OUT FOR THIS MAN EDDIE AND FOLLOW HIM.
AND ON ONE OF THE UPPER FLOORS OF A NEARBY BUILDING—
THAT WAS ATTORNEY JONES REPORTING THAT YOUR BOY IS FREE ON BOND.
I REFUSE TO ANSWER
GOOD! EVERYTHING'S WORKING OUT JUST FINE, OLIVE. YES, SIR—WELL! WHAT ARE YOU SO SOLEMN ABOUT, FLYFACE, OLD LEGAL MIND?
LOOK! SEE THOSE WORKING STIFFS DOWN THERE? DOES ANYTHING DOWN THERE LOOK FUNNY TO YOU?
I REFUSE TO ANSWER —UH—
WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "FUNNY"?
THE GUARD RAIL AROUND THAT MANHOLE AND THE FELLOW THAT'S WATCHING— THEY'RE FACING THE WRONG DIRECTION!
WRONG DIRECTION? LOOK, FLYFACE— YOU'RE A GREAT LEGAL TALENT, OLD PAL—BUT YOU'RE A LOUSY TRAFFIC COP.

STEVE CANYON
by MILTON CANIFF
COL. CANYON, IS IT TRUE THAT WHILE WE WERE ON THE TRIAL FLIGHT OF THE BRAILLE BOMBER...
THAT RED AGENTS WALKED OUT OF HERE — TAKING MINDÉE AS A HOSTAGE?..
YES, HEMP
THE TWO 'NATIVES' WHO LIVED AT HER TRADING POST HAD BEEN PLANTED WHEN THE BASE WAS BEING BUILT...
THEY HAD A CLOSED-CIRCUIT TELEVISION PICKUP RIGHT IN OUR BRIEFING ROOM!
WE LOST THEIR TRAIL ALMOST AT ONCE IN THE SNOWSTORM...
I DON'T KNOW WHY THIS GARRISON COULDN'T PROTECT ONE LONE GIRL!
WE AREN'T HERE TO PROTECT LONE GIRLS — BUT WE WANT TO SEE HER RETURNED —AND SINCE YOU ARE THE HUMAN CALCULATING MACHINE IN THIS SHOP— COME WITH ME!
HEMP, YOU'RE A GOOD NAVIGATOR! WE'RE GOING TO FEED SOME DATA INTO YOU...
...THE REDS LEFT HERE BY SLED — AS IF TO TEND THEIR TRAPS
—THEN THEY SWITCHED TO A SKI PLANE...WHICH MUST BE HIDDEN SOMEWHERE IN THE NORTHERN BUSH...
MEANWHILE
I AM AMAZED! — NO KEEDEENG
HOW WELL YOU TWO PLANNED THEES THEENG... AN' HOW YOU FOOLED EVEN ME
YOU MUS' BE DEDEE-CATED PEOPLE TO REESK POSEENG AS OLD ESKEEMOS AT MY TRADEENG POST...
WHAT WOULD YOU KNOW OF DEDICATION, CHILD OF DECADENCE?
AH, MADAME, YOU ARE SO RIGHT... MINDÉE KNOWS SO LEETLE OF POLEETEECS
ALL I KNOW ARE THE SEELLEE WAYS OF THE FLIGHTY FEMALE

TIM TYLER'S LUCK by Lyman Young and Tom Massey

YOU CAN FOLLOW MR. GOOMA—BUT NOT ME!
BUT, SIR, IT'S POSSIBLE HE CAN LEAD US TO SPUD AND YOUR STOLEN ANIMALS!
ONLY IF THE THIEVES WERE HUMANS AND NOT JUNGLE SPIRITS WOULD I RISK GOING WITH YOU, TYLER!
AND WHAT'S MORE, TYLER, YOU WON'T FIND ME HERE WHEN AND IF YOU RETURN! I'M PULLING OUT BEFORE SUNDOWN!
I WON'T GIVE UP UNTIL I FIND SPUD!
MEANWHILE
GOSH-I-I MUST'VE BEEN ASLEEP! HOW'D I GET TO THIS PLACE? HEY, TIM! GAYCOTE!
OBOY—AM I GLAD TO SEE YOU, MISTER—WHO ARE—?

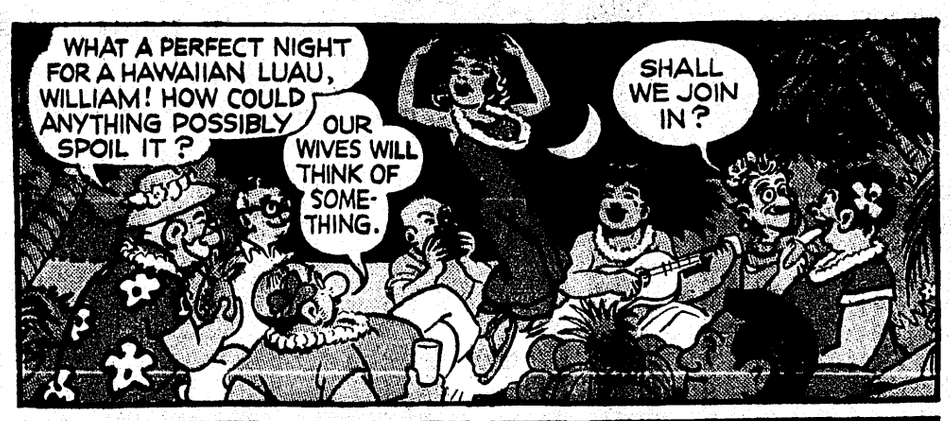
MOON MULLINS by Ferd Johnson

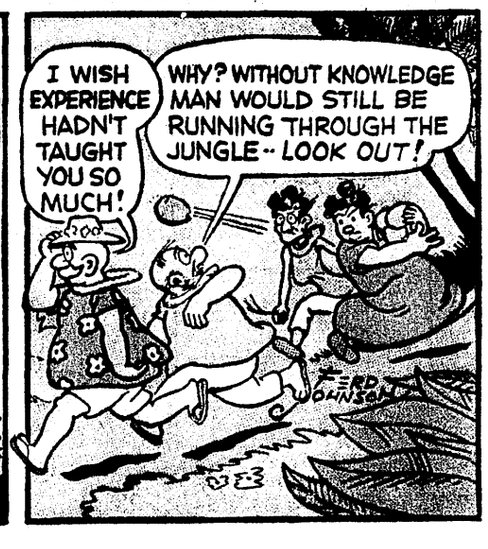


WHAT A PERFECT NIGHT FOR A HAWAIIAN LUAU, WILLIAM! HOW COULD ANYTHING POSSIBLY SPOIL IT?
OUR WIVES WILL THINK OF SOME-THING.
SHALL WE JOIN IN?

MY WORD! THE SOUND OF THEIR VOICES CARRIES A LONG WAY, DOESN'T IT?
HURRY. MAYBE WE CAN OUTWALK IT.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: © 1960 by News Syndicate Co. Inc.

AH-H-H-- THIS IS WONDERFUL, WILLIE-- AND THEY'LL NEVER MISS US!
YEH-- I WAS JUST THINKING WHAT A GOOD AIM MAMIE HAS! WE'D BETTER GET BACK BEFORE THEY SEE WE RAN OFF!

WE MUST BE LOST! IT'S BEEN HOURS SINCE WE STARTED BACK!
OH, TUT-TUT... FELLOWS MARRIED AS LONG AS US NEVER GET LOST, LORD PLUSH-BOTTOM!



I WISH EXPERIENCE HADN'T TAUGHT YOU SO MUCH!
WHY? WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE MAN WOULD STILL BE RUNNING THROUGH THE JUNGLE-- LOOK OUT!

GEE, WUN WEY! DID YOU KNOW MR. MOGUL WAS COMIN' TO TRY T'KILL YOU AND "DADDY"?

IT SEEMED MOST LIKELY, KNOWING MR. MOGUL AND HIS METHODS IN THE PAST!

YOU SEE, MOGUL WAS A GANGSTER AND RACKETEER WHO HAS TRIED TO TAKE OVER "LEGITIMATE" BUSINESS! WHEN THE GOING GOT ROUGH HE WAS BOUND TO GO BACK TO HOODLUM METHODS!

WELL, YOU AND "DADDY" SEEM T'KNOW A FEW PRETTY RUGGED TRICKS, TOO, WUN WEY!

NATURALLY! IN THE JUNGLE OF WORLD BUSINESS, TO SURVIVE, ONE MUST PROTECT HIMSELF!

IN YOUR "DADDY'S" LEAGUE THERE IS NO "PLACE" OR "SHOW"! NO SECOND OR THIRD PRIZE, ONLY WIN---OR ELSE!

BUT "DADDY" WOULDN'T LET MOGUL GET KILLED, EVEN AFTER MOGUL TRIED TO KILL US ALL!

NO! YOUR "DADDY" IS A JUST MAN!

HE SENT MOGUL FOR A VACATION, TO THE SAME TROPICAL ISLE WHERE MOGUL SENT HIM! IT COULD BE A VERY LONG VACATION!

LEAPIN' LIZARDS! TO THAT PRISON ISLAND? FAIR ENOUGH!

SPEAKING OF VACATIONS, I THINK I'VE EARNED ONE! THE BUSINESS SEEMS TO BE BACK ON THE TRACK AGAIN AND GOING FINE! LET'S GO FOR A LITTLE RIDE IN THE COUNTRY, ANNIE!

GEE! Y'MEAN IT?

SO, SHORTLY THEREAFTER .....

WOW! WHAT A CANNON! WHAT KINDA CAR IS THIS, ANYWAY?

OH, IT'S A SPECIAL TEST JOB, FROM THE FACTORY!

THE FACTORY?

ONE OF OUR SUBSIDIARIES! BEEN GETTING THE BUGS OUT OF THIS MODEL FOR THREE YEARS; SENT ONE AROUND FOR ME TO TRY OUT!

WHERE Y'HEADIN' FOR, "DADDY"? ANY PLACE SPECIAL?

HM-M, NO. JUST DRIVING! SEE THE COUNTRY. LOT OF IT, Y'KNOW!

HEY, "DADDY"! ALL THOSE BIG BUILDINGS! LOOKS LIKE A COLLEGE OR SOMETHIN'.

WHAT D'YOU KNOW! I BELIEVE IT IS A COLLEGE! YEP! HM-M, SUNDOWN. S'POSE WE STOP IN THIS TOWN TONIGHT!
